"Long before this the founder of one of the companies was experimenting with rubber and his researches reduced him to such poverty that in 1830 he was confined in jail for debt. In addition to his other troubles he was a confirmed invalid, but when things looked darkest he hit upon an improvement in the method of making rubber overshoes, and came into the possession of four thousand dollars for his patent.

"There are various stories about his discovery of the process of vulcanization. The most picturesque was given me by Mr. F. A. Seiberling. According to this version, the manufacturer's wife was in the habit of upbraiding him for neglecting his family. One day in his kitchen the henpecked inventor while trying to mix some raw rubber and sulphur in his hands, heard his awesome helpmeet coming. Feeling that a domestic jar was imminent, he threw the material into the stove. Afterward when he took up the ashes he discovered to his amazement, that the heat had done the thing he had been trying for years to accomplish. The only element lacking had been fire.

THE NEWSPAPER GAME

Many people wonder why, when a fellow once gets in the newspaper game in a small town, he never shows an inclination toward seeking other employment, which would bring him larger financial return for his labor. Here is the reason given by one scribe: "The life of the average small town newspaper man in his own home town is not especially exciting, although it does have its compensations beyond the medium of exchange. To be known as the 'newspaper man,' to know everybody and his brother and everybody's and his brother's business, to gain the honest respect and liking of 'home folks' and to write of and share the joys and sorrows of people you have always known and who have always known you—these are the real compensations, not money."

Optimistic Thought.

Every man's experience is a lesson due to all.

a daughter—a little old lady? Where did I ever— Why at your age I had more beaux than you could tie a string to."

This to Linda, with the consequence of that one reckless smile eating into her secret heart!

However, the next time that Mr. Hewitt asked her out, she went—it was by the way, the very next night—and within a moving picture theatre called sauvely "The Little Trianon" she drank yet deeper of the heady draught deceit had brewed for her.

"Why wouldn't you come out with me last night?" Mr. Hewitt began. There is no place like a darkened movie house for confidences.

She thought it best not to answer him.

"Don't you like movies, or don't you like me?"

"It isn't that."

"What is it, then?"

"I don't approve of you," said Linda, primly.

"Well, upon my word!" said Mr. Hewitt.

He glanced down at the pretty brown head, the slim white throat rising from the collar of one of the filmy new blouses, and smiled broadly. Linda's own smile broke through to meet him.

"I feel terribly wicked going out with you, now."

"Oh, you do!"

"You see, I thought I'd never see you again—after I left the car."

"Oh, the smile was for me then?"

"I suppose you think I smile at any man who looks at me," said Linda wistfully.

"But you don't, do you," begged Mr. Hewitt.

Under cover of the darkness and the green straw hat he put his hand over hers. She let it be. Little exquisite shivers raced up to her heart from every chilly finger-tip.

"I'm not just any-man-who-looks-at-you—am I?"

"I don't know who you are—nor what you are—nor anything—except," said Linda quaintly, "that you do seem awfully cheeky—"

"But you like it, don't you? Little Miss Maiden Aunt! As for that I am—"

He went briefly into detail, an odd touch of abstraction creeping into his manner.

"An engineer?" repeated Linda. Not on a train!"

"No—little golden goose—in a mine if at all. Important if true!" He laughed, tightening his fingers on hers. "And I hadn't seen a regular girl nor a regular show in four years; until ten days ago. I'm city-starved. What d'you say if we go to the theatre tomorrow night? Can't you dine with me somewhere down-town?"

DON'T LET THE RHUBARB GO TO WASTE, CAN IT AFTER GOVERNMENT RECIPE SAYS DR. PICKARD

Here is the government's recipe for canning rhubarb. There is a good deal of rhubarb around in the yards now, some of which is not being used at all. Dr. Pickard suggests that it be canned after the following simple recipe from the government bulletin No. 203:

Cut the rhubarb when it is young and tender. Wash it thoroughly and then pare. Cut in pieces about two inches long. Pack in sterilized jars. Fill the jars to overflowing with cold water and let them stand 10 minutes. Drain off the water and fill again to overflowing with fresh cold water. Seal with sterilized rings and covers. When required for use, treat the same as fresh rhubarb. Green gooseberries may be canned in the same manner. Rhubarb may also be cooked and canned with sugar in the same manner as gooseberries.

This government canning bulletin, No. 203, is by Maria Parloa, and may be had for the asking.

Tips For Play-Goers

Colonial Theatre

"Fifty-Fifty," comedy by Pelham G. Wodehouse and Guy Bolton, is the Colonial's offering for next week. It is a brand new play, a dramatization from Mr. Wodehouse's story, "Piccadilly Jim," which ran last winter in the Saturday Evening Post, and the authors, together with F. Ray Comstock, manager of the Colonial, are having a hand in staging the premiere. The story was well worth while. If the playwrights have made the most of the opportunities which the plot and the underlying humor afforded, "Fifty-Fifty" should go over big. It may not be a finished play. They never are the first time out. But it is a sure enough premiere, and Clevelanders will have the chance to pass upon the comedy, and to decide for themselves, if not for the rest of the country, whether or no it is to prove a genuine success.

Miles Theatre

There is a promising bill at the Miles next week. The Three Ruby Girls, musicians above the ordinary, are featured in a versatile act, and Arthur Lipson, singing comedian, should give them a run for their laurels. Anderson and Evans present the comedy sketch "In and Out," which is new and fast, and Ash and Sharo have a skit called "When We Were Young." The Schermatons have an acrobatic novelty which, they say, is guaranteed to make any girl slender. Ward and Ward have a musical review called "A Night at Home." First run photo plays for the week are "A Roadside Impresario," starring George Beban and "The Heir of the Ages," with House Peters.

Luna Park

Hirschhorn's Swiss Song Birds, a trio of excellent singers, with a zither accompanist, feature the free vaudeville bill in Luna Park's outdoor theater next week. They have been in Cleveland before this season and their act is good. Other attractive numbers are offered by Ardo, comedy juggler; Jimmie Green, eccentric Dutch comedian, and Demaco, who has a startling aerial turn. Maximilian York's trained dogs, Jack and Kitty, complete the bill with a series of unusual tricks.

Star Theatre

The High Rollers stock burlesque is the Star's offering for the week, but the burlesque show isn't all. There is a plot, of course, and excellent comedians to carry it through, lively music, good dancing and a big and attractive chorus. The vaudeville specialties injected may not seem necessary, but they would help to carry any show. M. Welly and Mlle. Melissa have an attractive dancing act, and the Hordes, Russian musicians, a novelty. Both have the best of notices. Al Franks heads the company, and he is assisted by such well known burlesque stars as Harry Peterson, Earl Hall, John O. Grant, Rena Vivienne, Mabel Clark and Dolly Morissey. It is a new show, well put on.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

Douglas Fairbanks, who is considered to be the most popular movie star to-day, will be seen in his latest picture next week at the Alhambra and Mall theatres.

The title of this picture, which was made by his own company, is "Wild and Woolly."

It was written by Anita Loos and directed by John Emerson, both of whom have helped to make the Fairbanks pictures for more than a year.

It is a typical Fairbanks spirt, namely, life, laughter and thrills. This picture is one of positive assurance of turnaway business satisfaction.

STANDARD THEATER

The week of June 24th this theatre presents George Walsh, better known as smiling George, in an entirely new comedy drama entitled "Some Boy." This photo play has just the verve, the dash, and the snap that the title indicates. As the mysterious widow in this screen drama "Smiling George" is certainly bewitching and gives the smiling genial press agent with an irresistible good nature, Mr. Walsh presents the most entertaining character he has had. The story is well written with laughs in every foot of film and the cast is well balanced. Other attractions make up a fine entertainment.

New York's Smartest Styles

Represented in Bond's $15 Clothes

A very great factor in the value of any suit is the STYLE. Bond's $15 clothes are designed and made right in New York City—the world's center of fashoins for men. Bond's styles are AHEAD of the average store's, ALWAYS.

Whether you are the young chap who demands an EXTREME style, or a man who is CONSERVATIVE, we have a style, a pattern and a size to SATISFY you. Hundreds and hundreds of garments are awaiting your inspection.

Clothes for Summer $15

From Manufacturer to You

The REASONS WHY Bond's clothes sell for $15 instead of $20 to $25, are contained in these four words: "FROM MANUFACTURER TO YOU." Stop and think how many expense items this plan eliminates.

It cuts from YOUR cost—road salesmen's commissions; losses through bad credit and cancellation of orders; expensive upkeep of a corps of shipping clerks, bookkeepers, etc.; and it cuts from your cost what retailers MUST add for profit and running expenses. Think these facts over and you'll buy Bond's Clothes.

"For the first time in years I have a husband who is now his good, old self."

This was a telephone message that came to the Neal Institute from a wife who for an age had lived in an atmosphere of dread while the fearful habit of drink fastened itself more firmly upon the man she loved and had married.

There was joy in her heart when he resolved to break with the destroying habit and take the Neal Treatment. Three days at the Neal Institute was all sufficient to change his craving for liquor to dislike of everything alcoholic. After a few days of another honeymoon at home, the wife, happy over the restoration of old days, simply responded to the dictates of her heart, called up the Neal Institute and spoke the words of gratitude that were welling from her soul.

A great good work is being done at the Neal Institute. If you have a friend who is going to the bad thru drink you could do a better thing than personally investigate the Neal Treatment. It is a perfectly harmless vegetable remedy, a physician's prescription, taken internally, with no dangerous injections. It quickly neutralizes and eliminates all poison of alcohol which, found in the system of every drinker, is what causes desire for more liquor. Liquor habit, so-called, is simply the natural result of poison charged bodies. Get rid of the poison and you get rid of the desire. This is what the Neal Treatment does. There is no publicity. Guests enjoy all the comforts of home, hotel or club. Appetizing meals are served in private rooms. There is a cheerful environment with books and music.

For booklet and other information address the Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. Phone Rosedale 3460. Open day and night. Other Neal Institutes located at Columbus, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

"I have tried Tiedemann's 'Honeypepper' frequently for cough and cold; it has always helped me quickly. I have often recommended it to my friends. One of them, on East 120th street, had to stop work on account of coughing for four months. I induced him to take Honeypepper; he took four bottles and is now back at work. Daily Thought.

Drops of dew refresh the faded flowers, so do kind words cheer the aching heart.

A DRIVE FOR HUMANITY

President Wilson has designated this week as a time for Americans to give of their abundance to help relieve the sufferings of the soldiers who are fighting our battles in Europe.

This country is asked to contribute $100,000,000 in one week for humanity. A smaller amount would be entirely inadequate.

It would be nothing short of premeditated murder to allow the fighting forces of this country to fight the battle for democracy—without making proper provision for the care of the wounded.

The real work of the American Red Cross has just begun. Our soldiers will soon be on the firing line. They have a right to expect that their fellow countrymen will make the greatest sacrifices in their behalf.

Everybody cannot go to the front—but everyone can contribute to the Red Cross and everyone should give to the point of sacrifice.

This district did itself proud in subscribing to the Liberty Loan. Can it afford to be less patriotic in its contributions to so worthy a cause as the Red Cross?

Don't let this week pass without making some sacrifice for the men who will do your fighting.

What could prove your patriotism more than a liberal pledge to the Red Cross?

Be sure that YOU are included in this week's drive for humanity.

Premier Negotiates Hills and Mud and Hard Going with Greater Ease and Uses the Low Gears Less Than Other Cars

WHEN the steepness of the hill, or the depth of the soggy spring road forces other cars into their lowest gears, Premier hangs on in high, or if the going is too very bad she clicks into second or first and as quickly clicks back into high without a moment's loss of momentum.

Aside from the luxury of shifting gears with push buttons, it is a great practical help on bad roads. It can be demonstrated that Premier can negotiate spots that no other car made can plow through, —thanks to her instantaneous command of her gears.

W. C. T. U. ANNUAL INSTITUTE AT PERRY—WOMEN TO CONGREGATE FOR DRY CAMPAIGN.

The annual institute of the Lake County Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at the Perry Baptist church Friday, June 15. The morning session was devoted to business of the executive committee of the county. Mrs. Nellie Sherman of Willoughby, county president, presided very ably at all the sessions. Sunday, July 8, at 3 o'clock, at the new courthouse in Painesville, there is to be held a meeting of women from every society, lodge, grange and club for the purpose of organizing a dry federation of Lake county women, to work till the November election in the campaign to make Ohio dry. The addresses in the afternoon were enthusiastic and interesting and the music which comprised solos by Mrs. Victor Salkeld, Miss Doris Harper and an instrumental selection by Mrs. Ione Baker were greatly enjoyed. An interesting feature of the afternoon program was the reading of the prize essays of the eighth grade pupils of Perry, Doris Landphair, Frank Manchester and Lorin Smith. In the evening several representative men and women of Lake county gave excellent addresses, the general subject being "Conservation of Citizenship." Rev. Harry Bright, Mrs. Nellie Sherman and Mrs. Mary Dayton of Willoughby were on the program. All dry advocates are anxious to see Ohio dry in November, 1917.

"INTERESTING PLACES IN LAKE COUNTY"

GUESTS LIGHT FIRE AT DR. RUSSELL'S HOUSE WARMING

Persons of interest and places of interest abound in Lake county. If Lake county is small in size, it is large in the measure of its interesting people, and the splendor of its farms and country residences.

One of particular interest is brought to mind by he house warming recently at the home of Dr. Russell, of "Russellhurst" farm, on the old Chillicothe road. This old road, one of the first surveyed in the state, leads past many a place of historic interest: The old stage coach rattled over its hills and turns, just as the modern automobile rolls over it today. Dr. Russell, who is known throughout Lake county as one of its most sterling residents, has just completed a beautiful new home. In order to initiate it properly Dr. and Mrs. Russell had a house warming early in the week, when about 33 special friends congregated at the new home. Mrs. Russell, some time ago, brought up some fat pine from her old home in Florida, and which she had saved for the time when they should light the first fire in

The balance will be retained here for use on possible future calls, materials for the women working here for the Red Cross, etc.

AMERICAN CLAY FEELS NEED OF ADDITIONAL HOUSING FACILITIES. SETS UP HOUSEKEEPING ESTABLISHMENT FOR NEW EMPLOYEES.

The lack of proper housing facilities is strongly felt at the plant of the American Clay Machinery Co, as they put on new employes there. In an effort to make some kind of an arrangement for new help, they have recently converted a building facing on the river front, which had been used for tinning shells, into a housekeeping apartment, where possibly ten men are housed. They have electric lights, a cook, a refrigerator, etc., and insofar as these necessities go toward making up a home do very well, but the need of real houses, in which real homes can be established by workmen, is none the less apparent.

WILLOUGHBY HAS SEVEREST STORM EXPERIENCED HERE IN TWELVE YEARS

According to Benjamin Mosely it has been at least 12 years since Willoughby experienced anything like the storm that broke here at 4:30 Tuesday night. The hail made it impossible to see across the street for possibly five minutes. Trees along the street were blown down; electric wires demolished. No light service was had in the village until about 9 p. m. Candles were in order. Trees were blown down in Mayor Carmichael's yard. At the home of the editor of the Republican, 48 Euclid avenue a good sized plum tree was demolished. A large plate glass window in Kaiser's tailoring room was blown in and completely lost. The telephone poles just outside of Willoughby were laid flat on the ground, wires and all.

Just a year ago next Sunday a very severe storm struck Willoughby, blowing down more trees possibly than in the present instance.

INTRODUCING WILLOUGHBY'S CHAMPION GARDENERS WHO SERVED SPRING PEAS FROM THEIR OWN GARDENS LAST WEEK.

Euclid avenue gardeners have carried off the prize, or rather eaten the prize, in the way of early spring peas.

Austin family and Miss Anne Smith and Inez Warner have served queen peas at their Sunday dinners, June 24th, from their own garden. Samuel Austin, it will be agreed, is a real gardener, but the girls' along with their outdoor gardening, combine a good deal of interior decorating, illustrating and advertising, so that the credit for early production of peas should surely be given the Smith and Warner household.

S. S. WILSON, NEW AD. CLUB PRESIDENT, HAS HOBBY

HERE SHE IS

SIDNEY S. WILSON
granddaughter JUNE
CLARK

From the Cleveland News

How would you like to have a hobby that would come right back at you with all your love for it; a bouncing, chubby little baby girl with lovely blue eyes and golden ringlets, and tiny arms that reach around your neck?

That's the kind of hobby Sidney S. Wilson, new president of the Cleveland Advertising Club, has. She's his granddaughter, June Clark, 2604 East Overlook rd., Cleveland Heights. She has been here only a year but in that time has established herself as Wilson's permanent hobby.

Before she arrived Wilson says there was nothing he liked more than to get into a room full of antiques, principally manuscripts, books and relics. Perhaps that's why among his many jobs we find he is trustee of the Western Reserve Historical Society, as well as general manager of the Andrews Institute for Girls; president of "Wilson's store of Willoughby," where anything from paper napkins to porch swings can be purchased; member of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce; active in the Alumni Council of Western Reserve university, and member of Delta Tau Delta and Phi Beta Kappa fraternities.

Wilson was born and raised in Willoughby and for four years was mayor of that town. He became a member of the Advertising club when it was first organized, twelve years ago. He is well known in real estate and wholesale mercantile circles.

What will be the President Wilson policy?

"To raise still higher advertising standards and promote truth in advertising by extending its educational boundaries: to maintain the enviable position the ad club has established in the commercial sphere and to enlarge its use and activities in civic channels," says Wilson.

H. GORDON SELFRIDGE, ENGLISH "SHOPKEEPER," WRITES ABOUT ENGLAND AND THE WAR—SOMETHING ABOUT THE MAN AND HIS "SHOP"—BY JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE.

For months I've been obsessed with the idea that I should go to England for some interviews. Not that I've by any means exhausted those to be obtained here—but just for variety's sake. Thought I'd get something worth while from Alfred Harmsworth (Lord Northcliffe), of the London "Times." (I knew him when he spent much time in this country before he was raised to the peerage)—who wields more real power in the realm than any other one man. Wanted to have a talk with Sir William Lever of Port Sunlight. Know "Lifebuoy Soap" and "Lux"? He makes 'em. Had my eye also on George Thomas, merchant extraordinary, of Manchester. Wrote to my good friend H. Gordon Selfridge, American, erstwhile Chicagoan, now Londoner. Told him my plan—and the other day received a letter from him.

It was a remarkable letter. A letter that might well be designated a "long distance" interview.

"Britain," he writes, "is interesting to visit at this moment, but there is little else thought of or talked of except the war and its far-reaching effects."

And then he continues:

"It is surprising how calmly this whole country is accepting present conditions. When our army makes a great gain down in the Somme district, people receive the news with satisfaction, but not hysteria. When they read that 28 of our airmen have been killed or captured in one day, people say: 'Too bad,' and let it go at that. When we find ourselves short of potatoes, people say: 'Well, really, this potato eating is more or less of a fad, anyhow.' When our bread is changed from the beautiful white bread that we enjoy so much, to the dark bread containing almost all of the kernel of wheat, people say: 'Well, one would hardly know the difference from the taste.'

"The general conduct of life in London is very little different from that even before the war, except that there is no entertaining, there is little or no extravagance."

The refusal of the English people to be stampeded is evidently much admired by Mr. Selfridge. I remember him as a young fellow in Chicago, when he was manager of Marshall Field & Company. I recall that same quality of steadfastness as one of his own dominant characteristics.

When he went to London I was among those who wished him "Godspeed" as his steamer left the slip. He caried with him then an idea. Arriving in London, he lost no time in putting his idea into practice. The first thing he did was to take the people into his confidence; told them his plans and purposes. "Can't be done," predicted American friends, even though they knew Harry Selfridge and his propensity for doing things. "Impossible!" "Utterly absurd!" exclaimed potential purchasers. Still they found their way in increasingly large numbers to Selfridge's in Oxford Street, and placed the seal of popular approval upon the fulfillment of his idea.

It is proverbial that the British admire tenacity—hence their quick appreciation of H. Gordon Selfridge.

"Every women is busy working at some charity or in some patriotic way," he goes on. "People are not excited, not in the least distressed, and are as confident as can be that the final turn will be all right, but are quite disposed to accept that this may last for two years more, although they are hoping for an end of this awful war at the quickest moment possible.

"The bull-dog spirt was never so well exemplified as at present. Even when the Germans were making their spectacular and disturbing gains in Russia, and later in the Balkan Peninsula, there were no solemn faces typifying possible thought of final defeat. Rather a bull-dogged determination to stick it out, let it cost what it will—and exhaust the enemy if such a thing were possible. We now feel that such a thing is possible and that it is only a matter of time and sacrifice, which sacrifice everyone is willing to make."

Several years ago in London I called on Harry Selfridge. His store, be it said, is headquarters for American visitors—a sort of "some-place-like-home" club. I found the head of Selfridge & Company the same man I used to know—a little older, more polished of speech and manner, but with his spirit undaunted and his fine, clear-headed vision undimmed.

With all his innovations, he has simply builded on a basis of old-fashioned service and fundamental ideas. Courage, insight, foresight, and a consciousness of serving well his day and generation, are dominating characteristics, of Harry Gordon Selfridge.

Congratulating him on his success—the more remarkable in that when he started he was virtually a stranger in a strange land—I casually commented that it must have taken courage ("some courage," I think I said) to carry through his project.

"Self-confident courage—some would call it boldness"—he interjected, "in business can have two results. If it be superficial, empty, incompetent, it will crush the possessor under its own weight. Where there is sagacity born of experience allied with initiative and courage, the result is success.

In Harry Selfridge, I decided, these qualities find expression through his achievement.

No one ever thinks of him merely as a merchant—or, as they say over there, "shopkeeper." He is a man well trained in world affairs. He is an ambassador—and today, in the dawn of better understanding between England and the United States, I venture to assert that Harry Selfridge has done more to bring this about than many who have acted in official capacity.

The British concede with pride that he has elevated the English "shop" to the realm of the institution, and shown how dignity and salesmanship may be made synonymous. Harry Gordon Selfridge showed the other retailers of London dignity-developing advertising, which also created business. His competitors, who prophesied speedy failure, are no longer rivals, but co-operators.

He sent me a copy of a proclamation posted in his establishment, which, he naively explains, is "an effort to induce as many as possible of the four or five thousand who compose his staff, to THINK on original lines."

A rather large order, undoubtedly, but this is the way he goes about its accomplishment.

"One mental quality of great value and not too often found is that called IMAGINATION or VISION, and I should be glad to encourage the cultivation of this quality in as many of our staff as possible.

"Imagination means the image-forming power of the mind or the ability to picture to oneself original ideas. They may be as fanciful or fantastic as one chooses, but must be the result of thought of an imaginary kind.

"Vision may mean much the same. It is the act or sense of seeing things from an imaginary or original viewpoint.

"I propose, therefore, offering prizes to those who send to my office by May 1st the best essay or paper on this subject. Paper are to be of five hundred words or less, and all will be judged by a careful and intelligent committee of those not associated with the business, which I shall ask to act.

"The prizes to be given are:
10 guineas for the 1st.
5 guineas for the 2d.
2 guineas for the 3d.

And I shall hope for a liberal response in papers as a result of this offer.

And I shall watch with great interest the result of Mr. Selfridge's experiment.

One thing more he said in his letter impressed me:

"The coming in of the United States is a tremendous help and is enormously appreciated over here. The people feel that the moral effect of the great Republic across the ocean becoming a partner in the duty of the protection of civilization is enormous, and that it will have a very great effect in Germany itself."

His own opinion on the subject, as an American, he expresses thusly:

"The nation has come out fairly and squarely for war, and I am delighted to see it going at things in the usual agressive way, which is so American. What our country does from now on will, I hope, do much to eradicate the feeling which has grown up all over the world—that our people are thinking of dollars, and little else."

I almost forgot to say that Harry Selfridge's motto—both for himself and his business—is:

"OMNIA SYSTEMA VINCIT."

This, latin scholars tell me, freely translated, means, "All is won by system"—or "System conquers all."

Which I believe explains a great deal.

Yours sincerely,
JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE.

"MANY A MICKLE MAKES A MUCKLE"

A Pat of Butter.

One pat or serving of butter is a little thing—there are about 64 of them in a pound.

But if every one of our 20,000,000 households should waste one-fourth of an ounce of butter daily, on the average, it would mean 312,500 pounds a day—114,062,500 younds a year.

To make this butter would take 265,261,560 gallons of milk—or the product of over half a million cows.

But butter isn't eaten or wasted in every home, some one objects. Very well, say only 1 in 100 homes wastes even a pat of butter a day—over 1,000,000 pounds wasted. Still intolerable when butter is so valuable a food and every bit of butter left on a plate is so useful in cookery.

The United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., or your State agricultural college will tell you how to use every bit of butter in cookery.

USE UP STALE BREAD

Do Not Permit the Odds and Ends Frequently Found in the Bread Box to Be Wasted.

Bread is one of the items most commonly wasted in many American households, say the specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This waste is probably due to the fact that many housekeepers do not think of bread as costing much and are careless about its use or do not know what to do with the odds and ends frequently found in the bread box.

Good fresh bread has a spongy texture, which in time disappears, leaving the bread dry and crumbly, the moisture gradually passing out through the crust. Bread a little too stale to be appetizing, but not yet hard, may be freshened by putting it into the oven for a few minutes. The heat seems to drive the moisture from the crust back into the center of the loaf, making the crust more crisp and the crumb a little more spongy. Some housekeepers moisten the surface of the bread and sometimes cover it before putting it into the oven, but others think that moistening injures the texture of the crust without improving the crumb.

Rolls of biscuits which have a greater surface in proportion to their size dry out more rapidly than loaves of bread. It is good planning, therefore, not to provide more than will be used at a meal or at least a day after baking. For similar reasons, bread stays fresh longer in the loaf than after it is sliced. No more than will be needed should be cut for any one meal, and one loaf should be used up before the next is cut into. When the bread needs freshening it is a good plan to cut the required slices and put them into the oven for a few minutes just before serving.

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"

By Fannie Heaslip Lea

"Why—I could," said Linda uncertainly.

"Don't you want to?" asked Mr. Hewitt.

He had, beyond question, the nicest eyes, also the strength of his fingers was curiously disconcerting.

"Yes—yes thank you," said Linda. She drew her hand away, fortunately just before the lights went up.

Next day, it goes without saying, she bought herself a frock in which to go to the theatre—a white Georgette crepe with tucks. Also she bought herself a separate coat, gray, so as to be successfully worn over the frock with the little green hat; also a pair of white silk stockings and white buckskin slippers. Naturally this occupied all of her lunch hour, and she got no lunch. Being a perfect thirty-four she was able to find an instantaneous fit, paid for the things, and had them sent home that afternoon. When she had done a little sum in her head and realized what now remained of her rainy day fund, she turned pale. But she did not on that account go back to the shop, not attempt to cancel her purchases.

The machine clecked merrily away from one to six. Her fingers flew untiringly and her work had never been better.

Once, in an interval between letters to be copied and letters to be signed, she took herself severely to task.

"What are you doing it for, if you are going to be sorry? A little old lady—that's what your own mother called you! Haven't you any nerve at all? It's your money, isn't it? You won't be young so very much longer. What if your money will be gone? Suppose that pear tree hadn't the nerve to have flowers because sooner or later, they'd have to fall off? You're a little fool—you're a little coward—you're a little piker, Linda Rowland!"

Then she thought of the man who had called her Little Maiden Aunt and the color crept up to the waves of her smooth brown hair. She thought about him rather continuously, that day and in the days that followed.

They went out to dinner that night in a taxicab, which is exactly the same as to say that a certain well-known lady in literature rode to the ball in a fairy coach. Linda did not ride in taxis every day of the week. Afterward they went to the theatre and sat in the Delectable Country of the second row. After that, salad and an ice, in a green-and-gold restaurant, gleaming with mirrors. Al[illegible]

Clothing Advertisement Contains Truthful Statements

When a man is inspired by truth he cannot go wrong—he cannot falsify were he inclined, and that truism holds good more and more today with the man who writes "ads" for newspapers —he must, perforce, be honest with the discriminating buying public.

Every successful man should read the clothing advertisements of The May Co. in the newspapers. They contain solid facts relative to Kirschbaum suits, making its appeal to men who buy clothing values, backed by good judgment.

"Ad" clubs throughout the United States during the last year or two have made more than ordinary efforts to "purify" newspaper advertising, as many conerns were eager to "masquerade" their values in newspaper "ads." and thereby sacrifice the real quality in merchandise they were offering to the public.

When the merchant confines his advertising to the sole truth and conveys these facts to the clothing buyer he then can walk into a store similar to The May Co. and choose a garment that is right, because when he reads it in the advertisement that the garment is 100 per cent wool, and he knows that the firm back of the "ad" favors nothing but truth in its advertisements, he will have no fear in selecting a garment that will give him the utmost satisfaction.

Nobody can read The May Co. "ads" without being convinced that the moving spirit behind them is truthfulness—they carry in every word something that convinces, something that is forceful, so it is as certain as anything can be that The May Co. style of advertising will sooner or later be adopted by all merchants who are anxious to do business honestly with the people through the columns of the newspapers.

NEW LIFE NET FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT: SHOCK ABSORBERS TO MAKE FALL SOFT

Cleveland Heights has a new life net, the latest device of the kind placed upon the market.

It is equipped with shock absorbers which reminds one jumping from a twelfth story window of turning over in a big feather bed, the landing is so easy and harmless. The net is carried on the new fire truck and can easily be operated by four men.

It is about 10 feet in circumference, marked in the center by a large red diamond, which indicates the spot for persons being rescued from burning buildings to jump for. It is made of strong canvas and is supported by strong springs, which greatly relieves the shock from the fall and greatly lessens the strain on the men holding the net. A test of the new net was made at the town hall Tuesday, when one of the employes jumped from the second story window. He landed on the red diamond without the slightest jar, and his 160 pounds weight had not the slightest effect on the men holding the device.

One of the Standard Dictionary definitions of "summer" is "a bright and prosperous period."

This meaning may be more definitely realized by the use of willow, fibre and rattan furniture which will make you comfortable out-of-doors.

Because the brightness and softness of summer has been somewhat delayed this year, we offer our summer furniture at lower than customary prices.

Tips For Play-Goers

Colonial Theatre

"A Pair of Queens," farce by Otto Hauerbach, A. Seymour Brown and Harry Lewis is the Colonial Stock company's offering for next week, and it should be one of the best of the season. It is rollicking fun all the way, a series of ridiculous and puzzling situations, strung together by a plot and a love story, with an occasional thrill for good measure. "A Pair of Queens" has never been shown in Cleveland before, but its record in New York and elsewhere is encouraging indeed. So far as rapidity of action is concerned "A Pair of Queens" is a record-breaker. It should give the Colonial players excellent opportunity to display their skill for there are crooks and detectives, pretty girls and adventuresses, a pearl necklace and lots of counterfeit money in the story, and more laughs than anything else.

Luna Park

Little Aldenand Ben Addiz, Arabian wonder workers, feature the vaudeville bill in Luna Parks open air heatre next week. They are skilled in mystifying tricks and bring a number of new novelties. The other five acts of the free show include Charles Basham, singing and dancing comedian; the Follis Sisters and LeRoy, with a song and dance number; Eddie Howard, who is called the "crazy clown;" Mary Maxfield, an attractive comedienne, and the Cycling Martells, with a trick bicycle turn. The management is negotiating with Chefalo, who has been looping a death trap loop twice daily by bicycle, for next week, and if other bookings can be shifted, he will repeat his daring rides next week. His act is one of the most thrilling Luna has ever booked.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

Norma Talmadge, the winsome favorite will be seen at the Alhambra and Mall theatres in her latest picture, "Poppy" for four days, starting Sunday.

Miss Talmadge will be remembered for her fine work in her last picture, "The Law of Compensation." In this new picture she becomes the storm center of two mens' love. It is a fascinating and dramatic story adapted from the novel by Cynthia Stockley.

The last three days of next week Viola Dana will be seen in her newest picture, "Alladin's Other Lamp." This picture is a light comedy and gives Miss Dana full opportunity to display her wonderful talents.

CORONA THEATRE

I am the gray ghost that you undoubtedly have read, seen or heard about in the famous Arthur Somers Roche Saturday Evening Post story, "Loot." I am the master mind. I command and others obey. Hundreds seek me, yet cannot find me—though I am here, there and everywhere. You shall see me and be thrilled. You shall be mystified. You shall be astonished. My work is clever, deep, extraordinary and that is why they know me and call me "The Gray Ghost." "The Gray Ghost" filmed and founded on the thrilling story "Loot," abounds in tremendous scenes, punches and is founded on the teeming life of America's greatest metropolis. Four brilliant Universal stars portray the leading characters. Stars chosen for their abilities to give you the swiftest, most gripping yet withal the most entertaining photoplay in years. The cast is beautiful Priscilla Dean, the famous Eddie Polo, the dashing Emory Johnson anl villanous Harry Carter, supported by a huge cast of players. Do not miss a single episode. Be sure to see the first installment at The Corona theatre, 745 Prospect avenue, Sunday, July 1st.

Star Theatre

Drew and Campbell's Colonial Belles are at the Star next week with a lively burlesque show, and a couple of first-rate vaudeville turns thrown in for good measure. The Gasch Sisters have an eccentric dancing and acrobatic act which has won praise in other Cleveland theatres, and the Sullivans, lariat artists have a rope looping exhibition and a lot of comedy combined in an act they call "Rangeland Foolery." The regular burlesque part of the performance, likewise, promises well. The chorus is pretty and well costumed, the scenery and electrical effects are excellent and the cast includes such familiar stars as Patricia Baker, Florence Tanner, Hilda Giles, Brand Sutton, Doc Dell and Charles Collins, Savo, capable comedian and juggler is also with the troupe.

FOOT DEFECTS CAN NOW BE CURED

Many young Americans who wanted to enlist were "turned down" by Uncle Sam's recruiting officers because their feet were not normal.

Bones were not right, arches were broken down, they had bunions, callouses or some other defect that prevented them "passing muster."

But all of these ailments, defects, pains, etc., can be cured—if these disappointed but patriotic young men will but go about it in the right way and go to the right place.

The Stone Shoe Co., 312-318 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, has a foot specialist always on hand to tell just what to do and how foot trouble may be permanently cured. There is no expense incurred for the examination or for advice. One is not asked to purchase a shoe or a boot in this long established footwear house.

But there is such an array of shoes for those who are sore of foot that it is impossible to leave the store without being perfectly fitted with a shoe that will help those of weak arches or otherwise suffering with their feet. The Foot Specialist will tell anyone going into the store just what to do to the end that the appliances and devices used in he Stone Shoe Co. store will effect a cure for those of sorely troubled feet.

Why the Undertaker Chose the Neal Way

A Case of Drink Habit Conquered at The Neal Institute

"I've laid so many away who went to 'death thru drink,'" declared an Ohio undertaker at the Neal Institute the other day, "that the thot struck me the other day that by drinking I was simply hurrying along to my own funeral. I'm thru and came here to get rid of the thirst."

And three days of the Neal Treatment sent him back home to business with all alcoholic desire absolutely gone.

It is one thing to make up your mind to quit drink but quite another thing to really quit. The "call of the thirst" is too strong.

Every drinker is carrying in his system the poison of alcohol. It is this poison which causes desire for more drink. You've got to get rid of the poison before you lose the desire.

That is just what he Neal Treatment does—neutralizes and eliminates all alcoholic poison and in three days' time changes love for drink into intense dislike of everything alcoholic.

There are no dangerous hypodermic injections—just a harmless vegetable remedy, taken internally.

There is no publicity. Names are not revealed. You can enjoy all desired privacy. Your own investigation is urged. Over 5,500 victims of drink have been successfully treated during the past few years.

Call or write for booklet. Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Phone Rosedale 3490. Open day and night. Other Neal Institutes located at Columbus, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

"I have tried Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper' frequently for cough and cold; it has always helped me quickly. I have often recommended it to my friends. There Are No Better Suits Than the Ones In This Movement

Society Brand Clothes

At 25 to 40 Per Cent Less Than Regular Prices

These Suits are worn by successful and particular men all over the United States. No wonder.

Society Brand Clothes have always been worth more than the price asked for them. That's because the prices are regulated by the money cost of material and making. Not a cent has been added for the art that lifts them above ordinary clothes.

They have been sold according to what was paid for their ~~production~~-construction. Today every Society Brand Suit is intrinsically worth much more than it was even two months ago—and in another year, we believe the present prices will have to be doubled.

Why? Because dozens of the woolen mills in this country and Europe are using all their looms for their respective governments exclusively. Yes, it is not at all unlikely that as soon as available fabrics have been absorbed prices will advance ONE HUNDRED PER CENT. But—we now offer Society Brand Clothes—the most desirable models—the newest and handsomest patterns—the latest colorings at tremendous reduction. The first shipment has just come from the factory.

1268 Society Brand Suits
Regularly $22.50, $25, $28, $30
at $18.00

If the fabrics were bought today the Suits would be a third more than we say they are regularly worth. Our comparisons are based on the former cost of cloths—before they advanced to the present point.

1047 Society Brand Suits
Regularly $35, $38, and $40
at $24.50

Made of the finest domestic and imported weaves—choicest, richest and most exclusive cloths—from the world's most famous looms. Many of them are quarter, half or full lined with strong, lustrous silk.

The Above Tells All

No use lengthening the announcement. You will know the character of the Suits involved in this grand movement—know it as well as we do. We've stated the vital facts definitely, explicitly, faithfully—and have avoided bombast and sensationalism. If you don't need a Suit—it should make no difference—you ought to buy one, two or three of these anyway—against future needs. The investment will yield you 100 per cent dividends, we believe.

Notice

In order to expedite and facilitate your purchases—for your convenience—we have engaged special fitters and tailors and cleared our alteration room in the interest of this sale. We've also consolidated other lines of Clothing to secure additional selling space. But—

We have not arranged to have extra salesmen. We would not like to subject our patrons to men unschooled in our selling methods—methods that place pleasing customers above everything else. Our own careful, trained conscientious people are here to fit you properly.

All of said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of 5 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on April 1 and October 1 each year, and both principal and interest shall be payable at The Cleveland Trust Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

A TRIBUTE TO OHIO

WAITE HILL, Correspondent.

Ohio has done her share in the Liberty Bond loan and now she's working hard for the Red Cross. Ohio will never be outdone in any good cause. We'll always boost for Ohio, our native state. We once wrote a few lines which ran something like this. We've traveled in the east and we've traveled in the west, but our native state, Ohio, is the grandest and the best. And when it comes to counties, you'll make no mistake by investing your money in a home in little Lake. And of towns there are so many of grandeur and renown, but to us there's none prettier than romantic Kirtland town.

One cannot speak too many praises for Ohio in my estimation. A few years ago a friend of ours took a trip all through the west and they were telling of the wonders out there, but then they said "Ohio' is good enough for me.

A few years ago when one of our Waite Hill girls graduated from the Willoughby school she had "Ohio" for the title of her essay and telling of all the good features and possibilities and of the great men and noble women that had been reared in the state and are filling high positions. She concluded her essay by saying: "Even to live in Ohio is fame."

SOME INTERESTING PLACES IN LAKE COUNTY

their fire place. This gives the keynote to the warm hearted hospitality that characterizes Dr. and Mrs. Russell. The sticks were lighted and each one of the friends presented with a piece, to participate in the ceremony of lighting the first fire in the new home.

It is a home of much charm and homelike simplicity. An unusual feature on the third floor is a closet of fresh-smelling cedar wood, for the storing of furs, etc. Nothing in the way of convenience seems to have been overlooked. Dr. Russell has even remembered that farms do not always contribute to clean shoes, and so down in the basement, among other rooms and compartments, there is a small closet with a seat, designed for a place to change one's boots! And even the cat has been remembered. He has a small window-door where he may go in and out! This thoughtful indication along the lesser lines shows itself in the rooms arranged for the help. Shower baths and hot and cold water are to be found in the building known as the office building on the grounds. Rain water is conveyed to all of the hot water faucets in the home, while well water is sent to the cold water faucets. A home is being fitted up adjacent for Frank Page, who is Dr. Russells' farm manager.

The view from the sun porch at "Russellhurst" is one of rest and charm. It looks away to the Gildersleeve mountain and South church, which Dr. Russell's grandfather helped to found, the family being old settlers of 1817.

A delightful roadway, laid out by the doctor, runs off through the woods and gives Mrs. Russell opportunity to study the bird life, in which she takes a keen interest. The doctor's farm covers 216 acres. He takes just pride in its progress as it was practically an abandoned farm when he secured it about seven years ago. Now there is scarcely an improvement that it does not show. The bull barn, individual calf barn, gas well, (which, by the way, is reported as being the best struck in 15 years, in this locality) antiseptic sewer tank, etc., are new additions. The latter is a combination of practical disposition of sewage and perfect sanitation, worthy of study.

The one big reason that leads Dr. and Mrs. Russell to take their guests on a little tour through "Russellhurst," is the splendid herd of Guernsey cows which they possess. "May Rose" and "Mashers Sequel," stand the highest in the Guernsey family geneology. The doctor's cows are of these families. The herd of registered cows are milked three times each day, and a careful record of the butter fat made. The doctor also has two grand daughters and one great grand daughter of the famous Murne Cowan cow, owned by O. C. Barber. One regrets to leave the gentle, faun-like cows and calves, who certainly seem little aware of their high standing. They are the real thoroughbreds.

Going back to the house, one remembers the delightful features of a built-in vacuum cleaner. Dr. Russell, world-wide traveler, loves the view that is seen from his home. "Even in Switzerland," he said, 'there is nothing lovelier than these hills around here. A farmer, he continued, "must be a man of education; a man of business; he must understand chemistry; the composition of the soil; there is no limit to the attainments or interests possible to the farmer.

Who can say that his life is dull or prosaic?

The farm is delightful at Russellhurst. Many things are seen that space prevents writing about. But in this one of Lake county's interesting spots there remains uppermost in the mind—the pleasant simple and homelike charm of a man and a woman, Dr. and Mrs. Russell.

VACANT SPOT ON EUCLID AVE.

There is a noticeably vacant spot on Euclid avenue now, due to the moving of the old Clark home, which has been moved back to the corner of Cemetery and Clark streets. The house is probably about 20 years old and has been purchased by J. H. Chesbro. Dr. Phrania Chesbro expects to begin the building of a modern home upon the lot in the near future.

FOR A PATRIOTIC PEOPLE

"Is there a man with an ounce of patriotic feeling, and a true conception of our national peril, who will not espond to the sentiment" that all unnecessary waste whether of food products or men must be eliminated.

This is an opportune time to insist upon conditions which will result in the very greatest efficiency of our large army of soldiers and of our larger army of workers who remain at home. If any one objects to this doctrine let us have a division and count votes. There never will be a time when it will be so important to have that question settled right, as now.

We could have peace now with Germany by allowing her to wantonly kill our citizens and trample on our rights without protest.

We could have peace now with the liquor traffic by allowing it to waste our grain and demoralize our army and our citizenship without objection.

"We will not choose the path of submission" to either of these enemies of our people.

If we win this war, (and win we must) it will be the result of a tremendous effort on the part of our nation, and every citizen should be in condition to do his utmost.

Thousands of young men who offered to enlist were rejected because they were physically incapacitated by the habitual use of intoxicating liquor.

Thousands more are unable to do a full day's work at their trade or business, for the same reason.

When a man goes on a drunk Saturday night and Sunday he either is not on the job Monday or if there, is unable to do a real day's work.

The loss in efficiency every Monday in the State of Ohio, due to the liquor traffic, is appalling. Every one of us is interested in this situation for when one man fails to do his full share of work, either that work is done or someone else must shoulder that additional burden. In either event, a great loss occurs.

There is a great scarcity of labor now. There will be a still greater scarcity when one-half million more men are called to the colors. Let's do our part to insure that those who remain are efficient.

We can't win the battles of war with drunken soldiers. We can't win the battles of peace with drunken citizens.

Secretary Baker wrote a letter to Governor Goodrich of Indiana, stating that unless communities chosen for army camps take the necessary measure to keep clean, the camps will be removed.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer (not a "dry" paper) in a news item states that in choosing sites for camp purposes, prohibition states were favored when possible, on account of better conditions existing.

Liquor has been barred from the army and navy. Loyal mothers raised their sons to be true soldiers at their country's call, but they didn't raise them to be booze fighters.

What has the liquor traffic done or what can it do to make our nation more efficient today?

Who dare stand to defend "booze" in this time of our nation's stress?

There never will be a time when the owners can get out of their immoral business at so little a loss as the present. Let the breweries and distilleries be changed into factories producing alcohol for government use in making explosives, and the other needs of war. Let them be changed into munition factories or canning factories.

If they are not all needed for useful purposes, shut them up and let the laborers go into some other factory where men are producing something for the common good, rather than the common ill of our people. Every factory and every man should be a producer, not a waster.

We don't care to see investments lost when they can be saved. We don't favor paying though for any loss sustained, not until all the financial loss and human misery inflicted upon us by the liquor traffic, has been repaid.

One hundred million bushels of grain are used every year in this country to manufacture intoxicating liquor. A certain percentage of the refuse can be used as food for stock. But in this hour every bushel should be saved for food, not any should be transformed into what is at the very best a mild poison.

Over $110,000,000 is spent for booze each year in Ohio. Stop that waste. Plug the leak.

Lloyd George said that the greatest enemy of England in this war was not Germany, not Austria, but it was the liquor traffic.

The greatest ally the Kaiser has in America today is this same traffic.

Vote for Prohibition this year, whether You Ever Did Before or Not.

LEGAL NOTICE.

John Young, the unknown heirs, devisees and legal representatives of John Young, deceased; ——— Young, first name unknown, wife of John Young; Nancy Hendershot, widow of Caspar Hendershot, deceased; Warren Hendershot; the unknown heirs, devisees and legal representatives of Warren Hendershot, deceased; ——— Hendershot, first name unknown, wife of Warren Hendershot; William Hendershot; the unknown heirs, devisees and legal representatives of William Hendershot, deceased; ——— Hendershot, first name unknown, wife of William Hendershot; Sarah Hendershot; ——— Hendershot, first name unknown, wife of George W. Hendershot, are hereby notified that Chris C. Dill, et al, have filed their petition, as plaintiffs, against the above named persons as defendants, in a certain action now pending in the Court of Common Pleas, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, No. 156761, stating that they are the owners under the will of Martin Dill, late of Cuyahoga County, deceased, Record of Wills No. 108, page 263 of the Probate Court of said County, of the following described premises:

Situated in the Township of Euclid, County of Cuyahoga, and State of Ohio, and known as being sub-lots Nos. 1, 5, 7, 8, 9 and 14 in the Martin Dill Subdivision of a part of Original Euclid Township Lot No, 71 Tract No. 3 in said Township, according to the plat of said Subdivision recorded in Volume 33 of Maps, page 8 of Cuyahoga County Records.

That by reason of certain defects in the record to the above premises in the Recorder's office of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, the said defendants have or claim to have some interest in and to the premises above described adverse to the title and possession of plaintiffs thereto, to-wit:

That prior to the year 1824, the title to said premises appeared good in the defendant, John Young; that thereafter, on February 28, 1828, Alexander McIlrath and wife conveyed said premises and more land to one Peter Dickinson; that said Peter Dickinson and wife conveyed the same to one Caspar Hendershot on or about the 21st day of March, 1828, and that there appears to be no deed of record from the said John Young to Alexander McIlrath.

Plaintiffs further allege that by the will of the said Caspar Hendershot, recorded in Volume B, page 27 of the Record of Wills of said County, he devised to his wife, the defendant, Nancy Hendershot, in lieu of her dower, ten acres of his farm containing the above described premises and more land during her lifetime and at her death to his two sons, the defendants, Warren Hendershot and William Hendershot, on condition that they provide ample and sufficient means of support for the said Nancy Hendershot and their grandmother, the defendant, Sarah Hendershot. The records do not disclose that the two sons, Warren and William, provided said support, nor do the records disclose the administration of the estates of Warren Hendershot and William Hendershot [illegible]

Plaintiffs further say that they believe and so allege that the said Alexander McIlrath [illegible]

George W. Hendershot, who later conveyed his interest to said land to the said Warren Hendershot, being then unmarried.

The title comes down to the said Martin Dill in an unbroken chain from the year 1884, and has been held by him and his predecessors in ownership in continuous, actual, open, notorious, adverse and undisputed possession and ownership since said year; that by reason of said defects of record, a cloud is cast upon the title of the plaintiffs and they ought to have their title quieted as against the defendants and each of them.

The prayer of the petition is that the defendants may be required to answer, setting up what, if any, claim they have in and to the premises above described or any part thereof; that plaintiffs may have their title in and to the premises aforesaid as set forth in said will, quieted as against the defendants and each of them, and all persons claiming under them, or any of them; and that the defendants be forever barred from setting up any claim to said premises or any part thereof, adverse to the title and possession of the plaintiffs, their heirs and assigns, thereto, according to their respective interests as beneficiaries under the will of the said Martin Dill, deceased, and for such other and further relief as may be just and equitable.

The defendants are required to answer on or before the 21st day of July, 1917, or judgment may be taken against them.

Food for Thought.

"You say you want to marry my daughter. Have you spoken to her?" "Yes, sir," replied the young man, "and have gained her consent." "Well, if she has said 'Yes,' that settles it. Anything I might say or do wouldn't have the slightest influence." Then the young man went home and wondered if he were too young to marry such a girl.

Daily Thought.

Good sense must in many cases determine good breeding; because the same thing that would be civil at one time, and to one person, may be quite otherwise at another time and to another person, but there are some general rules of good breeding that hold always true and in all cases.—Chesterfield.

It Couldn't Be True.

ELECTRICITY REPLACES OIL LAMPS AT HANNA "SLEEPLY HOLLOW FARM" — MODERN ELECTRICAL DEVICES INSTALLED AT FARM.

Electricity is now being installed in the beautiful country residence of H. M. Hanna, Jr., Sleepy Hollow Farm. Over 150 outlets for ceiling lights and table lamps taking place of the oil lamps which were previously used for illumination. Electricity is also installed in the service cottage, The laundry is equipped with the latest and most modern devices A large electric mangle and ironer, an electric washing machine and an electric wringer, making laundry work a pleasure.

The electric generator is of a new design, doing away with storage batteries which are used in nearly all country homes when located out of the zone of electricity furnished by power companies. All that is necessary to get light is to turn on the key of the pocket at the fixture. That starts the plant automatically and the light is on. When he lamps are all turned off the plant stops. The plant requires very little attention and can be operated by most anyone.

The work is being installed by The Enterprise Electrical Construction Co., of Cleveland, under the supervision of T. H. Greenslade, of the above firm.

AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS DECIDE WICKLIFFE IS "SOME PLACE" SKY ROCKETS FOLLOW AUTO WHEN EXPLOSION OCCURRS IN HOROWITZ STORE WINDOW.

Autosits who have been cautioned to drive slowly, so that they may see Wickliffe while passing through the village, were disinclined to obey the admonition Monday, when flying sky rockets from Horowitz' store window pursued them. A light dropped in the fireworks display caused an explosion. The rockets went through the glass; some crossed the street and hit Rice's store; others pursued autos apparently, same as recent auto speed catchers. No one was injured but considerable excitement and loss was occasioned.

MANY PEOPLE VISIT TEMPLE

The old historic temple of the Church of the Latter Day Saints, at Kirtland, known as the Mormon Temple, loses none of its interest as time goes on. They registered from Iowa, California, Thompson, Leroy, Willoughby, Buffalo, Madison, Philadelphia and many other points. The registry book would show a widely diversified interest in the unique place, where hand made mouldings, ax hewed floors, and other features of the temple, are daily pointed out. "OUR FLAG"

Written For The Republican, by Mrs. Mary Grover

When we see the waving folds of our banner in the air
Dear to every freeman's heart, blest by every freeman's prayer.
Do we read the message well, written on its crimson bars
Do we know the truth that dwells in its silver gleaming stars.
Not alone of deadly wars, speaks the glorious flag we own
Not alone of camp and field, battles lost and battles won:
But to every loyal soul, to its country's welfare true.
There's a better meaning yet, in its crimson, white and blue.
In the light of coming years, clearer will its mission be Right shall conquer where it goes, long and old oppression flee.
Not for gain or golden store, not for lands bound the sea
But for knowledge and the best good of all humanity.
Then at last will come the days, when this sound of war shall cease

A LITTLE TALK WITH MRS. HARRY COULBY ABOUT THE RED CROSS WORK IN WICKLIFFE. VILLAGE MAY HAVE A SEPARATE UNIT. POTATO PARING PARTY TO BE HELD. MANY WELL KNOWN PEOPLE KNIT AND SEW.

"This is your baby, but I'll help to rock the cradle," Mrs. Harry Coulby, wife of the mayor of Wickliffe, said when Mrs. Honeywell and Mrs. Fairman called upon her in regard to starting the Red Cross Chapter in Wickliffe. "And we're going to ROCK the Cradle." Mrs. Coulby said Friday last in talking about Wickliffe's Red Cross Branch. The Wickliffe unit now has 131 members. Wickliffe is not so very large, even though it is an incorporated village. Friday there were 43 members busily working. Eleven sewing machines are in use, the circle holding two meetings each week. "I would be willing to come from six o'clock in the morning until six at night," Mrs. Coulby continued. Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Fairman bring their sewing machines and their motors with them.

The circle was recently requested to make up two dozen comfort bags, the contents to be filled in later.

They have made up 29, all complete filled with the best quality of stipulated articles that they could buy.

The Wickliffe Circle is organized on a business-like basis. If a member is absent one time, she is called upon the phone to explain why. If absent a second time, a personal visit Coulbey explained. is made. "Just like a school," Mrs.

Mrs. F. B. Squires has charge of the shirts, and very happy and interested she seems in the work. "This she said, with considerable pride, holding up a finished garment, "is my shirt," and this represented one which she had taken home to finish. [illegible] Mrs. Squires takes home an unfinished shirt and brings it back finished. Mrs. Tyte has charge of the sheets and Mrs. Lawton of the compresses. Miss Fuller and Miss King do the buying.

Mrs. Fairman is secretary, and Mrs. Jewett is treasurer. "We haven't any uniform. We just WORK." Mrs. Couby continued; and she, by the way doesn't take any credit for anything! "We are just going to stand by Wickliffe and do all we can for it," she remarked incidentally.

Mrs. Price McKinney and family are members and workers in the circle. Mrs. Frank Rockafellow and Miss Alice Rockafellow are knitting. The state inspector was expected Friday, and it is possible that after a vote, Wickliffe may be come a separate unit, sending their work directly to Washington. This would stimulate enthusiasm and interest Mrs. Coulby believes. "Nothing returned" —is their slogan, and a rigid inspection of everything is made before it leaves Wickliffe.

Mrs. John Lenker, of Cleveland, who made such good shirts they were used as samples, was their first instructress. Mrs. Lenker, by the way, has completed 12 shirts every week since the war started!

"Its been 25 years since I did anything like this," Mrs. F. B. Squires remarked. It's a happy colony of workers that assemble each week. The meetings are held in the Coulby Baytree house, an ideal place, being provided with windows on all sides.

The community Garden is practically ready for the late potatoes, and the Red Cross workers and others are all subject to call for a potato paring party, which will be held in the [illegible] house. "There is no question but that some one is rocking the cradle, and rocking it well, that stimulate the unflagging interest in Wickliffe's Red Cross work.

SAILOR AVIATOR IS FIRSA U. S. WAR VICTIM IN FRANCE

The first war victim among America's overseas forces was killed in France Friday, when Thomas Winch Barrett of Mentor, O., a member of the United States aeronautical service, with a French officer, an airplane instructor, fell 1,000 feet in a machine which caught fire, burning both to death.

Barrett was one of the hundred Americans attached to the [illegible] sent to France to learn to pilot hydroplanes.

He went up with a French officer instructor sitting behind him. At a height of a thousand feet the aeroplane burst into flames and fell.

The funeral was held Saturday. Barrett's coffin was carried on a gun carriage draped in the Stars and Stripes. The French instructor was buried beside him.

MOVIES OF WILLOUGHBY GREAT SUCCESS

The motion picture films made in Willoughby on Willoughby day turned out an unqualified success, and the finished pictures will be exhibited in the Hiawatha theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the 12th, 13th and 14th. The regular program will be given in addition to the pictures of Willoughby and this will be one of the best and most enjoyable shows ever seen in Willoughby. Everybody will enjoy the pictures of the crowds of Willoughby people, the fire department, and the fine homes and factories around Willoughby. Some comical situations take place in these local pictures, and they are bound to cause much merriment. On Saturday afternoon a matinee will be given for those who cannot attend the shows in the evening. The admission prices will be 15 cents in the evenings and 10c for the matinee.

HERE'S A MAN WHO BELIEVES IN CONSERVATION. SAVES HAILSTONES MAKES ICE CREAM

The hailstones that fell in the storm June 26th, furnished an idea to Chas. French. He collected a sufficient quantity to fill a pail, and packing them well in, froze a gallon of ice cream thereby. This story is vouched for by one of Willoughby's well known citizens and shows that even hail stones may be made useful by one with a discerning mind.

ANDREWS SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

An adjourned meeting of the board of trustees for the Andrews Institute for Girls was held in Cleveland on Friday and Saturday of last week. The board also met in Willoughby Saturday evening. The meeting was called to consider the financial affairs of the New York Steam Company. Mr. G. C. St. John, A. E. Duram and C. H. Gillham of New York, E. G. Stevenson of Detroit, Mich., and F. H. Goff of Cleveland were from out of town and attended the conference.

DEVELOPEMENT OF THE NORTON PROPERTY

The D. Z. Norton property at Stop 37, Euclid avenue, presents a scene of much activity. Signs have been erected within the last few days, by the McNutt-McCall Co., 220 Hickox building, [illegible] company were on the property Sunday and will be there every afternoon and evening.

The old farmhouse, said to be over 100 years old, and a familiar landmark to Willoughby people has been torn down and men are at work grading the street which will be the main entrance to the property. This street will be 80 feet wide, parked down the center and boulevarded at the sides. The entrance will be 120 feet wide, narrowing down to the street proper, which will gradually widen and run into a square about 600 feet back from the avenue. This square, nearly 300 feet wide, is at the intersection of the two main streets through the property. It will also be parked and dedicated to public use. All of the other streets through the property will be 60 feet wide. They will also be boulevarded and provided with shade trees and five foot stone sidewalks.

The lots, the company announces, will be 80 feet wide, with a few running up to 100 feet wide. The majority of them will be about 200 feet deep. They will be restricted exclusively to use for single family residences, and the property developed into a high class residence district.

A very artistic shelter house, the company announces, will be built at the Euclid avenue entrance to the property, which from the foregoing description, it will be seen will provide a most beautiful approach to this naturally beautiful property, ideally adapted for development into a high class and beautiful residence district.

With beautiful Sterling Ridge at the back, from which may be had one of the most beautiful views of any spot in the country, and possessed of a fine rich soil suitable for the production of fine lawns, shrubbery and gardens, it would seem that the selection of this property was a very happy one for development into an ideal residence community.

Grading of the streets has been started and laying of the sidewalks, the company states, will proceed forthwith. Other improvements, including the installation of water mains, the sewer, and paving will follow as soon as practicable.

"WHAT WE PUT INTO LIFE, WE [illegible]

At the church of Christ, Sunday morning, Rev. Floyd H. Randall, the pastor gave a most helpful sermon, taking his text from the twenty-first chapter of John beginning with the fifth verse. He brought out very forcibly that if we do those things from the right motive and look about us for good the results will be good like the disciples at the sea of Tiberias, who had cast their net on the right side of the ship as Jesus had directed them, received their net full of fishes. Truly we get out of life just what we put into it.

USE UP STALE BREAD.

Toast

Toast is another form in which artly stale bread can be made attractive. In many families it is served only for breakfast, luncheon, or upper, but the custom which many igh-grade restaurants have adopted f serving thin, crisp, hot toast with he more substantial meals might ell be followed at home. Such dishs as chopped meat with gravy, creamd chicken or fish, poached eggs, elted cheese, cooked asparagus, wiss hard baked tomatoes, etc. re served very commonly on toast. Cream or milk toast (that is, toast ith a cream sauce or milk gravy, erhaps flavored with a very ittle chipped beef, salt fish or other avory) may be used as the main dish t breakfast luncheon or supper. lices of toast may also be dipped in ater or milk and beaten egg and ightly browned on a hot greased pan. he recipe for this dish, which is alled by various names, is given in he appended recipes under the heading "Egg toast." It may be used at reakfast, and has the advantage of aking the eggs "go further" than used in a separate dish, or it may e served with cinnamon and sugar rup or any sweet sauce for dessert.

As a Breakfast Food.

Another good way of using stale read or of treating bread so that it ill not become stale, is to put the ieces in the warming oven or on the ack of the stove and leave them unl they are crisp and a delicate own throughout. This is often called twice-baked bread and is very opular with children and also with own-ups, who like its "crunchines," nd the flavor which comes with the slight browning. The rusks which used to be (commonly) served like breakfast cereals in some parts of the country were made by crushing such twice-baked bread with a rolling pin.

Crumbs Valuable in Cookery.

There is nothing new in the idea of using bread crumbs in cookery, and most housekeepers are in the habit of having some on hand for use in scalloped dishes, stuffing for meat, puddings, etc. Few realize however, how much more generally they might be utilized. Many commercial bakers use bread crumbs to some extent as a substitute for the flour in many sorts of cakes, cookies, puddings, etc. Crumbs may also be used instead of flour and starch for thickening soups and sauces.

Any bits of bread which can not be eaten on the table should be saved and crumbed for use in cooking. Some housekeepers keep two kinds on hand—one, stale crumbs made chiefly from the inside of the loaf and suitable for use in the place of flour; and dried crumbs made from any part of the bread browned a little in a very slow oven and crushed fine to be used in scalloped dishes for the coating of croquettes or other fried foods or wherever a crusty fine crumb is needed. To prevent their growing musty, crumbs should be kept in dry air tight containers. Fruit jars are often convenient for the purpose.

How to Utilize Quick Breads.

Yeast made bread is by no means the only bread that can be utilized in some of the ways suggested. The quick breads raised by baking powder, soda and sour milk or other acid, etc., dry out more quickly than the yeast bread probably because the water is not so thoroughly incorporated with the flour during the making. These breads can not be freshened simply by putting in the oven like yeast-raised bread. Quick biscuits, however, make delicious toast, which is very convenient for serving under meats, eggs, etc. The crumbs made from them may also be used in other breads, cakes, and puddings, as may also corn bread and cake. Crumbs wherever their flavor is not objectionable. Boston brown bread toasted and served with a cream sauce is a delicious dish for supper or breakfast. Toasted rye bread is also good. Crackers, which are practically dried bread baked in different shapes, and which may lose their crispness if kept exposed when the air is moist, can be freshened and made crisp my putting into the oven. The crumbs made from them serve many of the purposes of dried bread crumbs. A number of recipes for using left-over bread follow:

Stale Bread Recipes.

Vegetable Soup Thickened with Bread Crumbs.

1 quart skim milk, 1 cup bread crumbs, or 2 large slices stale bread, Salt, Small amount spinach or outer leaves lettuce (not more than four ounces), 1 small slice onion.

Cut the vegetables into small pieces and cook with the bread crumbs in the milk in a double boiler. If a large quantity is being prepared, as in a school lunch room for example, put the vegetables through a meat chopper. In this case slices of bread may be ground with the vegetables in order to absorb the juice.

Pancakes

1 cup crumbs, 2 1-4 cups skim milk, 1-2 cup flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon melted fat, 1 egg.

Soak crumbs in milk for three-fourths of an hour. Then add other ingredients and cook on a hot gridle, like ordinary pancakes. If sour milk is used, substitute onehalf teaspoon baking soda for the 4 teaspoons baking powder.

Gingerbread

1 cup molasses, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1 1-2 cups fine bread crumbs, 2-3 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 1-2 teaspoons ginger, 1-2 teaspoon salt 4 teaspoons melted lard or other fat.

Add water to molasses and combine with the dry ingredients mixed together, then add fat and beat. Bake for about 25 minutes in a hot oven.

Indian Pudding Made with Crumbs

1 cup fine crumbs, one quart skim [illegible] 1-4 cup molasses, 2 tablespoons melted butter, or other fat, 1-4 teaspoon ginger, 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon.

Scald the crumbs in milk; add the other ingredients; and bake 1 1-2 hours in a slow oven. This pudding may be made with any kind of bread crumbs, but it furnishes an especially good means of using up stale corn bread.

Egg Toast

6 slices bread, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, skim milk, or water, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

Beat the eggs and add the liquid and salt. Let the bread soak in the mixture until slightly soft. Then fry to a light brown on a hot, well-greased pan or griddle. More eggs may be used if available.

TWO POTATO CROPS GROWN IN ONE YEAR

Planted After Clover or Strawberries

Intensive potato culture may be practiced this year of food shortage by planting a late crop after clover is out or strawberries are picked. Sun-sprouted seed is required for the second crop.

Full benefit of the clover may be realized by planting tubers just after harvest, according to gardeners at the Ohio Experiment Station. They also say that unusual yields and high quality of potatoes may be expected from plantings made in early summer on old strawberry patches.

For such planting the potatoes make quick growth if sprouted in partial sunlight in the spring. When spread out in shallow trays or on a floor where the sun shines part of the day, short, stubby, green sprouts grow to one-half to three-fourths of an inch long, and the tubers shrivel somewhat.

These potatoes may then be cut and planted with the sprouts on, care being taken not to injure them. At the Experiment Station such seed planted June 30 yielded nearly twice as much as ordinary cellar-stored potatoes planted the same day.

TIMSE—FARMERS CORNER jj—
BLACK MOLD OCCURRING ON ONIONS IN STORAGE

Appearing as a disease of general economic importance to growers and storage men of Ohio only in 1916 black mold has been found by botanists at the Ohio Experiment Station to be prevalent in onion districts near Toledo and Chillicothe, and common on onions shipped into the state from Illinois and Kentucky. The disease may be controlled with formalin along with sanitation measures in the field.

Black mold resembles onion smut, and the same treatment is valuable to control both diseases. In the field it is not particularly noticeable, but infected onions in storage soon show dark areas on the upper portion, the disease spreading downward between the layers of the bulb and causing a shriveling and drying of the exterior. In a short time the whole onion is decomposed.

Tests made with 40 per cent formalin, of a strength of one pound, or pint, to from 25 to 33 gallons of water and applied to infected seed, proved this strength sufficient to control the disease.

Treating seed with this solution be-[illegible] onion tops, rotted onions and other litter, and disinfecting crates with formalin solution (a pound to 40 gallons of water) will insure a healthy crop, the botanists say, if black mold has not been present before in the field. On previously infected soils the formalin solution is recommended to be applied to the seed and soil by a drip attachment to the onion seeder, from 500 to 700 gallons of solution being used per acre. The drip attachment need be only an ordinary syrup can with a perforated bottom [illegible] ward to drop in the row with the onion seed.

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

By Fannie Heaslip Lea

ter that, home in another taxi! And after that—dreams!

"I like you in that little white dress," Mr. Hewitt had said. "You look as fresh as a cloud."

"Dreams indeed! At the door, when they parted, he told her:

"Tomorrow's Saturday—we'll go for a walk in the park. And on Sunday—"

They went for that walk, and on Sunday, at Linda's suggestion, they went to church—down to the old St. Louis Cathedral, drowsing in the sunshine beside Jackson Square. He slipped his hand over hers when she knelt. When the organ thundered out above their heads she felt his fingers tighten. Afterward he bought her a bunch of jonquils from a flower-vender on Canal Street, and she pinned them on the breast of the new grey suit. The sky was as blue as the eyes of hope.

Monday night they went to the movies again and Tuesday once more to the theatre; Wednesday they walked up the Avenue after dinner—walked miles and miles in a shadow-peopled world, and talked; and Thursday—

Not many dreams have found a death-warrant briefer than that.

"Why yes—all right," said Linda.

She didn't even say she was sorry—something vastly bigger than sorrow had her by the throat.

Anyhow she went on down to work.

A little aplayful wind blew her a petal from the pear tree, like a kiss, as she passed it. Already, you see, the petals were going. And the sky was not so blue that day—a touch of humidity in the atmosphere, perhaps.

Linda worked until noon. At twelve she went to the bank and drew out what remained of her money. Her lips, when she signed the check, were set in a grim pink line.

"That closes your account, you know," said the friendly young man behind the grill.

"Yes," said Linda, strangely husky, "I see it does."

You know why she did it, of course? Her swan-song! Her little all, flung on to the sacrificial fire! Linda't tribute to Life, the Conquerer!

When she came down to Hewitt that night at seven o'clock, he looked at her a moment in silence.

"Another dress?" he asked at length.

"And a new hat." Her eyes inquired wistfully: "Do you like it?"

"Such a little queen!" he said whimsically. He opened the door, and they went out in to the chill spring night air together.

Because it was growing a little late, the restaurant at which they dined was none too full. Mr. Hewitt ordered with discrimination, but Linda only played with the food the fat old French waiter set before her. They talked—of what do you talk when the world is crumbling into ashes beneath your tired little feet? At last, with the black coffee and crockers and cheese, the waiter left them in peace.

"Thank the Lord," said Mr. Hewitt. He leaned his elbows on the table, knit his strong, lean fingers together, and looked at Linda.

"I've been waiting all day for this."

Linda said nothing at all. Men came and went—she knew, having heard often enough of the discomfiture of other girls. At least, now no one would know. She inquired in a careful little voice:

Many were pleased at the motion recently made by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Collister at a meeting of the village council that the name of the Lost Nation road be changed to Hopkins road in honor of Chas. H. Hopkins, whose whole life was practically spent here and who was one of our most successful farmers. In the early days the old name may have been applicable but now it is felt that it is a misnomer and it is hoped that our commissioners will make the exchange.

The recent heavy rains have made our road almost as rough as in early spring. It is hoped that the road scraper will soon put it in better condition.

BOOKS--NEWS OF THE THEATRES--PHOTO PLAYS--MUSIC

Tips For Play-Goers

Colonial Theatre

The Colonial stock company, after a series of rollicking farces, returns to serious drama next week with George Scarborough's "Heart of Wetonah," an Indian love story with an Oklahoma setting. Originally a Belasco production, the play has just been released for stock by special arrangement with Belasco and the Charles Frohman company. It is a big play and a good one, which should give the versatile players of the troupe opportunity to show their abilities along lines which have had little chance thus far in the stock season. The play has to do with an Indian girl who loves too well and very unwisely. Her proud father, a Comanche chief, demands to know the name of her betrayer, but she refuses to reveal it. She flees for shelter to the government agent stationed on the reservation, and her father, finding her there, believes the agent guilty and demands that they wed. This the agent is only too glad to do. Mr. Fassett will have the role of the Indian agent, Miss Cahill will be the trusting and persecuted girl, and Mr. Johnson will have the more important part of the Comanche chief. It should be a good week.

The Miles

Liane Carrera, daughter of Anna Held, is featured on the Miles vaudeville bill next week in a big patriotic song review. She is just back from base hospitals in France, where she has been serving as a nurse, and has taken large part in the theatrical entertainment provided for convalescents. Other features of an attractive bill are offered by the Three Robins who sing old and new songs well; by May Roberts, a light opera prima donna on her first vaudeville tour, and by Pearce and Pearce, with a musical novelty. Schirman and Volt are acrobats above the average. Margaret Tillman presents a powerful little playlet called "The Tempted Woman," which she wrote and staged herself. An added feature of the program is the thrilling photo play, "Big Timber," starring Kathlyn Williams and Wallace Reid.

Alhambra & Mall

"The Trail of the Shadow," a new picture of American life featuring Emmy Wehlan will be shown at the Alhambra and Mall theatres four days, starting Sunday.

This is a story of mystery, suspense and adventure. It concerns the blight that cast a shadow over the life of a girl which was as pittiless as though guided by a demon.

The last three days of the coming week the attraction will be Mabel Taliaferro in "The Will O' the Wisp," the first picture featuring this little actress in many months and reported to be a very strong production.

Corona Theatre

Anita Stewart supported by Charles Richman in "The More Excellent Way" will be shown at the Corona theatre Saturday, July 7th. Other features are Sunday, "The Gray Ghost," with Eddie Polo and Priscilla Dean. Don't miss this wonder serial. Monday, "Hearts and Flow[ers]," a two act [illegible] Tuesday, "Seeds of Redemption," Wednesday, "The Reed Case," a five act Butterfly feature, Thursday, "A Limb of Satan," and Friday Molly King in "The Mystery of the Double Cross."

Standard Theatre

Week of June 8th. The Standard theatre will present June Caprice in "Patsy," one of the latest of this screen star's successes. The story is of a tomboy sent to the city for her education, and to cure her of her boyish ways. The experiment in time proves a success and also gets Patsy a good husband and home.

Everyone is familiar with this young star, as she has already won an army of admirers amongst picture fans and as this is one of her best screen plays and in her cast are favorites such as Harry Hilliars, Jane Leo and others, a fine production is assured.

With other good attractions the program promises to be an enjoyable one.

Luna Park

Consul, the man-monkey, long familiar as a vaudeville headliner, features the bill in Luna Park's outdoor theatre next week. The performances of this well trained anthropoid ape should be especially entertaining to children. Other features on an attractive program are offered by Boyce, a daring acrobat, and by Mary Maxfield, with a song and monolog number. Madison and Nace have a good song and dance turn. The Smudgu Duo sensational aerialists, are also on the bill and the management is booking another good act which it is not yet ready to announce.

Fifty Millions To Make It Simple

It's a SIMPLE thing to light the gas stove just for a moment or two and then switch it off.

It's a SIMPLE thing to start the gas furnace after a rainy spell—to take the dampness out of the house.

It's easy to boil the clothes in the laundry on a hot day and yet keep the laundry cool—just a matter of a few matches for the gas plate.

All so simple and easy—Gas Service always ready to use and cut out the instant you're through.

Yet to bring West Virginia gas to your hand is the complicated work of nearly 3,000 trained men, each doing a countless variety of things, all working to one end—for YOU!

And the tools they work with—the plant that simplifies Gas Service—$50,000,000.

ELECTRIC LIGHT

Little Talks About Electric Light
You can light any room in your house or a whole floor by pressing an electric button. A tramp or a peddler at your front door can be seen from within by flashing the porch light. Think how easy this is and how it protects you from intruders at night.

THE MAY COMPANY
DOES NOT RESORT TO FRIGHTENING METHODS

There May Be Some Scatterbrain Dealers Throughout the Country Who, From Selfish Motives, Adopt Such Methods ---But They Are Decidedly in the Minority

HERE IS OUR ADVICE

Supply your needs—but don't over-buy. You have nothing to fear from the future. Prices will take no sensational rises. There is no business crisis in this country. Just the reverse. The market is firmly adjusted to war conditions. Conservative manufacturers and retailers have joined forces to frustrate speculative adventurers.

Increased consumption and larger distribution will practically overcome the higher cost of production, except in isolated cases. We are doing our part to steady prices down to a sound basis of equity.

Regulate your purchases by your needs. Prices will fluctuate, of course, but broadly speaking, they will make no startling flights.

We believe the reaction caused by unexampled prosperity will be in favor of retail buyers.

The July Clearance

June brought us a great business. The record is flattering testimony of your discrimination—a tribute to the intelligence that directs your shopping.

Continuuos selling has diminished many assortments. They are the ones now in the storm center of The July Clearance Sale.

But this trade movement is not limited to our own stocks.

The store becomes a sort of clearing house for worthy goods of many sorts that for one reason or another are offered at less than their market value.

Many manufacturers and importers wish to sell down. Our outlet is quick enough for us to take advantage of desirable opportunities.

Hence this period of Napoleonic merchandising beneath this roof.

No matter how low the prices we ask, there has been no trifling with qualities.

Our standard has been maintained.

The Willoughby Republican

WILLOUGHBY BOYS EXPECT TO BE IN FRANCE BY CHRISTMAS. SOME ARE ALREADY THERE, SOME LEAVE WILLOUGHBY SUNDAY

"We will have three stripes on our sleeves, and a little mark to indicate our trade,"—Robert Smart said Wednesday, talking about the Willoughby soldier boys who will leave for the front Sunday. There is a good many of them, too. Fine, splendid Willoughby boys who will go off to "somewhere in France."

The Republican has endeavored to secure the names of all the boys who will leave Sunday, and if any are omitted, it is with much regret. Surely each and every one of the boys deserve far more credit than we can give them.

Companies "E" and "F" who have enlisted in the First regiment of Engineers, include Albert, Wade, and John Wicker; Maynard Page; "Fuzzy" or "Noah" Webster; Clarence Tyte and ....Brown of Wickliffe, John Marble, Robert Smart, Gene Hubbell, of Kirtland Road; .... Lilley; Harold Gray and Paul Walker.

Lawrence Wells and Carl Roberts are in Company "M" Fifth Regiment.

The boys who have all been friends here together, will leave together Sunday, and go to the Armory in Cleveland. They will remain there about 21 days. They will be mustered into the Federal service; and the 5th of August the Engineers go to Augusta, Ga. They expect to be in France by Christmas.

Some Willoughby boys who are now in France include Gordon Pierce, Will Walker and Harold Palmer, George VanGorder enlisted in the Engineer Corp, of the Mosquito Fleet, and is now in the Coast Patrol, in a ship which awaits sailing orders.

Harold Newman is in the U. S. Army, as is also John Broderick and Ward Smith. The latter expects to go to San Francisco. Harry Barnhisel was mustered into the Federal service, and is in the Light Artillery. The Republican is going to reserve a corner at the top of the page for "Willoughby Boys at the Front," and is promised letters which will tell about what the boys are doing. Of course they aren't any braver than all the other boys who are going,—but— they are the Willoughby and Lake county boys.

JAMES A. GARFIELD ADDRESSES SPLENDID GATHERING AT BALDWIN FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

One of the nicest 4th of July celebrations ever attended was given by Mrs. A. D. Baldwin on her beautiful grounds Wednesday evening, when she invited people for miles around to come to her home near Little Mountain to enjoy the "doings." The Painesville band furnished music and the talks given by James A. Garfield and Mr. Kingsley enlightened many in regard to the beginning of the war and why this country is now placing our boys at the front. After the band music and speaking the crowd, which numbered not less than five hundred people were invited to the barns for dancing. There were many prettily decorated. In barn No. 1 the old time Dulcimer and fiddle made music for the square dances, which the older people as well as the young were delighted to dance once again. At barn No. 2 a fine colored orchestra played all the latest and most up to date music for the round dances. Ice cream cones were given away free. Dancing was also free. This was a never to be forgotten 4th of July and many thanks is heard every where for the pleasure it gave to all. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin as host and hostess are unexcelled.

WHY NOT GIVE THE LOCAL MERCHANT A CHANCE?

This is the tale of a Lake county man who went to Cleveland to buy a gas range for a new home recently built. They quoted him $82.00. He gave a Willoughby firm, Kennedy & Rockafellow, in this instance, an opportunity to quote, and they named him a price of $60.00. The order was therefore placed in Willoughby. Look around if you wish, but give the local merchant a chance!

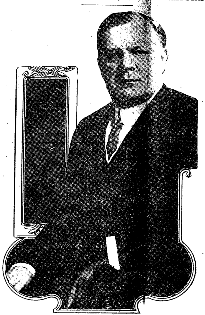
DON'T FORGET THAT THE TALENTED BIDDLE CONCERT COMPANY WILL BE HERE IN WILLOUGHBY UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE LADIES AID SOCIETY OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST, LAST WEEK IN JULY. LOOK FOR A DEFINITE ANNOUNCEMENT NEXT WEEK OF DATE AND PLACE. LOVERS OF GOOD MUSIC WILL CERTAINLY WANT TO HEAR THEM.

GUEST IS PLEASANTLY ENTERTAINED

Several pleasant informal affairs are being arranged by way of entertainment for Miss Lois Carmichael, of Martin's Ferry, during her stay as two week's guest at the Carmichael home. Mrs. Carmichael gave a porch party for her Saturday last. Wednesday Miss Evelyn Walt entertained for her, while Miss Gertrude Gillette arranged a pleasant party for Friday.

WICKLIFFE HAS BEST MAYOR IN THE COUNTRY, SAYS WICKLIFFIANS



HARRY COULBY

Elected for Mayor, and only one dissenting vote, and that the vote of the man himself is the record of Wickliffe's mayor. If there is one subject on which the residents of Wickliffe are in full accord, it is upon the merits of their mayor, Harry Coulby. There is only one thought that troubles them: Having selected such a good one they could not reasonably hope, they argue, to find another to succeed him. Therefore they have decided, and most happy is their decision, that they will retain Mayor Coulby as their permanent mayor.

Mr. Coulby, upon being elected, inquired the lowest salary that he could, under the law, receive. "Ten dollars per year" was the response. "Very well, that will be my salary" he said. Then he presented the lights which illuminate the village, to the town as a Christmas gift.

Light is a fine thing. Lights along the pathway illuminate the road for the passersby, and light in the mind of individual enables them to see, and light certainly prevailed in Wickliffe when the residents decided upon Mr. Coulby for mayor.

MEMORIES BROUGHT FORTH BY THE PASSING OF MRS. SARAH SMART WHEELER.

Memories troop forth when an old resident passes. Memories of the little things long forgotten come to the fnd and say: "Thus it was long ago," And so Mrs. Eliza Waite revived many memories Wednesday, as she talked of the passing of her sister, Mrs. Sarah Ann Smart Wheeler, in Berkley, Cal., last week. Mrs. Wheeler was the youngest dughter of Samuel Smart, Sr. She was 78 years of age, just three years younger than Mrs. Waite. She was born in Willoughby in 1838, at the old Wilson homestead on Erie Street. "It was a beautiful cottage," Mrs. Waite said reminiscently. "Why those old Elm-trees that stand in the school yard now, were just saplings in our orchard then. We children mounted them and called them our horses. It was all orchard down to Vanama Court." The family lived there about ten years when Mr. Smart bought the present Waite home in 1848. Mrs. Wheeler was married there, to R. G. Wheeler, son of a Painesville miller. They resided in Painesville until the out break of the Civil war. The west called, and after residences in various cities they settled in Berkley, Cal., where their one son, Roswell S. Wheeler, is at the head of a news Lecture Bureau. Many relatives now in Willoughby include Mrs. E. E. Flickinger, S. S. Wilson, Carlos, Frank, May and James Smart; others in New York, Cleveland and various points. Mrs. Wheeler was a charter member of the Willoughby Episcopal church, having helped to found the mission chapel.

Rev. Frank Hall was the curate then, and Euclid avenue was the "sand hill." The church was located about "the top." "Why, Second street was just 'a little lane around the corner then," Mrs. Waite proceeded,— "a sheep path,—and cows came up and stood on the side walk." And then, The event was the coming of the stage coach, and for this exciting moment Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Waite and the other children waited. Folks set their clocks by the stage coach's horn. The coach came at 12 o'clock noon and its four horses pranced up to the post-office. Alas, what romance or interest could be attached to the coming of an automobile at any hour now.

Mrs. Wheeler was educated at the old Willoughby Female Seminary, and although her life was passed in many localities, Willoughby remained as the place to where some day she thought she might return. "With years the vision seems to grow clearer," Mrs. Waite continued. And so memories of gentleness and love and the past and the present come forth with the passing of Mrs. Sarah Smart Wheeler.

LAKE COUNTY PAPERS LIKE ARTICLES IN WILLOUGHBY REPUBLICAN. WHY NOT TAKE THE REPUBLICAN AND GET THEM FIRST HAND?

The Willoughby Republican is very glad to have advantage taken by the other newspapers in Lake county of any article or items that it may contain. In case, however, where articles are used and featured and taken entirely from this paper, as is happening weekly, in the newspapers of some of our Lake county contemporaries, we believe that it is entirely in order that credit be given to the Willoughby Republican.

AMOUNT OF RED CROSS COLLECTION TO BE RETAINED HERE

A short time since the Republican contained an article to the effect that $15,000.00 of the Red Cross collection in Willoughby, would be sent on to Washington, and the balance retained here for future use. That was the decision that had been arrived at by the financial committee at that time. The local workers are entitled, according to the board at Washington, in any case, to 25 per cent of their subscriptions and it has now been decided by the local board that only the 25% of the $41,000 secured will be retained for local use.

LAKE SHORE FOLKS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. S. S. Clark and Mrs. B. B. Russell, entertained in honor of Mrs. Wolfe Curry, and Miss Margaret Hastings, at the Lake cottage recently. Informally, the nieces and nephews of Mrs. Eliza Waite called at her home after the Red Cross meeting Tuesday, and were entertained by a "four o'clock chocolate." Hot chocolate and a warm house were the attractions that appealed to Mrs. Waite's guests, as a 10th of July or midsummer hospitlity this season.

HOME TALENT REACHES THE HEART

(Waite Hill Correspondent)

"OUR FLAG"

The beautiful verses written by Mrs. Mary Grover in last week's issue of the Willoughby Republican were beautiful and so appropriate at this time. There are many nice poems published in the paper, but of course when we read one from home talent we seem to appreciate them more, which is quite natural, is it not?

DEATH OF VINE STREET RESIDENT

Pasquale Adelbert, brother of Mrs. Chas. Patt, passed away at the age of 43, in the State hospital Wednesday. Lee Davis brought the remains home.

WATER NEGOTIATED FOR, TO SUPPLY WICKLIFFE'S NEW PLANT

Negotiations are pending that will arrange for the water supply for Wickliffe's newest industrial venture, The Clark-Kessler Chemical Co., which will be located on the Lake Shore railroad, at Stop 23. The Village felt that owing to present high cost of production, they could not supply the entire village with lake water, but have made arrangements with the Village of Euclid to bring it from the county line on the Lloyd Road, constructing an eight inch main as far as St. Clair. This will supply the proposed new plant, the Cleveland Crane and the Buckeye Brick Co.

The Chemical Works expect to employ about 35 to 50 men upon the opening of the plant. They will start as soon as the Lake Shore can arrange their switch.

WELL KNOWN SPEAKERS AT ERIESIDE BIBLE CONFERENCE

Many people do not know of the Erieside Bible Conference, which takes place so near to Willoughby. Yet this conference draws such well known speakers as Dr. Tucker and Dr. Hadden, the latter from Los Angeles; Dr. Conant and Rev. Philpott, of Canada; Rev. Rader, of the Moody Tabernacle, and others. The conference will occur from July 20th to the 29th.

The Erieside conference also conducts a hotel. Most reasonably priced and comfortable and restful. Persons desiring to come from church on Sunday, may secure their Sunday dinner at the conference Hotel. It is near at hand and well worthy of a trip.

GARAGE OF I. M. CROWTHER AT PAINESVILLE DAMAGED BY STORM.

Uprooted trees, broken windows, demolished gardens, absence of lights and floods of water followed in the wake of the storm in this locality Monday night. Electric light service was badly crippled, not being restored until ten P. M. The storm in this instance differed from the recent one in that it covered more territory. The garage of I. M. Crowthers at Painesville suffered considerable damage. A cloud burst crushed three of the trusses in the receiving room down. Mr. Crowther estimated that a hundred gallons of water settled upon the roof, even crushing a concrete lock. Windows in Wickliffe suffered severely.

GREEN PEPPER RELISH

Take equal parts of green peppers, celery and onions and chop, not too fine, add sugar and salt to taste, pour vinegar over all and your green pepper relish is ready for use.

NUT ROAST

We find a nut roast a delicious meat substitute when made as follows:

Put two teacups of stale bread crumbs in a mixing bowl and moisten with hot water. Let stand a few minutes until the water is absorbed. Add one cup of crushed or ground nutmeats, and one heaping tablespoon of nutmeats that have been broken in small pieces, flavor with one teaspoon of lemon juice, mix thoroughly and stir in one beaten egg, also sage. Press into a square pan to mould and bake one hour. This makes a delicious sandwich filling.

AUTOMOBILE THIEVES TAKE ALL BUT THE FRAME

Not much is being left of automobiles by some thieves. One that James Maloney recently recovered for L. W. Ulmer, of Cleveland, was practically dismantled. It was stolen Sunday night and left at on the Shore Line near Stop 140. The machine was a Cadillac 8, and had been stripped of the demountable rims, tires, batteries, all tools, spot light and bulbs from head lights, the thieves breaking the head lights in order to secure the latter.

WOMEN OF LAKE COUNTY ELECT OFFICERS FOR DRY FEDERATION

Reported for the Republican by Mrs. Mary Grover

Sunday p. m., July 8th, there was a large gathering of Lake county women in the court house at Painesville. Nearly every woman's organization in the county was represented by two or more delegates, there being 15 from Willoughby.

Mrs. Nellie Sherman, president of Lake County W. C. T. U., called the meeting to order and stated the obect of the meeting was to organize the women of the county for more effective work to help make Ohio dry. After a fervent prayer by Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Frances Ensign Fuller was elected as chairman of the meeting and Mrs. Florence Tanner was made recording secretary. The new organization was voted to be named "The Lake County Woman's Dry Federation." The officers elected are: president, Mrs. Nellie Sherman; recording secretary, Mrs. Della Talbot; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mabel Wilson, all of Willoughby; treasurer, Mrs. J. V. Winans, of Madison; publicity committee, Mrs. Sawyer of Mentor, Mrs. Meredith of Painesville; Mrs. Amy Crandall of Madison; literature committee, Mrs. Munson, Mentor; Mrs. Bates, Fairport; Mrs. Geo. Morse, Kirtland; finance committee, Mrs. Della Hoose, of Painesville and Mrs. Abbie Lucas, of Perry.

Temporary chairman of work in the townships: Willoughby, Mrs. John Barnes; Mentor, Mrs. Lytle; Painesville, Mrs. Gilbert; Perry, Mrs. Earl Brown; Madison, Mrs. Helen Smead; Leroy, Concord, Kirtland will be elected later.

There was much talk on plans of work for the new organization. Rev. Bates, the only man present, gave a helpful and encouraging talk and said the work was sure to bring good results if carefully planned and faithfully worked, and fervently prayed for. There was much enthusiasm displayed all through the meeting, which, if retained from now until November 6, will surely influence the voters to cast their ballot on the side of righteousness and make Ohio, our own loved state, a safe place for our boys, yes, and our girls also.

RED CROSS WAR COUNCIL SENDS THANKS TO LOCAL WORKERS FOR EFFECTIVE WORK

The Lake County Red Cross contributions have now mounted up to exceed $41,000.00. The local workers are entitled to retain 25% of this collected amount for local work, supplies, etc. The Red Cross war council have expressed thanks to the Lake county workers. One of the letters received here, follows:

Mr. S. S. Wilson,
Willoughby, Ohio.

Dear Mr. Wilson:

At the close of the wonderfully successful campaign for the Red Cross War Fund I intended, in behalf of the War Council, to send you and your associates, a telegram of thanks and congratulations for your splendidly effective work. On reflection, however, I decided in view of the nation wide extent of our organization that it would be more economical, and equally satisfactory, to write to you instead of telegraphing.

We of the War Council are deeply grateful to you, to your colleagues, to the devoted men and women of local Red Cross Chapters and Auxiliaries, and to every element and individual in your community who aided by service and contribution.

There is no method by which we can reach the legion of individuals, organizations, churches, newspaper, societies, banks, companies and firms whose united effort has provided this great fund for humanity, and if through your press and by other means you can make public expression of our gratitude we shall deeply appreciate the courtesy. Their joint accomplishment has stirred the pride of every American.

I wish to add my personal thanks to you, and through you, to all who contributed to the splendid result.

Very sincerely yours,
H. P. DAVISON
Chairman, Red Cross War Council.

"A COMFORT BAG"

Written for The Republican by Mrs. Mary Grover.

He was only a "common sailor"
Fond of bluster and brag
When a lady at the Sailor's Home
Gave him a Comfort Bag;
He laughed when he saw within it
Buttons and thimble and thread,
Then hung it on a hook close by
To his bunk that served for a bed.

Soon after the ship went sailing
Away to a foreign land
He was stricken with a fever
And longed for a kindly hand.
One day the gay-hued "Comfort"
Swinging he chanced to see
And took it down with a feeble hand
To find what there might be.

A testament with turned-down leaf
He came to save the lost
That Christ who walked upon the waves
And saved the tempest tossed"
Among the needles, pins and thread
A letter he could see,
Addressed—"To one now far from home"
"That comes," he said, "to me."

The lady wrote, "We thought of you
When in our pleasant home
Some bright-eyed girls were sewing these
For boys like you that roam:
We wished to help you in your life,
Please read this book and pray
To Him who is the sailors friend
God bless you on your way.

It was not much, but some way that "God bless you" touched his heart.
He read and learned the Master's will
And chose the better part.
And so one little comfort bag
Brought helpful strength and peace
And hearts at home with faith renewed
Their labors shall not cease.

The Long Looked-For Opportunity

We are gratified to offer a suburban home district with city improvements, where houses of attractive architecture, carefully supervised, can be built upon lots large enough for beautiful development within the means of every family.

Cleveland people for a long time have been seeking an opportunity to secure homes in a permanently established suburban community of character at prices within reach of families of refined tastes and moderate means.

Our Willoughby-Euclid Ave. Sub-Division within easy access of the City of Cleveland by means of two suburban car lines, and well paved thoroughfares, is most suitable and desirable for such a development.

This sub-division is being improved with such attractive features as community parks with tennis courts, wide curb lawns, large lots, 80 to 100 ft. wide and 200 ft. deep. Streets 60, 80 and 100 ft. wide, all planned with the idea of affording a residential community with advantages such as the experience of other cities has proven to be of real merit.

Larger Lots Priced at Relative Values

$18,000 worth of this property has been sold prior to this announcement.

The splendid schools, churches and business shopping districts of Willoughby are near this property.

Willoughby has for many year been one of the most beautiful out-lying communities near Cleveland and in consequence has many beautiful homes and with a permanent supply of pure water and healthful surroundings, its future is assured.

We suggest you inspect this property at your early convenience. Drive out by automobile or take suburban car to Stop 37, Euclid Ave. or Shore Line car to Stop 39, Euclid Ave. one block distant.

LETTERS RECEIVED FROM FRENCH ORPHANS

Letters received from the French orphans, who received boxes from this country are interesting in the extreme. Among some of the letters received by Lake County folks are those below. It appears that boxes sent from this section last October for Christmas delivery were only received in France in May. The letters which follow, translated from the French are first from a little boy, the second from his teacher and the third from his mother:

"Saulxueres-les-Bulgneville
Vosges, France
May 18, 1917"

Dear Benefactrice:—

Mama received the 4th payment of 45 francs last Saturday and yesterday my Grandfather went to the station at Contrexville to get the package that we were awaiting with so much impatience. I would not know how to tell you of our happiness. My little sister and brother and I danced around the table for joy to see all of the riches the box contained. Renee wants to show her doll to everyone. Georges will not be separated from his ball and I am happy to have the lovely book and the box of pencils. Mama will tell you of her pleasure in the shoes and all the pretty garments.

I send you a warm embrace and the thanks of Renee, Georges and myself.

Respectful greetings:—

Long live the great sister republic who comes to contend with us for the right, for liberty and for justice.

Dear Madame:

I do not know how to express to you my gratitude for all you have sent to us. How much happiness you have given to my family, for little ones and big were full of gladness in receiving these beautiful and good things.

Also, Madame, accept all my thanks and the greetings of my whole family.

Receive from a French woman who has suffered much and from her children, the most sincere salutations

VACATION AS ALWAYS

The arrival of vacation time this year finds a meagre and unthinking minority advising the American people to forego their rest and renewal that the nation may throw its whole available strength into the war for Liberty. This is poor advice. It is not the advice of those who know best how tremendous is the task the country faces and how best it may be prosecuted with victorious energy. Our strength must be at par, or at par plus. An unprecedented task calls for workers refreshed and rebuilt, for great physical vigor and mental alertness, for the combined effort of a strong, zealous and determined people.

In the vacation regions the slogan should be: "Business as usual." The Federal Government itself, speaking through Secretary Lane, has directed attention anew to its national parks and the opportunities they afford for recreation and health-building. The Government would stimulate rather than obstruct the people's enjoyment of these advantages. The word of the leaders of our nation is that the weary should seek their accustomed relief from toil and that the worn should recuperate.

This nation has acquired a world-wide reputation for creative energy because its people have jealously guarded and steadily increased their individual power. They are an outdoor people with the exploring instinct and of adventurous habit. They like the sunlight and the open places, and they turn each summer to the mountains, the plains and the great forests. There they shed their weariness, find a new spirit and acquire a new will to do, gaining firmness of muscle and clarity of thought and recovering interest in their employment.

An exhausted or sluggish worker is the most inefficient type of worker. He owes it as much to his country as to his employer and himself to rebuild his depleted strength and freshen his interest in his labor. The beginning of summer finds workers everywhere at comparatively low efficiency, but the universal custom of taking a short or prolonged rest when the great outdoors offers its myraid attractions has served each year as a tonic to restore efficiency. In the highest degree. Never in their history have the American people put greater energy into a year's work than since last vacation time. The next year will demand even greater effort. Never has there been greater need of rebuilding. The great army of workers, the army behind the fighting army, must be as fit and as fresh as the soldier.

Let the people come again into communion with Nature and Nature will imbue them with a new willingness to face increased responsibilities and give them strength to achieve a new record for work.

Vacation as always! The Government invites you to visit its great playgrounds. Get into the mountains and the woods. There health and inspiration await you. Do not destroy your capacity for work by doing nothing but work. To rest and rebuild for the great work ahead of us is the policy of sanity.

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"
By Fannie Heaslip Lea

"When do you go?"

"Tomorrow afternoon."

"Out West?"

"To the mine. I was trying to get backing for it. I've about succeeded —and I'm needed there—"

"We'll be sorry to see you go," said Linda.

"Say that as if you meant it," said Mr. Hewitt.

"We've enjoyed knowing you—"

"Not really!" He touched her fingers audaciously across the table. "Is that the best good-bye you've got for me?"

The old light look and laugh!

"That's all it means to him," said the unsteady drumming in Linda's breast. She smiled above it, an amazingly gallant smile.

"I don't like to say good-bys."

"No more do I," he agreed. "Let' not say any, then."

She winced away from that.

"Oh, when a person's got to go I'd rather say it than not—wouldn't you?"

"Listen to me," said Mr. Hewitt. "I've got something to tell you. We can say good bye after that, if you like. Are you listening, Miss Linda?"

"Go on," said Linda. She shut her hands together tight beneath the table. She had grown a little pale

"Well," said Mr. Hewitt, "here it is! I came to this town a little over two weeks ago on business—as I told you, for the mine owners. First morning I went downtown I was staying with a chap on Louisiana Avenue—you got on the car. I thought you'd break your little neck looking out of the window at something on your corner. Remember that morning?"

"It was a pear tree," said Linda—"in bloom." She drew a long breath.

"I know—I looked back to see. Some pear tree, too! You got on my car every morning after that. That is—I got on your car. Any girl that could look like a hungry dryad over a flowering tree! Inside of the next ten days I found out where you lived, by scouting around—learned that your mother took boarders—and moved in. Linda, you blossomed into a little beauty in those ten days, right under my eyes. What did it?"

"Clothes," said Linda faintly.

"What?"

So Linda told him, with the color flaming in her cheeks and her eyes burning, about the day she had bought the green hat and the facile descent to Avernus. She did not once credit the pear tree, not knowing the peartree's part in the matter.

"If a rainy day comes now, I'll drown," said Linda; and finished, like Jenny Pearl, "Who cares!"

Then she remembered that he was going away, and sudden tears ached against her eyelids.

"Do we say goodbye now?" asked Mr. Hewitt, very low. "We do not! We believe in fate. Look at me, little Miss Pear Blossom! To-morrow—I want you—to marry me—"

"Oh, I couldn't!" cried Linda, just above a frightened whisper. "It's too soon—and I haven't any—"

"Haven't you just been getting yourself a trousseau?" he suggested gently. "What do you think all this has been about? Believe me, I'm not going back alone—and tomorrow is another day—"

Then he beckoned the waiter and paid him. Outside was a taxi.

"Drive uptown and through the park," said Hewitt.

They passed under purple and silver arc lights and through a world of undoubted enchantment; but he did not kiss her until the live-oak shadows dappled their fairy coach.

Then ardently he stooped, and, flushed from brow to chin, she lifted her lips.

Outside the chauffeur glanced at the meter ticking beside him, and laughed to himself

"Gee!" said the heartless chauffeur "Spring has came!"

The report they made was, that the horse was in such poor condition and never before had any one of them seen such a sore shoulder on a horse a sore as large as a plate perfectly raw. The horse was beaten because he would not get into the collar and pull against this sore. On lying down this animal makes from five to ten efforts before it can raise to its feet. Those beatings were often seen and heard. But instead of having trouble they were allowed to pass by. This no doubt will stop such "goings on."

TO EXTEND CAR TRACKS.

The Cleveland Railway Company has accepted the Cleveland Heights proposition for the extension of Cedar road car line from Fairmount Boulevard to Lee road. The company agrees to extend the line as far as Coventry road this summer and to Lee road as soon as the traffic demands it. The extension is to be double-tracked.

HE'S AID-DE-CAMP

William Norman Jeavons, 22 Arlington road, Shaker Heights, has been appointed a lieutenant on the Ohio National Guard staff and will be an aid-de-camp to Brig. Gen. Charles X. Zimerman.

Lieut. Jeavons has been attending Dartmouth college. He is a son of W. R. Jeavons of the Cleveland Foundry Co.

Several months ago Jeavons applied for a commission, but when no word concerning it was received, he enlisted in the machine gun company of the Fifth regiment.

MAY HAVE PLENTY

The Euclid apartments, a tall white brick building standing on a knoll on Cedar road close to the intersection of Euclid Heights boulevard which has been vacant for many months owing to litigation, may soon be occupied. The owners of the apartment and three Heights officials could not agree as to the system of ventilation.

The village building code requires an air shaft in the building which was not installed during its construction. Owing to this and other defects in fire escapes the building inspector would not affix his official "O. K."

"Gentlemen," said Mayor Frank C. Cain, addressing the council, "let us get this big white elephant off our hands. It is a positive eyesore to the municipality having the building standing idle and it is also an expensive burden to the owners. No doubt high rents will be asked from tenants to make up for lost time. Let the building committee examine the building and if it is sanitary and fit for occupancy allow the owners to rent the suites."

BEAUTIFUL HOME

This picturesque view shows the remodeled section in the residence owned by James H. Foster, vice president of the Hydraulic Pressed Steel Co., at Devonshire road and Chestnut-hill drive, Cleveland Heights.

Walker & Weeks, architects, 1900 Euclid building, prepared the plans for these extensive alterations which mean the redoubling of the size of the house. Mr. Foster is having installed a swimming pool 18x50 feet, at the rear of the house, also a greenhouse, an English garden and a Dutch garden. There also will be a wading pool.

Alterations in the house include a garage with four servants' rooms and bath above, sun room and terrace and den which is to be entirely of wood. There will be a new hall paneled in gum wood, also a new owner's room with combination dressing room and bath adjoining.

JUDGE SATER A GUEST

Judge John E. Sater, of Columbus, Ohio, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Barden, 1481 Rydal Mt. Road on Tuesday of this week. Judge Sater is the federal judge who recently sentenced two Columbus conspirators against the government to penitentiary terms of two years.

DOES NOT ACCEPT CALL.

Rev. Earl L. Doughlass, of McKeesport, Pa., who was called to the Cleveland Heights Presbyterian church at a recent meeting of the congregation, has notified the committee that he has decided to accept a call at Tonowanda, N. Y. The two calls came to him about the same time. It is believed that the committee on new pastor will be able to recommend another man for the pastorate soon.

HOLD SERVICE IN SCHOOL

The services of the Heights Presbyterian church and Sunday school are being held in the High School auditorium while the church edifice is being cleaned and redecorated. Last Sunday the children of the Sunday school were delightfully entertained by a series of slides from original photographs taken by Underwood and Underwood, showing the scenes of places that figured in the early ministry of Christ. On next Sunday at 10 a. m. these lantern slides will be continued. All interested in seeing [illegible]

MR. HIRSTIUS IS SO SAD.

A. J. Hirstius, clerk of the County Board of Elections is a sad and disheartened man. He resides at 1897 Parkway drive, was tiller of one of the most promising war gardens in Cleveland Heights. The county's ex-sheriff and former councilman of Cleveland and Cleveland Heights met with many handicaps early last spring preparing his garden. At the outset weather conditions were against its development. His greatest obstacle was when the U. S. Government ordered conscripiton registration. That entailed much work and long hours for Clerk Hirstius. The war garden was showing signs of neglect and the heavy rains were swamping the seeds. Potatoes, tomatoes and other seeds planted in the fertile soil were sproutless and the custodian of election board began to rise at 4 a. m. to replenish his garden. The Heights ex-councilman says however, if it was not for so many disappointments he would have had one of the finest war gardens on the "hill."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

The Young People's Society is planning a most excellent program for the next two months. This will appeal not only to the younger members, but to the older church members as well. You are invited to attend these meetings at 7 o'clock each Sunday evening during the next two months. A special feature will be the music. The outline for July is:

July 15: "God Our Helper," Miss Anna Quinn, leader.

July 29: "Evangelistic, Educational, Medical and Industrial Work in Foreign Missions," Missionary Committee.

FOR THE FREEDOM OF THE WORLD

The New Marching Song That Is Fast Becoming The American "Tipperary"

The trumpets call, our banners all are flying;
Drums are sounding,
Hearts are bounding,
We march to save where men are bravely dying,
By the tempest tossed and whirled.
Though mothers moan and sweethearts may be sighing,
We struggle till the foeman's flag is furled;
For the Land which gave us birth,
For the peoples of the earth,
And the Freedom of all the World!

Refrain

We come! we come!
To the fife and the drum
For the Flag of the Free
Which protects you and me;
For each! for all!
We stand or we fall
For the Love of our Liberty.

From South and North we sally forth to battle;
Firm and steady,
We are ready!
From West and East till war has ceased its rattle
And the foe is backward hurled,
Till Man is Man and not a Tyrant's chattel,
Till royal rags and pirate flags are furled;
For the safety of the [illegible];
For America, the Great,
And the Freedom of all the World.

Edmund Vance Cooke.

By Russell [illegible] Weiss

The nervous tension everywhere [illegible] in evidence is at the high water mark. The enduring nerves of strong men are at the breaking point—and those of weak men are shattered. The nation is keyed up to the highest pitch of excitement that living men can remember. Human interest in the fast racing swirl of events about us has been whetted to a keen edge. The ideals of a nation, of a people, are at stake. The cause of freedom is on trial. Human lives and personal accomplishments, the dreams of a mighty country—the ideals of [illegible] liberty and democracy are defied and men are needed.

And why? Because we face a crisis—the great crisis.

After two years of exerting every possible effort and energy, influence and strategy to keep from out of the melting pot of the great war, in which nation's fates, men's lives and human souls are crushed, remodeled, ruined and changed we find ourselves pushed from the ledge from which we have watched developments and plunged into the awful imbroglio and Hell of war.

And no one has faltered! The American people as with one voice have arisen and, with the inspired cry "For the Freedom of the World" have joined their allies and entered the unholy maelstrom for the greatest of all causes, Freedom and Liberty.

It is in such times, when all about us are excitement and enthusiasm, and high strung nerves, that genius gives birth to the immortal brain child which is handed down to posterity for ages to come.

It was under similar conditions only a little over a hundred years ago that Francis Scott Key conceived the wondrous "Star Spangled Banner." Always, men's greatest conceptions are created under abnormal conditions—the result of divine inspiration.

And now in our own time with our country facing the great crisis Edmund Vance Cooke, the eminent American poet and lecturer, has penned a masterpiece, a poem entitled "For the Freedom of the World."

An inspired writing his poem has touched upon the great theme of liberty and peace. The action of the American people in joining their allies in the greatest war that history has ever recorded was his inspiration.

J. S. Zamecnik, the well known composer of American birth, famed for his stirring marches, has composed a musical setting to Mr. Cooke's master poem which finds a ready response in the hearts of red blooded men.

As if these two Americans inspired by the Great International Crisis had struck a responsive chord in the souls of all people, this song has found a place deep in their hearts.

Every band in the United States Army and Navy is playing it and the boys are singing it as they march. It bids fair to take the place in the American and Allied Armies today that "Tipperary" held but a short time ago.

And so the American Soldier Boy goes off to war, we know—and to Victory we hope, for the great purpose of Freedom and Liberty. "For the Freedom of the World" is the purpose for which he is fighting; it is his watchword, his motto, and the song upon his lips.

BARN BOSS SURELY HAD HIS TROUBLES; LANDS IN THE COOLER; ROMAN TO THE RESCUE

Cleveland Heights owns a new municipal barn where all the official paraphanalia and live stock are housed including horses, wagon, plows, scrapers, etc., etc. Now the Heights has also a foreman for the barn by the name of A. Anderson.

While driving a new auto Monday afternoon and somewhat green at the steering gear and not thoroughly "city broke" he became tangled up with a traffic policeman at Euclid avenue and East 107th street. He would not tell that he was green at the wheel and timid in the city so that officer landed him in the 105th street station for violating the lawthat is he failed to stop at the rear of street cars while passengers were getting aboard.

After a number of telephone calls from the turnkey's room at the station Otto Roman was located and the barn foreman's predicament explained.

Anderson was released shortly after with the admonition that the next time he motored into Cleveland he should understand traffic rules.

Tips For Play-Goers

The Miles

C. H. Miles, general manager of the Miles, always on the lookout for great novelty attractions, has had built a big 10,000 gallon diving tank. All next week at every performance there will be prize amateur diving contests. Clubs and societies of Cleveland will take part in all contests and there will be loving cups, diving suits and many other useful prizes awarded to all winners.

Each night there will be a contest between two different Cleveland swimming and diving clubs and the winners of first prizes each night will on Thursday and Friday nights' contests compete for the big first prize which will be awarded the best diver of all contests.

Coming as a regular vaudeville offering for the week is the famous Stewart's Models De Luxe, an act full of real interest, with electrical effects and scenery. Other numbers include:

Wells, Northworth and Moore in their comedy aact, "In Again and Out Again." Flo and Ollie Waters, who play a variety of musical instruments.

To fill out this program will be Vivian Martin and Sessue Hayakawa in "Forbidden Paths," a motion picture.

Alhambra & Mall

Robert Warwick's second Selznik Picture, "The Silent Master," will be the attraction at the Mall and Alhambra Sunday to Wednesday. The story is from E. Phillips Oppenheim's popular novel, "The Court of St. Simon." The director, Leonce Perrett, who was brought from France by Harry Rapf to take charge of the Warwick production, will be introduced to American audiences in this feature, although many of his 308 French successes have been seen here without due credit given their presiding genius.

"The Silent Master" takes its name from a young man of wealth who forms an alliance for philanthropic purposes with the Apaches of Paris. He brings to a secret tribunal, the Court of St. Simon, powerful and unscrupulous persecutors of the poor, who cannot be reached by the law, and punishes them in his own way. Innocently he introduces to a career of crime the brother of the woman he later meets and loves. Fearing to lose her affection he denies knowing the brother, when he finally discovers the relationship. After marriage the truth is discovered and the manner in which "The Silent Master" wins back his place in his wife's affections is an absorbing story.

Standard Theatre

The week of July 15th patrons of the Standard Theatre have a treat in store for them, as they will see Jane and Katherine Lee in "The Two Little Imps." This picture is the first that these two little favorites are starring in, although they have been seen in thousands of feet of film and are known throughout the whole world. The story is beautifully arranged and gives these little stars all the opportunity to display their talent, as the feature is crammed full of that roguish mischief which his given all film fans who have seen the Lee children so much pleasure. The second of the great Billy West comedies will also be shown which makes this a nicely arranged double bill.

Luna Park

A well balanced bill is on tap for Luna Park next week. The Three Flying Londans, sensational wizards of the air, is the feature act. Other acts on the bill are Joe Hicks, the loop-the-loop expert, Diabolo; Mattus and Young, who are billed as nifty nonsense in song and dance; the Darlings, a quartet of classy melody maids whose saxophone playing is well known on the big vaudeville circuit, and Miss Dale Wilson, billed as "A Bunch of Personality."

Corona Theatre

Sunday July 15 the 3rd episode of "The Gray Ghost," with Eddie Polo and Priscilla Dean, supported by an all star cast, will bes hown at the Corona Theatre, 745 Prospect Ave. Monday, an L-KO comedy "Surf Seanday," Tuesday "Three Women of France," Don't miss it; Wednesday "High Speed," five act Butterfly feature, Thursday, "Six-Shooter Justice" a three act Western drama and Friday, Molly King in "The Mystery of the Double Cross."

The Inevitable Has Happened

We find ourselves face to face with a problem, the proper solution of which means we must advance our price. This is not an unforeseen circumstance; it is the inevitable, in view of present market conditions.

Figured on a per capita basis, there is really less wool in the United States today than ever before; and the demand is greater. Rather than lower our quality, we will raise our price.

Bond's $15 Clothes
Will Advance in Price September 1st

As you know, prices of all necessities of life have advanced. And now we are forced to raise, in order to maintain our policy of making clothes up to a standard, not down to a price.

Every garment now in process of manufacture will be sold at our present price, $15. We figure this supply will carry us through until September 1st. Be warned in time and stock up now.

Three of the men of the humane society were here in Kirtland a few days ago and examined a horse belonging to a man who for years has abused his team. The report they made was, that the horse was in such poor condition and never before had any one of them seen such a sore shoulder on a horse a sore as large as a plate perfectly raw. The horse was beaten because he would not get into the collar and pull against this sore. On lying down this animal makes from five to ten efforts before it can raise to its feet. Those beatings were often seen and heard. But instead of having trouble they were allowed to pass by. This no doubt will stop such "goings on."

TO EXTEND CAR TRACKS.

The Cleveland Railway Company has accepted the Cleveland Heights proposition for the extension of Cedar road car line from Fairmount Boulevard to Lee road. The company agrees to extend the line as far as Coventry road this summer and to Lee road as soon as the traffic demands it. The extension is to be double-tracked.

HE'S AID-DE-CAMP

William Norman Jeavons, 22 Arlington road, Shaker Heights, has been appointed a lieutenant on the Ohio National Guard staff and will be an aid-de-camp to Brig. Gen. Charles X. Zimerman.

Lieut. Jeavons has been attending Dartmouth college. He is a son of W. R. Jeavons of the Cleveland Foundry Co.

Several months ago Jeavons applied for a commission, but when no word concerning it was received, he enlisted in the machine gun company of the Fifth regiment.

MAY HAVE PLENTY

The Euclid apartments, a tall white brick building standing on a knoll on Cedar road close to the intersection of Euclid Heights boulevard which has been vacant for many months owing to litigation, may soon be occupied. The owners of the apartment and three Heights officials could not agree as to the system of ventilation.

The village building code requires an air shaft in the building which was not installed during its construction. Owing to this and other defects in fire escapes the building inspector would not affix his official "O. K."

"Gentlemen," said Mayor Frank C. Cain, addressing the council, "let us get this big white elephant off our hands. It is a positive eyesore to the municipality having the building standing idle and it is also an expensive burden to the owners. No doubt high rents will be asked from tenants to make up for lost time. Let the building committee examine the building and if it is sanitary and fit for occupancy allow the owners to rent the suites."

BEAUTIFUL HOME

This picturesque view shows the remodeled section in the residence owned by James H. Foster, vice president of the Hydraulic Pressed Steel Co., at Devonshire road and Chestnuthill drive, Cleveland Heights.

Walker & Weeks, architects, 1900 Euclid building, prepared the plans for these extensive alterations which mean the redoubling of the size of the house. Mr. Foster is having installed a swimming pool 18x50 feet, at the rear of the house, also a greenhouse, an English garden and a Dutch garden. There also will be a wading pool.

Alterations in the house include a garage with four servants' rooms and bath above, sun room and terrace and den which is to be entirely of wood. There will be a new hall paneled in gum wood, also a new owner's room with combination dressing room and bath adjoining.

DOES NOT ACCEPT CALL.

Rev. Earl L. Doughlass, of McKeesport, Pa., who was called to the Cleveland Heights Presbyterian church at a recent meeting of the congregation, has notified the committee that he has decided to accept a call at Tonowanda, N. Y. The two calls came to him about the same time. It is believed that the committee on new pastor will be able to recommend another man for the pastorate soon.

HOLD SERVICE IN SCHOOL

The services of the Heights Presbyterian church and Sunday school are being held in the High School auditorium, while the church edifice is being cleaned and redecorated. Last Sunday the children of the Sunday school were delightfully entertained by a series of slides from original photographs taken by Underwood and Underwood, showing the scenes of places that figured in the early ministry of Christ. On next Sunday at 10 a. m. these lantern slides will be continued. All interested [illegible]

MR. HIRSTIUS IS SO SAD.

A. J. Hirstius, clerk of the County Board of Elections is a sad and disheartened man. He resides at 1897 Parkway drive, was tiller of one of the most promising war gardens in Cleveland Heights. The county's ex-sheriff and former councilman of Cleveland and Cleveland Heights met with many handicaps early last spring preparing his garden. At the outset weather conditions were against its development. His greatest obstacle was when the U. S. Government ordered conscripiton registration. That entailed much work and long hours for Clerk Hirstius. The war garden was showing signs of neglect and the heavy rains were swamping the seeds. Potatoes, tomatoes and other seeds planted in the fertile soil were sproutless and the custodian of election board began to rise at 4 a. m. to replenish his garden. The Heights ex-councilman says however, if it was not for so many disappointments he would have had one of the finest war gardens on the "hill."

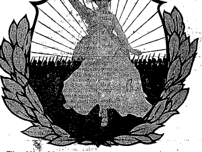
FOR THE FREEDOM OF THE WORLD



The New Marching Song That Is Fast Becoming The American "Tipperary"

The trumpets call, our banners all are flying;
Drums are sounding,
Hearts are bounding,
We march to save where men are bravely dying,
By the tempest tossed and whirled.
Though mothers moan and sweethearts may be sighing,
We struggle till the foeman's flag is furled;
For the Land which gave us birth,
For the peoples of the earth,
And the Freedom of all the World!

Refrain

We come! we come!
To the fife and the drum
For the Flag of the Free
Which protects you and me;
For each! for all!
We stand or we fall
For the Love of our Liberty.

From South and North we sally forth to battle;
Firm and steady,
We are ready!
From West and East till war has ceased its rattle
And the foe is backward hurled,
Till Man is Man and not a tyrant's chattel,
Till royal rags and pirate flags are furled;
For the safety of the [illegible],
For America, the Great,
And the Freedom of all the World.

—Edmund Vance Cooke.

By Russell [illegible] Weiss

The nervous tension everywhere is in evidence is at the high water mark. The enduring nerves of strong men are at the breaking point—and those of weak men are shattered. The nation is keyed up to the highest pitch of excitement that living men can remember. Human interest in the fast racing swirl of events about us has been whetted to a keen edge. The ideals of a nation, of a people, are at stake. The cause of freedom is on trial. Human lives and personal accomplishments, the dreams of a mighty country, the ideals of peace and democracy are defied and men are needed.

And why? Because we face a crisis—the great crisis.

After two years of exerting every possible effort and energy, influence and strategy to keep from out of the melting pot of the great war, in which nation's fates, men's lives and human souls are crushed, remodeled, ruined and changed we find ourselves pushed from the ledge from which we have watched developments and plunged into the awful imbroglio and Hell of war.

And no one has faltered! The American people as with one voice have arisen and with the inspired cry "For the Freedom of the World" have joined their allies and entered the unholy maelstrom for the greatest of all causes, Freedom and Liberty.

It is in such times, when all about us are excitement and enthusiasm and high strung nerves, that genius gives birth to the immortal brain child which is handed down to posterity for ages to come.

It was under similar conditions only a little over a hundred years ago that Francis Scott Key conceived the wondrous "Star Spangled Banner." Always, men's greatest conceptions are created under abnormal conditions—the result of divine inspiration.

And now in our own time with our country facing the great crisis Edmund Vance Cooke, the eminent American poet and lecturer, has penned a masterpiece, a poem entitled "For the Freedom of the World."

An inspired writing his poem has touched upon the great theme of liberty and peace. The action of the American people in joining their allies in the greatest war that history has ever recorded was his inspiration.

J. S. Zamecnik, the well known composer of American birth, famed for his stirring marches, has composed a musical setting to Mr. Cooke's master poem which finds a ready response in the hearts of red blooded men.

As if these two Americans inspired by the Great International Crisis had struck a responsive chord in the souls of all people, this song has found a place deep in their hearts.

Every band in the United States Army and Navy is playing it and the boys are singing it as they march. It bids fair to take the place in the American and Allied Armies today that "Tipperary" held but a short time ago.

And so the American Soldier Boy goes off to war, we know—and to Victory we hope, for the great purpose of Freedom and Liberty. "For the Freedom of the World" is the purpose for which he is fighting; it is his watchword, his motto, and the song upon his lips.

Cleveland Heights owns a new municipal barn where all the official paraphanalia and live stock are housed including horses, wagon, plows, scrapers, etc., etc. Now the Heights has also a foreman for the barn by the name of A. Anderson.

While driving a new auto Monday afternoon and somewhat "green" at the steering gear and not thoroughly "city broke" he became tangled up with a traffic policeman at Euclid avenue and East 107th street. He would not tell that he was green at the wheel and timid in the city so that officer landed him in the 105th street station for violating the lawthat is he failed to stop at the rear of street cars while passengers were getting aboard.

After a number of telephone calls from the turnkey's room at the station Otto Roman was located and the barn foreman's predicament explained.

Anderson was released shortly after with the admonition that the next time he motored into Cleveland he should understand traffic rules.

Tips For Play-Goers

The Miles

C. H. Miles, general manager of the Miles, always on the lookout for great novelty attractions, has had built a big 10,000 gallon diving tank. All next week at every performance there will be prize amateur diving contests. Clubs and societies of Cleveland will take part in all contests and there will be loving cups, diving suits and many other useful prizes awarded to all winners.

Each night there will be a contest between two different Cleveland swimming and diving clubs and the winners of first prizes each night will on Thursday and Friday nights' contests compete for the big first prize which will be awarded the best diver of all contests.

Coming as a regular vaudeville offering for the week is the famous Stewart's Models De Luxe, an act full of real interest, with electrical effects and scenery. Other numbers include: Knight and Carlisle have a singing act, presenting grand opera and popular numbers in their own sweet way. Ton Edwards and Company, a ventriloquist with a real production.

To fill out this program will be Vivian Martin and Sessue Hayakawa in "Forbidden Paths," a motion picture.

Alhambra & Mall

Robert Warwick's second Selznik Picture, "The Silent Master," will be the attraction at the Mall and Alhambra Sunday to Wednesday. The story is from E. Phillips Oppenheim's popular novel, "The Court of St. Simon." The director, Leonce Perrett, who was brought from France by Harry Rapf to take charge of the Warwick production, will be introduced to American audiences in this feature, although many of his 308 French successes have been seen here without due credit given their presiding genius.

"The Silent Master" takes its name from a young man of wealth who forms an alliance for philanthropic purposes with the Apaches of Paris. He brings to a secret tribunal, the Court of St. Simon, powerful and unscrupulous persecutors of the poor, who cannot be reached by the law, and punishes them in his own way. Innocently he introduces to a career of crime the brother of the woman he later meets and loves. Fearing to lose her affection he denies knowing the brother, when he finally discovers the relationship. After marriage the truth is discovered and the manner in which "The Silent Master" wins back his place in his wife's affections is an absorbing story.

Standard Theatre

The week of July 15th patrons of the Standard Theatre have a treat in store for them, as they will see Jane and Katherine Lee in "The Two Little Imps." This picture is the first that these two little favorites are starring in, although they have been seen in thousands of feet of film and are known throughout the whole world. The story is beautifully arranged and gives these little stars all the opportunity to display their talent, as the feature is crammed full of that roguish mischief which his given all film fans who have seen the Lee children so much pleasure. The second of the great Billy West comedies will also be shown which makes this a nicely arranged double bill.

Luna Park

A well balanced bill is on tap for Luna Park next week. The Three Flying Londans, sensational wizards of the air, is the feature act. Other acts on the bill are Joe Hicks, the loop-the-loop expert, Diabolo; Mattus and Young, who are billed as nifty nonsense in song and dance; the Darlings, a quartet of classy melody maids whose saxophone playing is well known on the big vaudeville circuit, and Miss Dale Wilson, billed as "A Bunch of Personality."

Corona Theatre

Sunday July 15 the 3rd episode of "The Gray Ghost," with Eddie Polo and Priscilla Dean, supported by an all star cast, will bes hown at the Corona Theatre, 745 Prospect Ave. Monday, an L-KO comedy "Surf Seanday," Tuesday "Three Women of France," Don't miss it; Wednesday "High Speed," five act Butterfly feature, Thursday, "Six-Shooter Justice" a three act Western drama and Friday, Molly King in "The Mystery of the Double Cross."

The Inevitable Has Happened

We find ourselves face to face with a problem, the proper solution of which means we must advance our price. This is not an unforeseen circumstance; it is the inevitable, in view of present market conditions.

Figured on a per capita basis, there is really less wool in the United States today than ever before; and the demand is greater. Rather than lower our quality, we will raise our price.

Bond's $15 Clothes
Will Advance in Price September 1st

As you know, prices of all necessities of life have advanced. And now we are forced to raise, in order to maintain our policy of making clothes up to a standard, not down to a price.

Every garment now in process of manufacture will be sold at our present price, $15. We figure this supply will carry us through until September 1st. Be warned in time and stock up now.

LEGAL NOTICE

Mrs. ——— Gallagher, first name unknown, wife of John Gallagher, and whose place of residence is unknown, is hereby notified that on the 25th day of May, 1917, John Bene and Karolin Bene filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being case No. 156648, against her, alleging that they are the owners of the legal title to, and are in possession of the following described premises, to-wit: Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being sublot No. 300 in Gill, Brainard, Hower and Higgins Subdivision of part of original One Hundred Acre Lots Nos. 423, 431, 424 and 432 as shown by the recorded plat of said subdivision recorded in Volume 5 of Maps, Page 37 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant Mrs. ——— Gallagher claims some interest in said premises adverse and hostile to these plaintiffs, to-wit: That on June 16th, 1874, said John Gallagher conveyed said premises and more land to John B. Bruggeman without stating in the deed by which said conveyance was made whether he was married or single and without release of dower, which deed is recorded in Volume 230, Page 353 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant has no claim or interest in said premises whatever and the claim she makes is unfounded and is a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs. The prayer of said petition is that the title of the plaintiffs to said premises be quieted, and that the defendant be forever barred from having or claiming any right to said premises, that any claim set forth be adjudged null and void, and for such other and further relief as may be just an equitable. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 25th day of August, 1917.

The Drinking Man's Boast

"I can quit any time I wish," is a frequent expression, but why don't the drinker make good his boast? Why don't he quit? When a man brags he can stop drinking whenever he wants to, he has usually reached the point where he cannot. He knows he cannot make good this boast—unaided. He is in need of treatment—the Neal Treatment—which is a harmless vegetable remedy that will transform the terrible craving for liquor into a positive abhorence for anything alcoholic, in three days' time, without the use of dangerous hypodermic injections. If you are a drinking man, you should look into this. If you have a friend who needs help, we urge your investigation. Come in and talk it over, or write or telephone for book of information. Neal Institute, 5920 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O. Phone Rosedale 3490. Open Day and Night. Other Neal Institutes located at Columbus, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

NOTICE

State of Ohio, Cuyahoga County, ss. In The Court of Common Pleas. No. 157396. The Columbia Savings & Loan Company, Plaintiff vs. John Senft, Mary Senft, The Gray Lumber Company and P. C. O'Brien, County Treasurer, Defendants.

John Senft, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that on the 6th day of July, 1917, The Columbia Savings & Loan Company filed its Petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in case No. 157396 against the above named parties, praying for the foreclosure of a mortagage, executed to the Plaintiff on the 15th day of July, 1915, by him and defendant, Mary Senft, for the sum of $2,000.00, on the following described premises, and on which there is now due the sum of $2,000.00, with interest from December 15, 1916, at 6%, payable semi-annually.

The said premises are described as follows:—Situated in the Village of Newburgh Heights, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being sublot No. 12 in the South End Realty Company's East 55th Street extension allotment of part of original 100 acre lot No. 312, now in said village. Said sublot No. 12, has a frontage of 40.02 feet on the northerly side of Harvard Avenue and extends back of equal width 125 feet deep, as per plat of said allotment, recorded in Vol. 37 of Maps, page 1 of Cuyahoga County Records.

The prayer of said Petition is for an accounting of the amount due the Plaintiff on said mortgage; that the said mortgage may be foreclosed and said premises sold and the proceeds therof applied to the payment of the sum so to be found due to Plaintiff.

Said John Senft is required to answer the said Petition on or before the 1st day of September, 1917.

Attorney for Plaintiff.

LEGAL NOTICE

Mélissa J. Morgan and her unknown heirs at law, Edward Volkman and his unknown heirs at law, whose places of residence are unknown and the names of the unknown heirs at law being unknown, will take notice that Elizabeth Silvis as plaintiff has filed a petition against them as defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that she is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession and control of the following described real estate:

Situated in the City of Cleveland County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-lot No 9 in Electa A. Nichol's Allotment of part of original One Hundred Acre Lot No. 415, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 3 of Maps, page 41 Cuyahoga County Records, and being 40 feet front on the easterly side of Lincoln Avenue, (now known as East 83rd Street,) and extending back of equal width 150 feet deep to a 14 foot alley in the rear, as appears by said plat, be the same more or less but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that said defendants claim some estate title or interest in said premises hostile and adverse to plaintiff's rights by reason of the fact that in a deed from M. J. Morgan, then the owner of said premises, to D. T. Jones, dated September 2nd, 1876 and recorded in Volume 262 at page 266 of Cuyahoga County Records, no statement was made that the grantor was single and unmarried and also by reason of a certain mortgage executed by H. Fellman and Mary Fellman, husband and wife, to Edward Volkman, recorded on July 31st, 1882 in Volume 344 at Page 61 of Cuyahoga County Mortgage Records which mortgage was duly paid but was improperly cancelled on the Records by the said grantee, Edward Volkman, who by inadvertance and mistake signed said cancellation as Conrad Volkman; and that by reason thereof a cloud exists on plaintiff's title, though the said defendants have no interest or estate in said premises, and that as against each and all of said defendants this plaintiff and her grantors in title have been in actual, open, continuous, notorious, uncontested and adverse possession and control of the whole of said premises for more than forty years last preceding the filing of the petition in said action.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants be notified of the pendency of said petition, that upon hearing the plaintiff be found to be the owner in fee simple of the above described premises, that the interests of all of said defendants and each of them, be forever barred, that plaintiff's title be quieted in said premises against the claims of any of said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 157162 and the defendants above named are required to answer the same on or before the 25th day of August, A. D. 1917.

Elgin Six

Distinction and Comfort

The Elgin Six is the only car selling for less than $1,250 which has the fashionable center cowl and the "V" type radiator of the high-priced European models. Its beautiful yacht line design was established by a famous artist and gives the Elgin Six a style and distinction that set it apart from the monotonous design of the average car.

Elgin engineers have perfected an improved rear spring suspension, found only in the Elgin Six, which sets a new standard of motoring ease and comfort at high speeds, reducing shock and vibration to a point not surpassed in any car at any price.

The special construction of the Elgin velvet-acting clutch enables the Elgin Six to be started on high gear, eliminating to a large degree the necessity of gear shifting, under ordinary conditions, thus removing the last barrier to the safe and easy handling of a motor car by women.

Endurance and Economy

The Elgin Six, now in its second triumphant year, has stood "The Acid Test" by winning perfect scores and highest honors in some of the most gruelling endurance and economy runs of the past year.

Three Elgin Sixes, on a hard two days' run, under the auspices of the Chicago Motor Club, made perfect scores and averaged 25.6 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

The Elgin Six has established a new record of 1,626 car-racking stamina-testing miles in 67 1-2 hours between Chicago and Miami, Fla., over the steep, rocky mountain grades of Kentucky and Tennessee, the heavy sands of Georgia, and the slimy, treacherous swamp roads of Florida.

Many other remarkable Elgin performances have firmly established the Elgin as a Mechanical Masterpiece and the champion for long-sustained speed, endurance and economy.

ELGIN SIX BUILT BY VETERANS.

There is perhaps no motor car company in the country that has accumulated a more experienced force of veteran motor car men than the Elgin Motor Car Corp., of Chicago, makers of the Elgin Six. The different department heads of the Elgin Co. have been drawn from such organizations as Pierce Arrow, Overland, Lozier, Chandler, Saxon, Chalmers, Buick and Federal.

Mr. C. S. Rieman, Vice-president, Gen'l Mgr. and founder of the Elgin Co., and also founder of the Service Motor Truck Co., states that the tremendous and unparalleled rapid growth of the Elgin Corp. is due to the fact that the building and selling of the car has been guided by this veteran staff of the motor car industry. So far this year the sales of the Elgin Six have increased 1074 per cent over the sales of 1916, and the selling season is just at its height. The company's assets have increased 2000 per cent over last year's. The Elgin is handlel in this territory by the Elgin-Cleveland Co., 1835 East 13th Street.

"Preserving" is a Patriotic Duty

The vital question of the hour —Conserves.

Preserves is local; better understood.

Preserves should just now be absorbing the minds of the students of social science and domestic economy.

Domestic peace is preserved by Preserves.

Ill fares the land where Preserves cease, when the tea-table loses sweetness and the cupboard no longer charms the youthful numbers of the family.

Preserves preserve the pride of the matron and inspire the hope of the children. Vacant pantry shelves in many a home give sad and silent testimony to the fact that the joys we have tasted have not returned.

But hope springs eternal in the human breast—and palate—and the ample fruit crop brings visions of cream—and Preserves.

Strawberries are at their zenith, peaches, aromatic and luscious, are arriving from Georgia, and the long array of fruit just dawns on the prophetic vision of the Preserve seer as he gazes on the advancing ranks of cherries, plums, pears and their acidulous fraternity, until in the bursting fullness of the year the red, ruddy, ruby apples fill out the dream of possible Preserves.

But fruits are naught without the assimilating power of kettles, skimmers, parers, corers, jars and tumblers, which just now are in the eternal fitness of the July Clearance Sale. And preserving spoons, funnels, strainers, slicers, and scales lend their practical aid to the completeness of the harmonious sweetness.

TWENTIETH YEAR NO. 25. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, JULY 20, 1917 ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

"WILLOUGHBY DID HERSELF PROUD"—SAYS MR. WYMAN IN LETTER TO MR. SAM LOW

Mr. Sam Low,
Willoughby, Ohio.
July 14, 1917.

Friend Low:—

Enclosed please find copy of a letter received from the Red Cross War Council.

I would have you ask your Willoughby paper to publish it, if it will be so kind, that we may give full publicity to all contributors of the Red Cross War Fund, of the appreciation of the War Council. Willoughby certainly did herself proud.

Sincerely,
V. E. WYMAN.

Dear Mr. Wyman:—

We wish to thank you for your letter of July 6, and for the careful accounting of the War Fund, which you have made.

The War Council wishes to make special recognition of the remarkably fine contribution of your county to the Red Cross War Fund.

The War Fund Campaign has written a new page in the history of America, in that it established a new standard of service, a new standard of giving and a realization of what can be accomplished by co-operation, service and inspiration.

In the writing of this history Lake County Chapter has played a very large part.

It is manifestly impossible for us to write a letter to each one of the noble-minded men and women of your county who contributed to the wonderful success of this movement.

Will you kindly express our appreciation to your citizenship?

Very cordially,
ALBERT V. WEIGEL,
For the War Council.

Bailie and Master Norman Wieland. This makes 38 members up to date. We have the record of having the oldest as well as the youngest members in Lake county. Mrs. Arvilla Fields, who is 92½ yeras old, and Elva Lingafelter who was one week old when registered. The members are going to have another lawn fete at the school house Wednesday evening, July 25.

YAXLEYS PROVE DELIGHTFUL HOSTS AT PYTHIAN SISTERS' PICNIC

Fifteen or twenty autos were required to convey the guests who attended the Phythian Sisters' outing July 15th. The affair took place at the commodious Bainbridge farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Yaxley. Tables were spread upon the lawn. There were about eighty guests at the affair, and all voted Mr. and Mrs. Yaxley the most delightful of hosts.

SOME INTERESTING HISTORICAL DATA FROM ETHAN BROWN IN REFERENCE TO THE NEW McNUTT-McCALL ALLOTMENT WILL BE FOUND ON PAGE THREE.

E. M. CROWTHER'S STORE TO HAVE EASTERN STAR BAKED SALE.

The Ladies of the Eastern Star will hold a sale of Baked Goods, etc., Saturday afternoon. The sale will be held in E. M. Crowther's store. The Eastern Stars, it is reported, are really Star Bakers as well, and it will probably be necessary to call early if one is to secure any of their product. Mr. Crowther's always splendidly kept store should also add to the attractiveness of the sale. It is recalled in passing, that at the time the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce called at Willoughby, the unusually attractive appearance of the store occasioned one of the members to enquire if it had been especially arranged for their visit.

THE LOST NATION ROAD.

Considerable sentiment seems to exist among the residents of the Lost Nation Road, favorable to the change as suggested by W. C. Collister recently. The commissioners were to act upon the matter this week. Much interest is always excited in a new comer by the name, "Lost Nation" road. Whence it came, and why; and numerous interesting tales are heard as to its origin. Mail clerks, it is true, are oft times guided in locating the destination of a letter by some oddly named street that remains in the mind. Fifth Ave. suggests New York; Broad Street, Philadelphia, Maiden Lane, again New York; still it is presumable that no one would want "Lost Nation," to suggest Willoughby. Mr. Hopkins, for whom it is desired to name the road, was the father of Mrs. H. E. Talbot, and resided on the road for about 70 years.

Mr. Collister suggests that if the change is made, signs with "Hopkin's Road" there on be placed at the top of Beman Hill, and at Mr. Pelton's place, so that the name might soon become familiar.

COUSIN OF JOSEPH McCARTHY DIES

Funeral services for George Noonan, who passed away in Charity Hospital Wednesday evening, last, were held in Painesville, Saturday. Rev. Mosley was one of the assisting pastors. Mr. Noonan was a cousin of Joseph McCarthy, of Willoughby, and was connected with the McCarthy Restaurant for three years, about four years ago. He was engaged in business with his brother at Fairport, at the time of his demise. He was twenty-nine years of age. He was a most devoted son, and flowers in great profusion testified to the esteem of numbers of friends. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery at Painesville. His father and mother and four brothers survive.

STOLEN AUTO RECOVERED ON VINE STREET.

A Chandler chummy roadster was stolen from in front of the Stillman theatre between 8 and 10 p. m. Friday last. It was recovered on Vine Street at 2 a. m. Saturday morning. James Maloney notified the Cleveland police, and the owner, H. H. Cudmore, East 79th Street, came out after the car.

DAUGHTERS CIRCLE VISITS ART GALLERY

The Daughters Circle went to Cleveland Wednesday where they had lunch and visited the Art Gallery during the afternoon.

About 25 were in attendance. A guide showed the ladies through the Art Gallery. Later they took advantage of the opportunity to drive through the Wade Park aand Boulevards.

HIGH COST OF PAVING

It is reported that the contemplated paving of Lost Nation road and adjacent thoroughfares would have cost $33,000.00 more this year than it would have cost if done last year, if it had been done.

THE WILLOUGHBY SOLDIER BOYS

Llwelyn Barber is one of the Willoughby boys who has enlisted, whose name was omitted from our list last week. Mention should have been made also of Harlund Sherman, who is on a Patrol vessel, stationed at Boston, Mass.

SECOND ANNUAL PICNIC STANDARD TIRE AND RUBBER CO.

Friday was the scheduled day for the Standard Tire & Rubber Co.'s annual picnic at Willoughby Beach. McGroder, Capt., were scheduled for a game. Mr. J. J. Shaw was in charge of the distribution of all prizes.

LOCAL POST OFFICE CLERKS RECEIVE PRAISE

The case examination given recently by the post office department, was participated in by Miss Sara E. Dodd and Mr. Nichols, of the local post office. This examination is one that refers more particularly to the routing and dispatching of mail, meeting of trains, etc., that will facilitate the quick passing of mail, rather than holding it here, say, for a train going east or west. It is pleasing to know that the chief clerk stated that the work of Miss Dodd and Mr. Nichols was exceptionally good, extraordinarily so, he stated, for the first attempt. Their standing was about 97 percent. Mr. Collins will take the same examination in September.

MEETING OF BEN HUR STOCK HOLDERS HELD

The stockholders of the Ben Hur held a meeting, called by J. B. Spyksma, Thursday evening, the 12th, at the Willoughby Inn. Many parties have inspected the Ben Hur plant here but no offers have been accepted as yet.

Rogers, president of the company, presented Mr. Grover with a check for $50.00 with his compliments and best wishes for an enjoyable vacation.

To say Mr. Grover was surprised and pleased at the gift $50.00 from the company is expressing it very mildly. Mr. Grover is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Grover at Stop 28.

S. B. S. SOCIETY WILL GIVE PLAY

A play of much interest will be presented here August 1st, when the S. B. S. society gives the "Spinster's Club." It will be given at the Andrews' gymnasium. The S. B. S. society comprises about 25 members the larger part of whom will take part, and a most creditable presentation may be expected.

Good quality coal at lowest possible prices will be offered. Many of Willoughby's representative citizens are reported as being interested. Orders at present are being filled from Chesterland, Cleveland, and other nearby points. Cooperation is asked on the delivery problem, at present.

As a means of attracting trade and interest to Willoughby the community coal center here, is proving to be a drawing card.

MANUFACTURER BELIEVES REPUBLICAN GOOD ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

The Republican had occasion to talk with Mr. Rentschler, manager of Willoughby's new and progressive plant, the J. H. R. Products Co. the other day. Mr. Rentschler reported that their new siding was in, and that they hoped to begin work soon on the erecting of the new plant, in the form of the Painesville Basket Factory brought from Painesville some time ago, as mentioned in the Republican "We need a few brick layers," he said. "But don't say anything about it in the Republican. If you do, we will get a thousand applications.—Why, after you had that one article in about our new plant, we received ten thousand enquiries!" E. P. Walsh, who conducts the excellent grocery at the corner of Vine street, thought this latter statement might be exaggerated. Mr. Rentschler explained that the article in the Republican had been copied by the Iron Age, and given Willoughby wide spread publicity. "But if we ever need to advertise our products," he continued, "we will certainly use the Republican."

The boy was the eldest of nine children, and at the time of the accident the mother was absent from home for the first time in many years.

The funeral was held at the home of the parents Tuesday at 2 p. m.

The weather man surely dispenses the rain storms nowdays without regard to needs of the communities. The exclusive rain of Saturday did not reach beyond Painesville, or into Cleveland. Heavy rains at Wickliffe Monday and Tuesday were not experienced in Willoughby; while recent storms in Willoughby have scarcely passed the boundaries of the village.

ETHAN BROWN SUPPLIES SOME INTERESTING HISTORICAL DATA ON THE MCNUTT-MCCALL ALLOTMENT PROPERTY. LAND PURCHASED IN THE OLD DAYS AT $25.00 PER ACRE.

The conversion into attractive generous sized home-sites by The McNutt-McCall Co. of Cleveland, of what was until a few years ago part of the Hiram Brown estate on Euclid avenue has focused attention on this property. Recently it has been owned by D. Z. Norton, of Cleveland, and has been occupied by William Seeley. A few words relative to the history of this property we believe will be of interest.

While not the first owner of it, Hiram Brown acquired the property during the early days, and had at one time about 300 acres. This included the parcel which is being allotted and the land adjoining it on the west. He was one of the pioneer settlers of Willoughby, a master cooper, who conducted a shop. In 1822 he bought the lot where the M. E. church now stands, and soon thereafter built a house on it which for some time was the family residence. This house, by the way, was later moved to make room for the present M. E. church, and is still standing on Euclid avenue.

Later Mr. Brown bought the land which is being allotted and in 1834 or 1835 built the rear portion of the old house which has been torn down to make way for the main entrance street into the allotment. This street by the way, will be named Brown avenue, in honor of Hiram Brown, who was in his day one of the largest land owners and one of the most prominent citizens of Willoughby.

On the eastern side of the land, which now adjoins the beautiful home of Samuel Austin, Mr. Brown built a cooper shop. This, in its time, was quite an important industry, which employed a considerable number of men. During the Civil War the white house, which has been the home of William Seeley for the last seventeen years, was built and occupied by Mr. Brown Sr., his son Watson Brown taking up his residence in the old family home. After the death of Hiram Brown, the property passed to his two sons, and Watson Brown became the owner of the portion of the land which is being allotted. The western part of it passed into the possession of Ethan Brown, who at eighty-three years of age, is still active for a man of his advanced years. He is an esteemed citizen of Willoughby, of which he has been a life long resident. We are indebted to him for the historical data here given.

A striking illustration of the increase in property values is contained in the statement by Mr. Brown that this property was bought by his father for $25.00 per acre. Those familiar with the present values in Willoughby know that current prices for desirable acreage range around close to $1500 per acre, with improved village property proportionately higher. And it is predicted by many who have made a study of conditions, that the advent of rapid transit, which is assured in the very near future, will result in an advance of property values in Willoughby to nearly, if not quite, current prices for desirable city property.

By THOMAS L. MASSON
Editor of "Life."

Out where the line of battle cleaves
The horizon of woe,
And sightless warriors clutch the leaves,
The Red Cross nurses go.
In where the cots of agony
Marks death's unmeasured tide
Bear up the battle's harvestry—
The Red Cross nurses glide.
Look! Where the hell of steel has torn
Its way through slumbering earth
The orphaned urchins kneel, forlorn,
And wonder at their birth
Until, above them, calm and wise,
With smile and guiding hand,
God looking through their gentle eyes,
The Red Cross nurses stand.
Here, in our sheltered homes we sit,
Remote from war's red sweep,
Doing half-heartedly our bit,
Sleeping our painless sleep.
See! Where the Red Cross flag's unrolled
With red, and white, and blue,
Let us pour out our treasured gold
To guide the Red Cross true.

THRIFT THOUGHT.

What are you going to do with that half bottle of left-over milk in your refrigerator, Madam Housewife?

The cream has been taken off, but there is good food value in what is left.

Here is one possibility, says the United States Department of Agriculture, for a nourishing dish for either luncheon or supper:

Nourishing Milk Gravy.

Enough for family of two adults and three children. Reduce proportions if for smaller number.

1 pint skim milk, 1-4 cup flour, 2 level teaspoons butter or cooking fat, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

Melt butter or other fat in saucepan. Add flour and salt mixed. Blend. Add milk gradually. Heat, stirring constantly until thick.

Flavor, if desired, with any left-over minced meat or fish which may be on hand, or minced ham or a slice of broiled bacon, crumbled.

Serve on boiled hominy, samp, rice, potatoes, macaroni, or slices of corn or other bread, or toast.

Jars worth as much as ever in winter vegetables worth more than ever. Home canning pays.

CHURCH ETIQUETTE

An exchange has the following: As long as there are churches, "just so long will there be a church etiquette, and very many who would not think for a moment of offending at a social function, do not seem at all concerned when attending a sacred service." The following rules form a good foundation.

If possible, be in time. You need at least five minutes after coming in, to get warm or cool, to compose your body and mind, and to whisper a prayer before the service begins. Never pass up the aisle during prayer or Scripture reading. If you do, your presence will distract the minds of many in the audience.

Be devout in every attitude; all whispering should be studiously avoided.

Find the hymn, and sing it, if you can. Share the book with your neighbor.

If in a strange church, conform to its customs of worship.

If the sermon has begun, take a seat near the door—no matter if you are "at home." Be thoughtful for the comfort of others. Take the inside of the pew, if you are the first to enter, and leave all vacant space at the end of the aisle.

Speak a bright, cheery word to as many as possible at the close of the service. If you are a stranger, ask one of the ushers to present you to the minister, or to some of the church officers. This will always insure you a hearty welcome.

Never put on your coat, overshoes or wraps during the closing hymn, and do not make a rush for the door immediately after the benediction is pronounced. There should be no loud talking and jesting after the service is concluded. They are out of place in the house of God.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Tips For Play-Goers

The Miles

Opening at the Miles theatre next week is another famous C. H. Miles summer vaudeville show. The headline attraction consists of the amateur diving contests, which consists of some of Cleveland's greatest amateurs. Monday, Wednesday and Friday is ladies' night. On Friday night the lady winners will receive handsome loving cups that are won by the different amateurs.

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday are gentlemen's nights. On Saturday night is the night when the gentlemen winners receive the loving cups they win. Each and every contestant receives from the general manager, C. H. Miles, one of the most handsome diving medals ever presented to any amateur diver in the state of Ohio. The big feature attraction, Fredrick the Great, in his wonderful illusion act, consisting of some of the greatest tricks ever presented to a vaudeville audience. Granville Baker is another big attraction, with his songs and melody, written exclusively for him. Bojar and company, Russian dancers and singers, direct from the Imperial theatre of Moscow, present their whirlwind acrobatic dance. Donahue and Marion present their natural nonsense, "All for a Laugh," with the assistance of a grotesque makeup, which are as unique as they are original. They succeed in getting the very most out of their songs and dances. McCarthy and Feil, who for the last two seasons have been big vaudeville headliners, will present their famous comedy act, "Race Suicide." This is an act that is full of comedy and great big laughs and no doubt will be the season's greatest hit.

George Beban in "The Cook of Canyon Camp" will be the movie feature.

Alhambra Theatre

That popular screen hero Harold Lockwood comes to the Alhambra in his latest picture, Sunday to Wednesday.

It's called "The Secret Spring" and was adapted from the famous book of the same name. This picture is said to be the best out of doors picture Lockwood has been in in a year.

Next week Thursday, Friday and Saturday the attraction is Mary Miles Minter in "The Rose of the Alley."

MALL THEATRE

The week of July 22 is "Review Week" at the Mall theatre. For this week, Manager Becht has selected two of the most famous masterpieces of the film industry.

The first four days, starting Sunday the attraction will be "Her Condoned Sin." This was the first spectacular drama by the world-famous producer, David W. Griffith, and its stars are Blanch Sweet, Mae Marsh, the Gish sisters and Henry B. Walthal.

For the three last days of the week the funniest comedy ever made "Tillie's Punctured Romance" will be shown. This picture made Charles Chaplin famous. Other stars in the cast are Mabel Normand and Marie Dressler.

No advance in admission price will be made and there will be the usual program of short film plays and comedies in the Lower Mall theatre.

Standard Theatre

Week of July 22nd, Gladys Brockwell in "Honor and Obey" will be seen at the Standard theatre. This play is another of the famous star's successes and tells the story of a faithful wife who helps her husband accumulate a fortune but after wealthy does not appreciate the wife of former years, and openly courts another, until an old friend of hers, also a broker, crushes him on certain stocks in which both are interested, he finally loses his fortune and also his new-found affinity, when she finds his wealth gone, and he at last ends his barren life by suicide. Finally she finds her old friend again and together the two find happiness. The scenes are well laid and interesting all the way through, as Miss Brockwell's ability needs no introduction. Mutt and Jeff comedy cartoons will again be the humorous side of the program.

Luna Park

Another promising bill is booked for Luna Park theatre patrons for next week. The feature of the six big acts is Elsie La Bergere, who, with a trio of trained dogs, presents a remarkable posing act. The act was the feature in the big vaudeville circuit last season. Other acts on the bill include Mlle. Paulan, booked as the daring Venus of the air; Parish and Peru, a team of jumping concertina artists; Gertie Van Dyke, the American girl; Hanley and Fay, the "English Chappies," who present sense and nonsense, and Reno, who is billed as "the Man from Nowhere."

The vaudeville is presented three times daily at 3, 8 and 9 p. m. and four times on Sunday at 3, 4, 8 and 9 p. m. A band concert is given by Gugliotta's band daily at 2:15 and 7:15 and from 1 to 3 and 5 to 7 p. m. on Sunday. Metropolitan cabaret and free movies are presented nightly in the gardens.

Neal Treatment Quick, Safe and Sure

Thousands of former drinkers give thanks for the Neal Treatment, which in three days changes craving desire for liquor into tremendous dislike for anything alcoholic.

Nervous drinkers who feel that they can't get along without "bracers" need the Neal Treatment. It is a perfectly harmless vegetable remedy, administered by physicians and taken internally. There are no hypodermic injections.

The treatment quickly restores shattered nerves, clears clouded brains and lets sunlight into downcast, discouraged hearts. Over-indulgence in liquor ruins business, mind, health and happiness. The Neal Treatment, in three days can transform a slave to drink to self-mastery. If you have a friend who ought to take the Neal Treatment, send him to the Neal Institute. Patrons are treated like guests. They enjoy all the comforts of home and even more privacy. All meals are served in their rooms. Home Treatment can be arranged for those who desire it.

For further information and booklet, address the Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid Av., Cleveland, O. Phone Rosedale 3490. Open day and night. Other Neal Institutes located at Columbus, Cincinnati Pittsburgh and Detroit.

GAS COMPANY BEGINS CONSERVATION

Food conservation is a war measure no less important than the Liberty Loan or the Red Cross fund, according to an official of the East Ohio Gas Company. The company will therefore use advertising space during the next few months to urge upon Cleveland housewives the necessity of canning, drying and preserving the surplus of fruits and vegetables that ordinarily go to waste.

This action is prompted by the appeal of the Hoover Commission, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and many public men, including President Wilson, to save every pound of food for America and her allies. The last crop report promises unusual stocks of perishable foodstuffs and the yield from hundreds of thousands of war gardens will merely swell the total waste unless unusual measures are taken to keep the surplus for future consumption.

The shortage of glass and tin will seriously hamper the packers in their efforts to save it all, and the unusual number of small producers who are not in contact with the packers would make it impossible in any event for the latter to receive and care for the greater part of the increased production. This puts it squarely up to the housewife to do her bit by saving the surplus on the local markets.

Home canning, drying and preserving, says the gas man, will not only cut the cost of living next winter, but it will help materially to relieve the burden of food transportation on the part of our overworked railway freight service. This in turn will save cars for the transportation of coal, army and navy supplies and other commodities which must be moved.

Banks and business concerns, including the East Ohio Company, donated advertising space liberally in support of the Liberty Loan and the Red Cross fund, and the gas company proposes to lend its aid likewise to the patriotic movement for saving the waste in order to win the war.

LEGAL NOTICE

Mrs. ....Gallagher, first name unknown, wife of John Gallagher, and whose place of residence is unknown, is hereby notified that on the 25th day of May, 1917, John Bene and Karolin Bene filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being case No. 156648, against her, alleging that they are the owners of the legal title to and are in possession of the following described premises to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being sublot No. 300 in Gill, Brainard, Hower and Higbee Subdivision of part of original One Hundred Acre Lots Nos. 423, 431, 424 and 432 as shown by the recorded plat of said subdivision recorded in Volume 5 of Maps, Page 37 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant Mrs. ....Gallagher claims some interest in said premises adverse and hostile to these plaintiffs, to-wit: That on June 16th, 1874, said John Gallagher conveyed said premises and more land to John B. Bruggeman without stating in the deed by which said conveyance was made whether he was married or single and without release of dower, which deed is recorded in Volume 230, Page 353 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant has no claim or interest in said premises whatever and the claim she makes is unfounded, and is a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs. The prayer of said petition is that the title of the plaintiffs to said premises be quieted, and that the defendant be forever barred from having or claiming any right to said premises, that any claim set forth be adjudged null and void, and for such other and further relief as may be just an equitable. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 25th day of August, 1917.

LEGAL NOTICE

Melissa J. Morgan and her unknown heirs at law, Edward Volkman and his unknown heirs at law, whose places of residence are unknown and the names of the unknown heirs at law being unknown, will take notice that Elizabeth Silvis as plaintiff has filed a petition against them as defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that she is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession and control of the following described real estate:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-lot No. 9 in Electa A. Nichol's Allotment of part of original One Hundred Acre Lot No. 415, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 3 of Maps, page 41, Cuyahoga County Records, and being 40 feet front on the easterly side of Lincoln Avenue, (now known as East 83rd Street,) and extending back of equal width 150 feet deep to a 14 foot alley in the rear, as appears by said plat, be the same more or less but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that said defendants claim some estate title or interest in said premises hostile and adverse to plaintiff's rights by reason of the fact that in a deed from M. J. Morgan, then the owner of said premises, to D. T. Jones, dated September 2nd, 1876 and recorded in Volume 262 at page 266 of Cuyahoga County Records, no statement was made that the grantor was single and unmarried; and also by reason of a certain mortgage executed by H. Fellman and Mary Fellman, husband and wife, to Edward Volkman, recorded on July 21st, 1882 in Volume 344 at Page 619 of Cuyahoga County Mortgage Records which mortgage was duly paid but was improperly cancelled on the Records by the said grantee, Edward Volkman, who by inadvertance and mistake signed said cancellation as Conrad Volkman; and that by reason thereof a cloud exists on plaintiff's title, though the said defendants have no interest or estate in said premises, and that as against each and all of said defendants this plaintiff and her grantors in title have been in actual, open, continuous, notorious, uncontested and adverse possession and control of the whole of said premises for more than forty years last preceding the filing of the petition in said action.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants be notified of the pendency of said petition, that upon hearing the plaintiff be found to be the owner in fee simple of the above described premises, that the interests of all of said defendants and each of them be forever barred, that plaintiff's title be quieted in said premises against the claims of any of said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 157162 and the defendants above named are required to answer the same on or before the 25th day of August, A. D. 1917.

Does Her Own Housework Since Tanlac Has Built Up Her Run-Down System

"I am now doing my own housework and it doesn't tire me out like it used to," said Mrs. John A. Kozsey, 2503 E. 23rd st., in telling what Tanlac did for her after she was all run down.

"I was troubled with my stomach for a long time," she continued. "After meals gas formed on my stomach, which made me feel bloated and uncomfortable. I often had dizzy spells and headaches and sometimes I would have chills. My circulation was poor, too, and I had that tired feeling most of the time. No matter how tired I was, however, I couldn't sleep soundly because I was nervous.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel much better. I am not troubled with my stomach, and I don't lie awake nights like I used to. The dizzy spells have disappeared and I feel better all around. Tanlac is certainly a good medicine. I am well please with it."

Tanlac is a purely vegetable tonic made of roots, barks and berries and is especially designed to build up run-down people. If you are in need of a good tonic get it today. It will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

You can get Tanlac at any good drug store in Cleveland. The Tanlac representative at the Standard Drug's Old Arcade store, 411 Euclid ave., will be glad to explain all about this wonderful tonic to you.—Advt.

"The Car of the Hour"
Doesn't Require an Expert
The good points of the Elgin Six instantly appeal to the man or woman without technical motor car knowledge. Just ride in an Elgin Six once, either touring car or roadster, and you will realize its power, speed and comfort — and the more you know about automobiles, the better you'll like the Elgin Six.
Every detail in its construction meets squarely and satisfactorily every demand you will make upon it.
The fashionable center cowl, combined with the true yacht line design, gives the Elgin Six a distinction that sets it apart from common cars. This double cowl and the "V"-type radiator are found in no other car selling for less than $1,250.
Elgin Engineers have perfected an improved rear spring suspension, found only in the Elgin Six, which reduces shock and vibration to a point not surpassed in any car at any price, and sets a new standard of motoring ease and comfort at high speeds.
The last barrier to the safe and easy handling of a motor car by women is removed by the special construction of the Elgin velvet-acting clutch, which enables the driver to start the Elgin Six on high gear, and does away to a large degree with the necessity of gear shifting under ordinary conditions.
Let us tell you about the new records made by the Elgin Six in cross-country touring and how it has stood crucial tests for reliability and economy of operation.

Have You Been To Market?
Do you realize what quantities of fruit and vegetables you can get for a little money at canning time by going to market?
Maybe you don't feel that it pays to go every day and buy what you need for the table—but you'll feel more like putting up a lot of food for next winter if you see how little it will cost you.
There are so many easy ways of helping to save the nation's food crop—canning, preserving, drying, etc.—that no family should have to buy all its food next winter at winter prices.
Take a lesson from the bee and the squirrel—be laying away some good things now while they are so plentiful, and cheaper than they can possibly be out of season.
Cleveland has the best and cheapest Gas Service in the world and the fuel cost of putting up fruit and vegetables can almsot be disregarded. Besides, with Gas Service you can do it all and still be cool and comfortable.

BIRTHDAY PARTY RECALLS OLD KIRTLAND MEMORIES

Mr. Lyman Wightman had a birthday Saturday, July 21st. Mr. Wightman had then attained the age of 82. This does not indicate, however, that Mr. Wightman is 82 years OLD. He is, on the contrary, one of the youngest men in Willoughby, as his splendidly kept garden will attest. Mr. Wightman is the father of Mrs. H. F. Kennedy. His garden is as near an approach to that mecca of all gardeners, a "weedless and bugless paradise" as it is possible to arrive at. Mr. Wightman has been known upon occasion to carefully cover over a fragile plant with a large hollyhock leaf, or any other protection handy.

"His garden," Mrs. Kennedy said, "is as carefully tended as any baby."

Mr. Wightman was born in New York state, his folks moving to Kirtland while he was very small. His people were Mormons, and an interesting and romantic fact is connected therewith. Mr. Wightman's brother, who is 84, and still living, had two wives, according to the Mormon faith. At the time the law was passed, which affected the Mormon's plurality of wives, Mr. Wightman's brother had to give up his second wife, whom it seems, he had married, due to the influence of his first wife, who was of the Morman faith, and a great friend of Mrs. Wightman number two.

The interesting part of the affair develops in the late life of Mr. Wightman. His first wife died many years ago, and about two years ago Mr. Wightman found and re-married his second wife and they are now living together happily at Salt Lake City.

Mr. Wightman of Willoughby, has made three trips across the continent. At one time he drove out and back with a yoke of oxen, covering 1600 miles with the same team. At another time he made the tour with Mrs. Kennedy, "using," Mrs Kennedy explained, "no oxen upon that trip."

One of Mr. Wightmans trips was after the search for gold in 1859. "There was only one log house in Denver then," he said, "all the rest were tents."

The house in Kirtland where Mr. and Mrs. Wightman were married, is still standing. His wife was Miss Sarah Rockafellow. The grandparents resided in the old Joseph Smith house and the living room, wonderful fire place, guns and swords that it contained are recalled by Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. Kennedy's sister, who is visiting at the Kennedy home.

A porch party attended by about fifteen guests enjoyed the patriotic celebration and birthday cake decorated with red, white and blue candles arranged for Mr. Wightman's birthday Saturday. Mr. Wightman is well and hearty, has a splendid memory and works out of doors every day. Youth having declined to leave him, Mr. Wightman happily enjoys himself and his garden and adds by his presence to the pleasure of the community in which he lives.

PROPERTY REMAINS IN FAMILY FOR HUNDRED YEAR PERIOD

A sale of land by H. S. Nichols, recently, recalls the interesting fact that the property sold has been in the family for a period of one hundred years. The place is known as the Henry Jones property, and the 12th of October next, would have seen its possession in the family for the century period. The Jones family were Connecticut settlers and took possession of the place October 12th, 1917. They came through touring however, with their oxen teams instead of automobiles. The property is on the Ridge Road at Stop 22, and the sale was made to G. Beck.

MEN WANTED TO DRILL AT HOME GUARD PRACTICE.

Interesting gatherings occur every Friday evening, when drill practice is held under Capt. Burgess. More men are requested to come. The drill is most interesting, and life and spirit would be injected by a larger attendance.

INSANE PATIENT TAKEN TO PAINESVILLE.

An insane man, who had been roaming about in the vicinity of Dr. McCollister's place, was taken to Painesville Tuesday. Clarence Baker notified Constable Maloney of the man's appearance, and Mr. Maloney secured him and brought him down town. Papers upon his person indicated that his name was William Shehan, of Raleigh, N. C. The man refused to talk; would do nothing but whistle.

Constable Maloney held him pending the arrival of Sheriff Phelps who was notified. Efforts are being made to get into communication with the Odd Fellows lodge and locate the man's friends.

AMERICAN CLAY WILL NOT HAVE A PICNIC

It is reported that the American Clay and Machinery Co. will not have a shop picnic this year.

"WHAT WILLOUGHBY DID CLEVELAND CAN DO," SAYS CLEVELAND PAPER.

"What Willoughby did, Cleveland can do," says an editorial in last night's Press in regard to some of Willoughby's progressive ideas. The Republican will reprint the editorial entire, believing it of much interest.

"Vision, energy and courage" it says, are all that is needed in carrying out good principles in a town, all of which may be incorporated in any Chamber of Commerce platform.

PICNIC SEASON IN FULL SWING AT WILLOUGHBEACH

Business is in full swing at Willoughbeach. Picnics for this week include among others, the Glidden Varnish works, German Mt. Olive and Euclid avenue Evangelical churches; Salvation Army, Master Plumbers, Church of Good Shepherd, Norwegian Lutheran Sunday school; with the Wm. Taylor Son Co. for Saturday.

HAY RACKS USED FOR PICNIC

Five hay racks were required to take the Andrews girls on their annual picnic to Mentor Park Thursday. All of the girls were expecting to attend. It was an afternoon affair the girls taking their supper with them.

"WHY NOT HAVE O. E. S. BAKED SALES EVERY WEEK?" PATRON ENQUIRES.

"That Devils food cake that I bought at the Eastern Star Baked Sale, in E. M. Crowther's store Saturday was perfectly delicious," Mrs. Rentschler remarked Monday. "I don't see why they don't inaugurate those sales every Saturday." That appeared to be the universal opinion of all who patronized the Eastern Star bakers. That they outshone their rivals of the same name goes without saying. To realize, too, that one was eating pie baked by the president of the Woman's Press Club, added considerable pleasure. Mr. Crowther very kindly removed his display of the new electric washing machines, that the bread, salads and pies of The Stars might be advantageously shown in the window.

RESOLVED, That in consideration of the very unusual conditions now prevailing throughout the country, we deem it advisable to defer the meeting of the Willoughby College reunion the first Wednesday of August, 1918.

I hope you will all approve of this action.

Sincerely yours,
N. C. SMITH,

PROGRESS OF THE REPUBLICAN

27 NEW SUBSCRIBERS WERE ADDED TO THE WILLOUGHBY REPUBLICAN LIST MONDAY AND TUESDAY OF THIS WEEK. THE REPUBLICAN HAS JUST PURCHASED A FORD CAR FROM MR. I. M. CROWTHER, WHICH WILL BE USED IN GETTING OVER THE ROADS AND ADJACENT TERRITORY.

THE NEWIEST AND MOST PROGRESSIVE PAPER THAT WE CAN SUPPLY IS THE AIM OF THE REPUBLICAN. "TWELVE HUNDRED SUBSCRIBERS" IS OUR SLOGAN NOW. YOUR RENEWAL OR SUBSCRIPTION IS MOST EARNESTLY DESIRED. "COULDN'T GET ALONG WITHOUT IT" IS THE COMMENT OF MANY WHO HAVE RECENTLY PAID UP THEIR SUBSCRIPTIONS.

CAN'T SPELL DOWN SOME SPELLERS, 'TIS SAID.

The Andrews school had a "spell down" Tuesday night. The 6th and 7th girls and the smallest of the 8th grade were on one side, and the 8th grade of the High School on the other side.

Marjorie Powers, of Cleveland, of the big girls, won a pin and Nila McKernan, of East Liverpool, won another. Leona Kaiser and Marjorie Alden stood up at the last, going going down on the word "vitiate." Marion Dean stood up to the last with the little girls, going down on the word "immediately."

WHY NOT HAVE A REGISTER FOR WILLOUGHBY SOLDIER BOYS

It is possible that there may be in Willoughby a register or record for the boys who leave for the camps, but it has not come to the notice of the Republican. It would seem that it would be desirable to have a register for the boys leaving, so that their name and address might appear in a book retained for that purpose. Blank spaces could be reserved for newspaper clippings a mention of any local boy, and the book might become a record of considerable interest and value of the Willoughby soldier boys of 1917. This method is being carried out in some localities and takes very little of the time of some custodian.

FORMER PASTOR CALLS AT WILLOUGHBY.

Rev. J. C. B. Stivers, of Cleveland, former pastor of the Church of Christ, and well known in Willoughby, attended the church Sunday, the 22nd, leading the morning devotions. Mrs. Stiver who has charge of the headquarters of the C. W. B. M. at Chautauqua each year, is now at that point. Rev. Stiver joined her there Wednesday, and will remain for five or six weeks.

FATHER OF MRS. CALL PASSES.

The family are old Kirtland residents, Mrs. Call having lived in Willoughby for about five years, after a residence in Kirtland of about 20 years.

Mr. Kraemer was a Civil war veteran, having served for a period of four years. He was a member of the G. A. R., R. L. Dunham Post., Bedford, of which A. M. Gordon is the commander. The body will be taken to his home town for the services and interment. The widow, five daughters and two sons survive

LARGE NUMBER OF LITTLE FOLKS ATTEND FRESH AIR CAMPS

A. C. P. & E. car containing 46 children for the fresh air camp passed through Willoughby yesterday morning. The camp is conducted by the Salvation Army, and several improvements have been made there this year. A Ford car has been purchased giving the small folks in some cases, the pleasure of an auto ride from Cleveland. Sixty-six children departed just before the arrival of the 46 above mentioned. A new dormitory has been added to the camp this year where 44 can be accommodated. Mr. and Mrs. McNess are in charge of the camp. It has been established about nine years. They have a phonograph, five tents and spacious grounds, of which the children take full advantage. As a recreation spot for the children of Cleveland's congested district the camp is certainly filling a great want.

AMERICAN CLAY CONTEMPLATES ADDITIONS TO PLANT

The American Clay Shops are now engaged in building a nice order of trolleys for fifteen ton cranes under contract with the Penn Bridge company. The also have an order for trolleys for locomotive jib cranes from The Victor R. Browning Company. They report they can use additional mechanics and are much interested in the housing facilities for the men they will bring to town during the next few months. They have considerable new work in prospect and some additions to plant in contemplation.

SIX YEAR OLD WINS IN TIRE GUESSING CONTEST. OTHER PRIZES AWARDED

The Standard Tire and Rubber Co. picnic drew a large crowd Friday last and the day was enjoyed to the fullest extent.

The management wish to express their thanks to the S. S. Wilson Co., who donated two base ball gloves for the occasion.

The Velvetreads won the morning ball game with a score of 9 to 3. Ten dollars was the prize.

Clyde Glynn was the winner of the prize offered for first home run, and Frank McGroder for the best individual play. The third prize for poorest individual play was awarded Wm. Morgan.

In the tug of war the upstairs men won the box of cigars offered.

The single men, J. Ray Dickey, captain, won the afternoon ball game. It is recalled that the single men won last year also. The winners received $20.00. Everett McGuer won the first run married men's prize, while H. J. Myer won for the single men.

In the running races Howard Van Deuzen won the first prize for single men, and —— Hollach, second. Wm. Davidson won first prize for married men and Wm. Hardy second.

An error was made in printing the program, in that it showed two running races for men. The second was by the women. The first prize of a ham was awarded to Mrs. Wm. Morgan and the second to Mrs. Lee Waddell. In the children's prizes first award went to Miss T. Waddell; others to Helen Morgan, G. Waite, Marie O'Neil, E. Carrel and J. Brodbeck.

A tire bearing a serial number has been on exhibition in McCarthy's store. The numbers were put in a hat and shaken up and Mr. Adams selected one, but even he did not know the number. The number proved to be 47,846. The winner guessed 47,895. He was a little fellow six years old, Wilson Brunson. He received the $5.00. He is the son of Thomas Brunson. J. J. Shaw awarded the prizes and all voted the picnic an entire success.

BUNGALOW HOME NEARING COMPLETION.

A bungalow home is nearing completion on the Higgins road, just off the Lost Nation. It is being built by Charles Pitan, formerly of Cleveland. Mr. Pitan is doing the work himself in odd moments, and has turned out a commodious and attractive home. A most interesting old cupboard, a book case, is being utilized in the home, which is now fifty years old.

COAL CHEAPER IN WILLOUGHBY; HOW IT'S DONE

A community coal yard, established by citizens of Willoughby, has forced prices there 40 cents to $1 a ton below those charged in Cleveland.

The following table compares prices of the Goff-Kirby Co. in Cleveland and Willoughby. The Willoughby prices are quoted by the company in the Willoughby Republican of July 18. They are called "special prices."

Here is the table:

HARD COAL	Willoughby	Cleveland
Egg	$8.50	$9.50
Stove	8.75	9.50
Chestnut	8.90	9.75
POCAHONTAS
Forked lump or egg	$810	$8.50
Shoveled	7.50	8.00
SOFT COAL
Massillon lump or nut, Deerfield lump, nut and Pittsburg lump, nut	6.50	7.25
White Oak lump	6.00	7.00

It sells a good grade of soft coal for $5.75 a ton.

The Goff-Kirby Co. and other concerns in Willoughby reduced their prices to meet competition of the community yard, according to George A. Rockafellow, president of the Willoughby Chamber of Comerce.

"We established our community yard because we didn't think we were getting fair prices from private companies," said Rockafellow.

"Fifteen citizens, members of the Chamber of Commerce, were the organizers.

"Our operating margin is about 35 cents a ton above actual cost.

MORE ABOUT WILLOUGHBY

(From Cleveland News)

WILLOUGHBY CITIZENS BUYING COAL FOR $5

Clevelanders might profit by purchasing their coal in Willoughby. George W. Rockefeller, president of the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce, said last night that coal may be obtained there for $5 a ton. "We formerly paid $8 and $8.50 a ton for the same grade of coal, too," said Mr. Rockefeller.

The cut in price came, he explained, when a community coal market was established early in June. Public-spirited citizens opened the market and agreed to sell coal at a nominal profit.

BIDDLE COMPANY GIVES PLEASURE

The concert given by the Biddle Concert Co., Wednesday night was different than that published in the papers but none the less enjoyable. There was a very good audience considering the heat of the night. The concert opened with the Quartette from Rigoletto, and closed with an American Fantasia, which permitted the singing of the Star Spangled Banner as the finale.

BUY SOME ONES

Buy some one-cent stamps. From time to time stick one on the upper right-hand corner of a magazine or newspaper which you have finished reading and drop it into one of the large mail boxes provided for papers and packages, or into the corresponding slot at the postoffice. It will be forwarded to some body of American troops serving in France and will gladden several American boys with its news from home or stories in the home language.

Perhaps the government could perform this service free, but the one-cent stamp requirement is part of the postoffice department's plan and will help to pay the cost of carriage. No one will quarrel with that. The "No wrapping, no address" rule will save trouble and paper and give the thoughtful act a pleasant air of impersonal kindness. No doubt, as the number of American soldiers and seamen on duty abroad increases, facilities for the forwarding of parcels to designated individuals and the exchange of personal correspondence will be improved. But the plan for supplying the boys at the front with reading matter from home is already in operation. Anybody and everybody can help. Let's start a one-cent stamp famine.

MAKES PRESENT OF WILLOUGHBY REPUBLICAN

The writer thinking she'd make a present to a sister in the west and also a friend decided to send them the Willoughby Republican for a year then they'd learn every week what was going on in their old home town and county. We couldn't think of anything for the sum of one dollar that would be appreciated half as much as their home paper.

W. S. Hobart and family in motoring around the county Sunday and seeing some of the sights called at George Brichfords Sr., and took a look at those famous gold fish ponds, of which he has quite a number with several thousand of gold fish and some are the largest ever seen and should think they'd weigh two pounds. Mr. Brichford raises these fish to sell and gets $5.00 for some of the largest ones but has different prices accordingly to size but they are beauties and besides he grows water lillies in the same ponds. It's a real treat to watch them.

WAITE HILL BAZAAR

A Red Cross bazaar and lawn fete, was given Thursday afternoon and evening by the residents of Waite Hill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cross, (the old Geo, Waite place). The proceeds go to the Willoughby branch.

DONATIONS TO THE RED CROSS

Any one contemplating a donation to our home branch are asked to make plain where the money is to be given. Several have sent to Painesville and while it is all used in a worthy cause, we do not have the money for the purchase of necessary material. Recently a donation from the Willoughby Catholic church was intended for our special use but was sent to Washington during Red Cross week. We mention this, that they may have proper credit and to show we appreciate their helpfulness and interest in the work.

Editor's note: The contribution above referred to is that of the portion of the proceeds of the play given by the Catholic church a short time since which amounted to $20.00. Rev. Mosley had expected it would be more, but the cost of the music for the play was higher than they had anticipated.

HARRY MAYNE PHOTOGRAPHS ROOM.

PROGRESS OF THE McNUTT-McCALL ALLOTMENT IN WILLOUGHBY

Arrangements have been completed for pushing the work of installing the improvements in the allotment on Euclid avenue, which is being placed on the market by the McNutt-McCall Co. The work of grading the streets has been placed in the hands of a contractor who has attacked it with a large force of men, teams and modern implements for this kind of work. In fact the tent camp established for housing and feeding his men, and stabling his horses by the contractor is not unlike those seen in earlier days when the right-of-way of the railroad lines were being graded. The company announces that the improvements will be installed with the utmost possible dispatch.

It is regrettable that natural beauty sometimes must be sacrificed in the march of progress, and the good of humanity in a larger sense, such, however, is the fact, and it applies to the removal of several of the beautiful shade trees on the avenue in front of the property. There is comfort in the thought, however, that they have only been removed to make way for the roadways of the main street which will enter the allotment. This entrance, by the way, is now clearly defined, and the street graded back to a considerable distance. The triangular shaped piece of ground between the roadways is ideally situated for a site for the beautiful shelter house, which the company announces will be erected on it. The ground around the shelter house, the company states, will be planted with shrubbery, thus greatly adding to the beauty of the spacious and imposing entrance to the allotment. It is pleasing to note that the entrance will be in keeping with the general development of the property, and that the manner in which it is being converted into homesites, is in turn, in keeping with the natural advantages and beauty of the piece of land itself.

The streets have been laid out so that the property may now be seen to good advantage and the location of the lots easily determined. The company announces that henceforth its representatives will be on the property every day after 10:00 a. m. also in the evening. They will be pleased to give full information, without obligation, at any time of the day or evening.

To give the people of Willoughby an opportunity to make their selections early, the company states, has been it's plan from the beginning. It also states that marked interest is being shown by Cleveland, as well as Willoughby people, and that sales are certain to be made in quick succession. It would, therefore, appear the part of wisdom to take early action in choosing one's location.

ON BEING HAPPY

In "An Apology for Idlers" Robert Louis Stevenson insisted that "there is no duty we so much underrate as the duty of being happy." In these hurried days and in this busy nation we are even more likely to forget how to be happy than were the Englishmen of Stevenson's day. To the modern business men, engrossed in his affairs, the motor car is an especial boon. With the added pressure of modern life have come added opportunities for that relaxation which is so essential to mental and physical well-being. Europeans like to say that we Americans are money mad, and that we have no time aught but the pursuit of the dollar. But we can and will take time to be happy, for of what avail is money if we and ours have not happiness? And this all-important happiness our motor cars will bring us. Though the city weary us the open fields are within reach. Our motors take us there in comfort and, if we drive not too fast along the way, we may drink in something of the joy and comfort of the open. There are air and sunshine and growing things, and as we partake of them our minds clear and our bodies relax. Few things are more worth while than the joys and comforts of the outdoors. —From Milestones."

THE BIG ENTERPRISE.

We've got to strive and never quit
Until the mighty task it o'er.
Each citizen must do his bit;
Then go ahead and do some more

ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE SENT TO BOYS IN HUNDRED THOUSAND BIBLES.

Ex-President Roosevelt was not permitted to go to France, but he will be with the Pershing boys in France with both heart and soul. Here is his message to them. It will be printed on the fly leaves of one hundred thousand Bibles that will be sent them. And one cannot help but regret, as he [illegible] that its author [illegible] those to whom he is sending the inspiring message.

"The teachings of the New Testament are foreshadowed in Micah's verse: 'What more doth the Lord require of thee than to do justice, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?'

"Do justice and therefore fight valiantly against the armies of Germany and Turkey, for these nations in this crisis stand for the reign of Moloch and Beelzebub on this earth.

"Love mercy, treat prisoners well, succor the wounded, treat every woman as if [illegible] sister, care for the little children and be tender with the old and helpless.

"Walk humbly, you will do so if you study the life and teachings of the Savior.

"May the God of justice and mercy have you in His keeping."

IN MEMORY OF PAST FAVORS

By Edgar A. Guest, In "Milestones."

In days before we owned a car on many a kind and thoughtful friend,
Who had a bus to drive about, we grew accustomed to depend.
They volunteered a lot of rides, but even when they didn't we'd contrive
By various artful ways and hints to let them know we'd like a drive.
And as we bolder grew, if we were bidden to the same affair,
We'd even telephone our friends to ask them if they'd take us there.
From Fords to limousines we used, for journeys short or journeys far
And felt that we had been abused if forced to take the trolley car.
At one or two or three A. M. we thought that friends should drive us home.
And I'll confess they always did, whenever we were forced to roam.
Sometimes by trolley we would go to visit, then we'd sit about
Until the desperate host announced he'd gladly get his flivver out.
We'd say we couldn't think of it! The hour was late, the way was long!
And we protested decently but never made our bluff too strong.
For secretly we really thought it such a simple thing to do,
That any host should gladly quit his home to drive an hour or two.
And now we own a motor car and other folks depend on us,
It seems to me they sometimes think that we possess an omnibus.
We never drive [illegible] the space for two we give to three,
And [illegible] behind the [illegible]
Though [illegible] to the top, I know, behind each [illegible]
There dwells the thought that, had we wished, we could have jammed them in somehow.
They think we could have hauled those home, as trolley cars they [illegible]
I know they do, because that is exactly what we used to think.
[illegible] beyond the [illegible] we can accommodate,
Nor fail to drive the [illegible] because the hour is [illegible] late.
[illegible] tempted to [illegible] if now and then I long for bed,
And setting out the car again to take another trip I dread;
[illegible] and at ease, and friends protest at one A. M.
That they'd not think of taking me away from home, I smile at them
And [illegible] shoes and coat and hat and get the car in memory
Of all the gracious, kindly friends who did the same for Ma and me.

LET'S BUILD WHILE WE FIGHT

Contributed by T. E. Honeywell, of Wickliffe.

Americans have a habit of quitting work and crowding around when an accident occurs. The case in point is the world's "accident" in Europe.

We are in danger of losing our heads and stopping work while the conflict is on. This would be a serious happening but, happily, every American can help to prevent it without adding to the noise and confusion of going to war.

The only thing necessary is to go quietly on in attending to our own business.

While our naval and military forces are hastening to the front to destroy [illegible] obstacles that seek to impede our growth, it is essential that we redouble our constructive effort at home.

We can both build and fight and we ought to seize upon this advantage as the greatest opportunity created by the war.

Let both public and private useful building construction proceed. Production and handling of building materials and public and private construction work are fundamental industries of the country. Any tendency to suspend or postpone building projects is inconsistent with maintaining our prosperity. The country is prosperous. Building investors should not hesitate to go ahead with their plans. Railroads should spare no effort to supply the building industry with the cars needed to transport materials. Government, state, county, and municipal authorities should encourage the continuance of all kinds of building. Road and street improvements in particular should go on unabated. Bad roads and streets are factors of first importance in the present high cost of foodstuffs. Never before was the improvement of highways so essential.

The lumber, brick, cement, lime, sand, gravel, stone, and other building materials industries are basic. Neither Government regulations nor railroad restrictions should be unnecessarily imposed to interfere with them. If any action is taken which results in the prostration of so fundamentally important industries, there is real danger of a surplus of unemployed labor, a surplus of railroad cars and a crippling of business that will seriously embarrass the Government in financing the war.

Let us build while we fight!

DON'T LOSE YOUR HEAD BUILD AND IMPROVE

In every crowd there is always somebody who is ready to yell "fire!" Then the panic starts. When order is restored, everybody wonders why everybody else lost his head.

When President Wilson issued his war proclamation and called upon the people of the United States to conserve their resources for the struggle ahead, he did not mean that they should stop spending money. He did mean that useless expenditures should stop, but that was nothing new. Business consists of buying and selling. Certain kinds of business are fundamental. The building business is one of them.

There need be no curtailment in building or road construction. Let both public and private useful building construction proceed. Production and handling of building materials and public and private construction work are fundamental industries of the country. Any tendency to suspend or postpone building projects is inconsistent with maintaining our prosperity. The country is prosperous. Building investors should not hesitate to go ahead with their plans. Railroads should spare no effort to supply the building industry with the cars needed to transport materials. Government, state, county, and municipal authorities should encourage the continuance of all kinds of building. Road and street improvements in particular should go on unabated. Bad roads and streets are factors of first importance in the present high cost of foodstuffs. Never before was the improvement of highways so essential.

AMERICA'S PURLOINED INVENTIONS

"What shall we invent?" inquired the eminent scientist.

"The first thing," replied the chairman of the meeting, "is to invent some way of keeping a secret?"

A PRACTICAL SILENCE.

"You are not saying much these days."

"No," replied Senator Sorghum. "I have looked my supply of conversation over, and I don't see anything that's likely to help whip a submarine or get out of its way?"

SARDONIC OPINION

"Charley dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "what is a diplomat?".

"Why do you want to know?"

"I want to understand what's going on when I read about it."

"Well, that's just what a diplomat, as a rule, is in business to prevent you from doing."—Washington Star.

GIGANTIC RED CROSS THEATRE DAY BENEFIT PLANNED

What will undoubtedly be the most gigantic undertaking ever attempted in the way of theatrical benefits is now being planned by the war council of the American Red Cross, of which Henry P. Davison is chairman.

A National Red Cross Theatrical Day will be designated some time in the Fall, probably in October, when the theatrical season will be in full swing. On this day it is planned to stage a huge nation-wide theatrical benefit in practically every theatre in the entire country.

Special performances will be run. The entire receipts of the various theatres will be donated to the Red Cross War Relief Fund. All of the actors will contribute their salaries for the day. And the public at large will probably have still another opportunity to evidence their loyal support of the great humane task of the Red Cross, by paying special prices for tickets.

Seldom does such work as the Red Cross is doing go without the active support of the theatrical profession. The people engaged in this work have given ample proof of their ability and willingness to bring cheer into the lives of the needy in ways other than by mere entertainment.

The theatrical profession is living up to its reputation and the movement is already well under way with the able direction of Mr. A. L. Erlanger who has been appointed National Chairman for the Theatre Day by Mr. Davison. Over 250 of the most able theatrical managers throughout the United States have already volunteered to turn over their entire receipts on this day to the Red Cross Fund and Mr. Erlanger is enlisting the active support of these men in enlarging the scope of the plan and in carrying it through to a successful conclusion.

In New York a committee has been appointed, composed of many of the greatest leaders in the theatrical world, and will include Marc Klaw, David Belasco, Lee Shubert, George M. Cohan, Sam H. Harris, Henry W. Savage, Oliver Morosco, Charles Dillingham, Arthur Hammerstein, Florenz Ziegfeld, Marcus Loew, E. F. Albee, Martin Beck, Alf. Hayman, A. H. Woods, Comstock, Elliot and Gest, Selwyn and Co., John D. Williams, and Sam Scribner.

Outside of New York other committees are being formed, composed of theatrical leaders in their respective territories. These committees and local Red Cross authorities will cooperate in making the undertaking a nation-wide success. A. F. Hartz is named as the director of the work for the City of Cleveland.

INTERCHANGEABLE FOODS.

Let Cost Determine What Source of Starch to Use— Potatoes as a Source of Starch.

Rice, wheat, and corn, the common starchy foods eaten in the mixed diet usual in most families, are relied on mainly as sources of energy to the body, and have about the same value, pound for pound. Therefore if rice, wheat flour, cracked wheat, corn meal, or hominy cost the same per pound, they are equally cheap fuel foods. Such foods, therefore can be freely interchanged if foods like meat, milk, eggs, or beans and fruits or vegetables are eaten also.

Most wheat breakfast foods and wheat pastes, like macaroni or spaghetti, also have about the same energy value as wheat flour, corn and rice. They differ very much in appearance and also in bulk, according to the method of manufacture, and the cost can not be judged merely by the size of the package to be obtained for 5 or 10 cents. Now that the law requires the net weight to be marked on the outside of every package, it is easy to reckon how much the food material actually costs a pound. Thus if the net weight of a 10-cent package of breakfast food is 8 ounces, a pound, or 16 ounces, would cost 20 cents.

As a general rule—and very justly—the simpler preparations, which it has taken less time and labor to put up, cost less than the more elaborate ones. Those sold in bulk usually cost less than those sold in cartons. Each housekeeper must decide whether the variety and convenience of the more expensive kinds compensates for the extra cost. In any case before she can choose wisely she must have reckoned how much the package goods cost per pound.

Leaving aside cost of preparation an comparing rice with ready-made wheat bread, it appears that rice at 7 cents a pound is about as cheap a source of body fuel as bread at 5 cents a pound. If bread costs 8 cents a pound, rice costing up to 10 cents a pound is a cheaper source of energy. Bread costing 9 cents a pound would furnish energy as cheaply as rice at 12 cents a pound. Corn bread usually costs much less per pound than wheat bread, and so furnishes energy at a still lower cost in the above comparison than wheat bread.

A pound of potatoes yields hardly one-fifth as much body energy as a pound of rice, corn meal, or wheat. This is partly because they are much more watery and partly because a large proportion is discarded with the skins. Part of this loss is inevitable because the skin itself is not usually considered good to eat; but the more carelessly potatoes are pared, the more of the valuable edible substance goes with the skin. A bushel of potatoes weighs 60 pounds, a peck 15 pounds. When potatoes are selling at $1.20 a bushel, or $0.30 a peck, they therefore cost 2 cents a pound. If their fuel value is one-fifth of rice, they furnish fuel at about the same cost as rice at 10 cents a pound and at about twice the cost of corn meal or hominy at 5 cents a pound. When potatoes cost $2.40 a bushel, or $0.60 a peck, they are about twice as expensive as sources of fuel as rice at 10 cents, and four times as expensive as corn meal or hominy at 5 cents a pound. These comparisons show that, merely for providing fuel, potatoes are often more expensive than rice, and practically always more expensive than corn meal or hominy. As was pointed out about, potatoes often are relied on not merely as a source of fuel, but also as a source of some of the mineral matters needed by the body. They are usually among the most economical of the vegetbles which serve this second purpose, because they supply a generous amount of energy as well as the building materials.

Editorial About Willoughby From The Cleveland Press of July 25

Our little neighbor Willoughby, 20 miles to the east, refused to pay exorbitant prices for coal—the prices that Cleveland is paying today.

The big coal companies—some of them the same that operate in Cleveland—would not cut prices.

Whereat little Willoughby did not wring its hands and sit down to futile repining.

Its city officials and its Chamber of Commerce conferred. They agreed that there was only one sure way to bring down the prices. That way was by competition.

But Willoughby has no charter. The city government could not embark in the coal business. So the next best thing was done.

A community coal yard was opened, pledged to sell coal at a profit not to exceed 35 cents a ton—an excellent profit by the way. Fifteen members of the Chamber of Commerce supplied the funds needed for the plan.

The community yard found it was able to sell coal at $1 a ton less than the prevailing prices.

It did not take the people of Willoughby long to appreciate this fact. The community yard bade fair to obtain a monopoly of the local coal business.

Thereupon the big private companies did the expected thing, the only thing they could do.

THEY CUT PRICES.

That is what competition always does—cuts prices.

What Willoughby did, Cleveland can do. And it can do it more easily because the machinery is provided by Cleveland's charter.

Coal prices and bread prices are higher in Cleveland than in other cities.

A municipal coal yard would bring down the price of coal.

A municipal bread store would bring down the price of bread.

Either or both could be opened after a few days preparation.

Of course to do this would require vision, energy and courage.

Now if handshaking were vision, if good nature were energy, if political expendiency were courage—ah, then we should have action.

The public hall will be a credit to Cleveland and Cleveland wants it. Subways doubtless are a necessity.

But neither of these is as vital to the people of Cleveland as bread prices and coal prices.

The astonishing thing is that City Hall cannot understand this.

Tips For Play-Goers

The Miles

General Manager C. H. Miles, finding that the amateur diving contest now on at the Miles theatre is a big success, will hold it over for the third week. Mr. Miles has made arrangements with a Cleveland society woman to appear on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

She will wear a mask going to and from the theatre and will also wear the mask in the tank.

The Levinos present a study in chalk, making drawings of national interest. Ronair, Ward and Farron, carrying an elaborate set of scenery, present an act full of song and dance and good comedy. Jack Levy and his four sisters come direct off the big time with one of the greatest musical acts now before the public. Sullivan and Mason have a comedy knockabout act, with clever songs and stories. The Celli Opera company, with special elaborate scenery and electrical effects, present operatic scelections. Wallace Reid and Anita King, in the Paramount photo play, "The Squaw Man's Son," closes the bill.

MALL THEATRE

Harold Lockwood in "The Hidden Spring," is the attraction at the Mall theatre, for four days, starting Sunday.

This popular movie hero is making a big hit in this picture. Thousands and thousands saw it at the Alhambra last week in spite of the warm weather.

It's the story of a country lawyer, who uses his fists when moral suasion fails to conquer a bully. Vera Sisson is the leading lady.

The Alhambra closes Sunday night for three weeks, during which time the theatre will be completely redecorated and renovated and other improvements made.

Standard Theatre

Week of July 29th The Standard Theatre presents Wm. Fox's great production "The Innocent Sinner" featuring Miriam Cooper who scored memorably in "The Honor System" "Intolerance" and "The Birth of a Nation". The picture tells of an innocent girl believing a young man from the city who promises to marry her, but who only entices her to a house, keeping her a prisoner. Later he gets killed in a fight and she is accused, of his murder, but is saved by a settlement worker. She is introduced to Dr. Graham at whose dispensary she is and he falls in love with her, and things finally end up brightly for her. This picture is better seen than explained, as the wonderful characters it brings in and also scenes from the underworld, makes this production superior to any seen heretofore. Other attractions will complete anexcellent program.

Luna Park

The bill at Luna Park next week should make special appeal to the children for the feature act is Mlle. Olga's trained leopards. It is one of the best animal acts to be programed at Luna this season. The other five acts on the bill are said to be good and include Ed Zoeller Trio, a comedy acrobatic act; Mlle. Excella, a musical act; Lulu Hunter, a singing comedienne, Milt Woods, a singing and dancing single act.

The vaudeville is presented three times daily at 3, 8 and 9 p. m. and four times on Sunday, at 3, 4, 8, and 9 p. m. Gugliotta's band gives two concerts daily at 2:15 and 7:15 while Sunday concerts are scheduled from 1 to 3 and 5 to 7 p. m. A metropolitan cabaret and free movies are shown nightly in the gardens.

By Mr. Becker

Declaring it necessary to construct storm and sanitary sewers in the Taylor-Caledonia Sewer District No. 5, of the Village of Cleveland Heights Ohio:

Be it Resolved by the Council of the Village of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, that it is necessary to construct a storm and sanitary sewer as provided in plans for a system of sewerage for Taylor-Caledonia Sewer District No. 5 of said Village, which plans were approved and adopted by this Council on the 28th day of May, 1917 and are now on file in the office of the Clerk of this Village:

That the portion of the work provided for in said plans, which is hereby determined to construct, are storm and sanitary sewers within said Taylor-Caledonia Sewer District No. 5 in accordance with plans heretofore prepared and now on file in the office of said Clerk;

Does Her Own Housework Since Tanlac Has Built Up Her Run-Down System

"I am now doing my own housework and it doesn't tire me out like it used to," said Mrs. John A. Kozsey, 2503 E. 23rd st., in telling what Tanlac did for her after she was all run down.

"I was troubled with my stomach for a long time," she continued. "After meals gas formed on my stomach, which made me feel bloated and uncomfortable. I often had dizzy spells and headaches and sometimes I would have chills. My circulation was poor, too, and I had that tired feeling most of the time. No matter how tired I was, however, I couldn't sleep soundly because I was nervous.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel much better. I am not troubled with my stomach, and I don't lie awake nights like I used to. The dizzy spells have disappeared and I feel better all around. Tanlac is certainly a good medicine. I am well please with it."

Tanlac is a purely vegetable tonic made of roots, barks and berries and is especially designed to build up run-down people. If you are in need of a good tonic get it today. It will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

You can get Tanlac at any good drug store in Cleveland. The Tanlac representative at the Standard Drug's Old Arcade store, 411 Euclid ave., will be glad to explain all about this wonderful tonic to you.—Advt.

Elgin Six

Any Man or Woman

can see at a glance that the Elgin Six is not a "cheap Six," but a thoroughly high-grade car, handsome in design, splendid in performance, and equal in every respect to cars selling for two to four hundred dollars more money.

No photograph of the Elgin Six can do it justice. You must see the actual car, and ride in it, to know how roomy and comfortable it is, how steadily and easily it rides.

The mechanical construction is of the highest standard, from the powerful 35 h. p. six-cylinder, valve-in-head motor to the smallest detail. Ride in it once, and you will appreciate its power, speed and control.

The true yacht line body, with the fashionable European center cowl, lends a beauty to Elgin design that never has been equaled. Yet neither comfort nor ease has been sacrificed to beauty, and there is more comfort and "leg room" in the Elgin than you'd expect to find even in a larger car.

Let us tell you about the new records made by the Elgin Six on long tours, and how it has stood the most crucial tests for reliability and economy of operation. Let us explain to you the improved cantilever suspension and the Elgin velvet-acting clutch, a wonderful improvement that makes it safe and easy for a woman to drive a car.

LEGAL NOTICE

Mrs. ....Gallagher, first name unknown, wife of John Gallagher, and whose place of residence is unknown, is hereby notified that on the 25th day of May, 1917, John Bene and Karolin Bene filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being case No. 156648, against her, alleging that they are the owners of the legal title to and are in possession of the following described premises to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being sublot No. 200 in Gill, Brainard, Hower and Hislee Subdivision of part of original One Hundred Acre Lots Nos. 423, 431, 424 and 432 as shown by the recorded plat of said subdivision recorded in Volume 6 of Maps, Page 37 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant Mrs. ....Gallagher claims some interest in said premises adverse and hostile to these plaintiffs, to-wit: That on June 16th, 1874, said John Gallagher conveyed said premises and more land to John B. Bruggeman without stating in the deed by which said conveyance was made whether he was married or single and without release of dower, which deed is recorded in Volume 230, Page 353 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant has no claim or interest in said premises whatever and the claim she makes is unfounded and is a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs. The prayer of said petition is that the title of the plaintiffs to said premises be quieted, and that the defendant be forever barred from having or claiming any right to said premises, that any claim set forth be adjudged null and void, and for such other and further relief as may be just an equitable. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 25th day of August, 1917.

ORDER OF FORESTERS ALLIED WITH ANDREWS SCHOOL IN FINANCIAL HOLDINGS. BOARD MEETING HELD

The last of a series of adjourned meetings of the Trustees of the Andrews Institute for Girls was held at the office Monday afternoon, July 30, at 5:00 o'clock. There were present A. H. Van Gorder, E. M. Orcutt, H. F. Kennedy, W. J. Carmichael, Attorney H. E. Hammar and S. S. Wilson.

This meeting was held to complete and approve the plans of financial assistance to the Institute's interests in New York, namely The New York Steam and the New York Ice Companies. These plans have been some time in formulating and were suggested by F. H. Goff, president of The Cleveland Trust Company and worked out by other financial and legal advisors of the Institute.

It develops that the new monied interests in these companies is under the control of the fraternal organization The Independent Order of Foresters. This strong financial organization is now practically a partner with the Andrews Institute in their holdings of securities of these two allied companies, the Steam and Ice corporations.

Owing to the war conditions the exceedingly high price of coal and labor necessitated both institutions coming temporarily to the rescue of these corporations. This financial plan is far reaching enough to extend if necessary through these trying times. The Forester interest has put into these and their allied companies something over $3,000,000 which is an amount more than equal to what the Andrews Institute has invested in these corporations.

No other matters were taken up.

WHY NOT HAVE A COMMUNITY BUSINESS BOOSTER

Semi-occasional trips to bring Willoughby and its stores, made to the adjoining territories, would certainly do much to bring trade to Willoughby. The reasons why people buy or do not buy in Willoughby when in the Willoughby buying district, could be discovered, and the accomplishment of the attention of personal trips would do much toward putting Willoughby on the buying map. CHARLES OTIS ACTS AS AUCTIONEER AT THE RED CROSS LAWN FETE

Charles Otis and John Sherwin and many other Waite Hill residents contributed much to the success of the splendid Red Cross social given at the home of Mr and Mrs George Cross of the South farm, Thursday last. The guests came early and stayed late. Charles Otis raffled off a lot of colored baby dolls, bringing in a substantial sum thereby. A curiosity shop, filled with numbers of curiosity provoking articles, was a feature of much interest. Margaret Walsh of Willoughby, Marian Parker of Buffalo and Dorothy Cooper of Cleveland assisted in getting up the curiosity shop. The grounds at the Cross home are spacious and especially well adapted for a lawn fete.

Mrs. Charles Otis gave an afternoon tea set which was raffled off. John Sherwin gave a substantial check, and Mrs. Sherwin provided the ice cream, candy, etc. sold. Abbie Glidden of the Parkhurst farm, and Mrs. Lyman Treadway and others also contributed. A quilt, and lunch cloth of filet crochet were raffled off. A pillow from Mrs Erickson brought $15.00. Mrs. Will Dickerson, of Vanama Court, won the tea set. Chas Otis won a lunch cloth and pillow top. The latter he presented to Miss Parker of Buffalo. John Sherwin also won a pillow, and one of the maids at the Treadways, won the quilt. A bean guessing contest in which Mrs Halvey came the nearest by guessing 1330, was a feature. The jar contained 1353 beans. The proceeds were reported as $225.00. The grounds were crowded and the affair was such a delightful success that the participants are thinking of arranging another later this fall. The proceeds go to the Willoughby Red Cross.

CHANGING THE NAME OF LOST NATION ROAD

Quite a little interest has developed in the matter of changing the name of the Lost Nation road. There is a picturesque interest attached to the name that many seem loath to lose. It is probable that there is not another road of the same name in the country, and many folks remember it who do not recall the name of any other road.

"What's in a name?" Oftimes historical interest or interest inducing qualities, that cause many a driver to detour from the beaten tracks.

Long association, too, makes an interesting name as much a part of the community as old houses, inns or other land marks.

CANADIAN THISTLES SHOULD BE BURNED

Numbers of Canadian thistles are in bloom along the Shore line. Dr. Moore suggests that these be burned as they spread rapidly and seeds blown in all directions if allowed to do so.

POWER LOADING MACHINE OF THE ROBERT A. BASESTA CO. ATTRACTS MUCH INTEREST AT NEW ALLOTMENT.

Much interest has been aroused among those who have seen the power wagon-loading machine at work on the McNutt-McCall Company's allotment during the past week. This machine is a new development in street grading machinery, which does the work of many men and horses. It is capable of plowing up the earth and loading a wagon in from thirty to sixty seconds, and is in use by the Rudolph A. Basesta Co., which has the contract for grading the streets in the new allotment. As an example of modern methods of accomplishing quickly by machinery, work which formerly was very laborious and consumed a great length of time, the machine is well worth seeing. The contractor's men work Saturday afternoons, and it is worth the time of almost any person to see this machine in operation.

William Seeley, who has occupied the house on the property for the last seventeen years, has removed to Mentor. The company announces that it will use the house for an allotment office and that its representatives will be on hand every afternoon and evening to welcome all visitors and supply full information regarding the property. The old barns, which have been land marks for many years, have been torn down by John Barnes who has the contract for their removal. One of the streets has been graded through to Ridge road and altogether the property is rapidly being transformed into a well developed residence district.

MANY NEW MEMBERS TAKEN IN AT SCHRAM DISTRICT RED CROSS FETE

(Schram Correspondence)

Last Wednesday evening, July 25th, the second lawn fete for the benefit of the Red Cross was held on the school grounds by the Schram district members. The weather being in their favor a large crowd was present. The grounds were lighted up with Japanese lanterns and the tables and booths were decorated with the stars and stripes, and the Red Cross emblems. The Cleveland Crane and Car band furnished the music, which was enjoyed by all. One of the main features was a pig which was raffled off, and won by N. A. White. The net proceeds were $47.63. Ten dollars of this is to be donated to the Lake County Chapter. Four new members were taken in that evening and six at the meeting the previous week. They are Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Little, Mr. and Mrs. C. Gates of Maple Grove, Mrs. G. F. Wieland of South Euclid, Mrs. G. F. Foss, Miss Elizabeth A. Leuty, Mr. O. Lingafelter and Master Harold Smith, making 48 members up to date. The members wish to thank all those who helped to make the affair the grand success that it was and also thank the Cleveland Crane and Car Band for offering their services free.

"MAKE YOUR FAMILY PATRIOTS UNAWARES," SAYS SPEAKER AT FOOD CONSERVATION MEETING

"Don't take your family too closely into your confidence," said Mrs. Joseph Garvin, of Lakewood, talking to a gathering at the Grace church Friday evening last. "Make them patriots unawares," she suggested, by giving them such clever substitutes for white bread, meats, etc., that they will scarcely note the change.

Mrs. Garvin's talk was upon the subject of food conservation. Miss Belle Sherwin had been scheduled to speak, but found it necessary to send Mrs. Garvin instead. She gave a very interesting talk.

A 30 per cent reduction in the consumption of wheat is required, she said. The allies have never learned to use corn, as we do, and this is no time to teach them, she remarked. The government bulletins giving the new methods of drying, and cold packed method of canning, were recommended. A supply of these will be sent on and may be obtained at the Willoughby Republican office. Miss Bessie Storm also secured a supply.

These bulletins contain a fund of practical information and recipes that can be used to advantage at any time by any housekeeper.

CLEVELAND CRANE AND CAR COMPANY BAND SUPPLY MUSIC AT LAWN FETE

A lawn fete was held on the Catholic church grounds last Thursday evening. The ladies of the congregation were given very short notice but the aid of the young men was enlisted and all worked hard.

For a time there seemed inevitable disappointment regarding music, but at the last moment the Cleveland Crane and Car Co.'s band at Wickliffe were invited and they responded generously. Credit for quick action is due to Hr. W. F. Provo, who in ten minutes, gathered the boys together at the shop and told them what was wanted.

The pastor and people of the Catholic cheurch in Willoughby are most grateful to Mr. Provo and his boys, because their entertainment was very good, and helped to make the lawn fete the financial success it deserved. Gross receipts were $265.12.

The pastor takes this opportunity of thanking all others who assisted by their donations of money, by their untiring interest, by their generous support in the various ways they did, at a time when these things are at a premium and pocket books are well nigh worn out.

WILLOUGHBY CATHOLIC CHURCH DONATES TO THE RED CROSS

Our attention is called by the Rev. W. H. Moseley, to an error in our comment last week in mentioning the donation of the Catholic church to the Red Cross. The comment referred to mentioned that the $20.00 given was from the proceeds of the play given by the church. Rev. Moseley advises however, that it was the unexpectedly high cost of the players and not the music, that prevented the donation from the proceeds of the play being larger. The Republican had received the impression that the players and the musicians, were from out of town, and that the cost of the latter had exceeded anticipations. Rev. Moseley states further that Mrs. McMahon would not accept any remuneration for her services, and commends as exceptional the ability of all who contributed toward the music, all at slight expense.

Rev. Moseley also says:

"We are grateful for the expression of the patient spirit with which all who attended the entertainment submitted to our unintentional repetition of the same play given by the Hilin school boys and girls two weeks previously and which was discovered too late to postpone or change, though by comparison it may be found that our own home talent was very lightly improved upon.

Music is the half of any entertainment, the musicians who "did their bit" on the occasion referred to are all well known residents of Willoughby and deserve commendation both for their ability and generosity."

The Republican is always more than glad of the opportunity to commend the work of any of our local singers or others; and to correct any error, however slight, that may, through misapprehension, occur in its columns.

That beautiful new mansion, the Brooks house, in Mentor, is finished and the family are now occupying it, we noticed as we were passing through Mentor one day last week, but we saw something else that day that far surpassed a fine mansion, and that was the twin boys of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beall, Marshall and Robert, 17 months old. They certainly are cute.

We're thinking our soldier boys will find many uses for the "comfort bag" (that Mrs. Mary Grover wrote about in the Republican recently,) before the war is over with, but people are donating so generously to the Red Cross fund that there will be plenty of material for these comfort bags.

AN ILLUSTRATED WAR BOOK FOR EVERYBODY
Now Selling at 35c Per Copy

Now, more than ever before, Americans are interested in the Army and Navy. It is, in fact, the duty of every patriotic citizen to become familiar with our splendid war vessels and our military strength.

Before long, our boys will be "in the thick of it." Our sons, brothers and friends will soon be making the world safe for Democracy. We must understand the methods they adopt and oppose.

Through a most advantageous arrangement with [illegible], we are now able to offer our readers at a price within the means of everyone, the best book of [illegible] war methods and European war maps:

UNITED STATES
Army & Navy Pictorial
with New War Maps of the World

Here, in one book, will be found all the supplementary reference information the ordinary newspaper reader requires. The maps, printed in striking colors, cover all the battle fronts in detail and on large scale. Practically every town, village and hamlet is included, while elevations, railroads, canals, and international boundaries are given. Maps of the World, Central Europe, the Barred Zones, and the United States are also included.

The Illustrations Are Clear and Authentic

Pictures appeal to everybody; that is the reason for the success of the photoplay and steroptican. Educators tell us that information procured from photographs is more readily grasped and longer retained than from the printed book. For this reason, we have conveyed the naval and military information in this new book through photographs of unusual clearness and interest.

You Must Know How and Where We Fight

This collection of pictures and maps are especially valuable in these busy times. You can visualize your newspaper reading. You can become acquainted with Uncle Sam's forces on land and sea. You will have more use of this book during the coming months than of the encyclopedia and dictionary put together.

This Is The War Encyclopedia

Don't allow yourself to believe the occasional pictures and maps printed in the newspapers will be sufficient for constant use. This is the very reason we are offering you this book. We want to place in your hands something comprehensive, attractive, and durable—something always at hand, ready for reference.

Interesting People---Thoughts--Recipes--Articles for Men and

SOME THOUGHTS FROM THE NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC MAGAZINE

(Written for this paper by Mrs. Mary Grover)

Let us make our soldier boys feel that we are thinking of them. We do know how much that is going to mean to our boys who are going abroad. We do not know how much that means to any soldier who is over in the war zone who is carrying the flag for his country.

Our people are just beginning to realize that we are in this great war. We read about it in the papers and we hear about it from the platform but it has not been impressed upon the people everywhere.

We shall not realize what the war is until our boys, those who are beloved by us, have been exposed to the dreadful dangers, to the character of wounding that is so horrible under this modern system of warfare, and until we go to the bulletins and study the names to see whether those who are near and dear to us have been taken for their country's sake. Then the war will come into us. Then there will be nothing but the war and everything else will be incidental; and we shall not feel the whole measure of our duty, as we must feel it in order to carry this war through.

The Red Cross is the only recognized agency through which we may help to care for the wounded of the armies and the nations that are fighting our battles.

The Red Cross of this country has a problem that no Red Cross has ever had before—that of doing its own work in our own armed forces and at the same time trying to give the greatest possible help to the nations who are in desperate need of help and who are really fighting our battles.

The Red Cross Spirit Speaks:

"I kneel behind the soldiers' trench,
I walk 'mid shambles' smear and stench
The dead I mourn
I bear the stretcher and I bend
O'er Fritz and Pierre and Jack to mend
What shells have torn.
"I go wherever men may dare
I go wherever woman's care
And love can live
Wherever strength and skill can bring
Surcease to human suffering
Or solace give.
"I am your pennies and your pounds
I am your bodies on your rounds
Of pain afar
I am you doing what you would
If you were only where you could
Your avatar
"The cross which on my arm I wear
The flag which o'er my breast I bear
Is but the sign
Of what you'd sacrifice for him
Who suffers on the hellish rim
Of war's red line.

WON'T SEND OUT PLATES OF DRAFT

Publication of all Numbers Likely to Lead to Confusion Among Readers of Country Newspapers.

The American Press Association will not send out in plate form the numbers drawn in the conscription draft believing it better for each publisher to handle it as a local proposition and that few publishers will care to run six or seven columns of figures in order to get the local information which can be covered in a few columns and far more completely.

It has been decided to draw from No. 1 to 5,000. This embraces the largest election district in the country. The numbers drawn from this wheel will apply to all districts in the country. But, for example, should No. 342 be the first number drawn, that number would become No. 1 in a district having, say, only 500 names. Then should No. 1 be drawn No. 1 would become No. 2 in the smaller district. But these numbers would retain there face value in a larger district.

Moreover, these numbers do not correspond to the numbers on the registration cards given to men when they registered.

All of these card numbers have been changed by the local boards. Therefore in order to find out if a certain person has been drawn for conscription it would be necessary to visit the local board, show the number of registration, obtain the number which has been substituted for this card number, then watch for the numbers drawn and discover in what rotation they were drawn. For example, John Brown. His registration card is No. 500. He goes to the local board and finds out that No. 642 has been substituted for 500. Then he must learn that No. 18 in the drawing was the six hundred and forty-second number drawn before he knows he is called for the draft. Under these circumstances it can be seen that the publication of all the numbers drawn will lead only to confusion and be utterly useless, causing not only annoyance to the editors, but possibly leading to many breaches of friendship with their readers.

The most satisfactory way for publishers to handle the draft will be to get from their local draft boards the number substituted for those on the cards issued in their town, get the names of the men lined up with their substitute numbers and then publish only such numbers as are drawn and that apply to his local situation.

MEN WHO PASS DRAFT AGE ARE NOT EXEMPT FROM FUTURE CALLS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—"No man who has reached his thirty-first birthday since registration day or who will reach his thirty-first birthday before the next draft will be exempted from call either in the present draft or any future draft under this law because of his age."

This statement was made tonight by an officer of the provost marshal general's staff in explaining the age limit provision of the selective service act. He added:

"In the same manner of men who reach their twenty-first birthday after registration day will not be subject to military draft under this law. The law is specific in setting out the age limits, and says the age is to be determined as of the day on which the men are registered and not as of the day on which they were or are called for service."

Tips For Play-Goers

The Miles

Coming to the Miles starting Monday is another of General Manager C. H. Miles' banner shows. It has been Mr. Miles' greatest ambition to give to the Cleveland theatre loving public the best that can be obtained in the vaudeville lines, and to this end, Mr. Miles is bringing one of the greatest novelties ever presented on a vaudeville stage, in the Oxford Basket Ball Trio Company who present this novel game in all its stages. Duval and Simmons, who present a great big scenic song review. Albert Perry & Company in their one act comedy, "Donation Day," Browning & Dean in a great big musical production, who turn tin horns into a beautiful musical number.

The Old Homestead Octette sing of old time songs and to close this big summer vaudeville bill will be Vivian Martin in "A Kiss for Susie" and a number of other high class photo plays.

STAR THEATRE

The regular burlesque season opens Saturday night at the Star theatre with the "Best Show in Town" as the opening attraction, the same bill remaining all next week. The "Best Show" is a James E. Cooper production, said to be brand new from the opening to the last curtain, new in scenery, costumes and equipment of all sorts.

Frank Hunter, the popular burlesque comedian, who works in black face, has been provided with a bunch of laughs from the pen of Billy K. Wells. He is assisted in his comedy efforts by Frank Weston, Lynn Cantor, Clara Keating, Earl Gilbert, Bert Lahr, Virginia Ware, The Isabella Sisters, the Davenports and others equally as important. The whole production is said to be of the new style burlesque, being nothing less than a big musical comedy. A host of vaudeville numbers are interpolated throughout the action of the burlesque, among them being Mlle. Davenport and her Parisian Models.

The Star has been entirely redecorated and should make a great bid for patronage the coming season. As in the past seasons, the Star will furnish Columbia Amusement Company attractions exclusively, among the favorites secheduled to appear at the Star the coming season being, Billy Arlington, Billy Watson, Jack Conway, Lon Haskell, Ben Welch, Lew Kelly, Mollie Williams, Rose Sydell, Dave Marion, Dan Coleman and a host of others too numerous to mention.

Standard Theatre

"The Submarine Eye" which opens at the Standard Theatre August 5th for one week is a marvel of undersea photography. The movies have seemingly up to now used every possible dilemma in which the hero faces death, but the situation in this new picture is unique in movie annals. Besides seeing the wonders of the bottom of the ocean this picture has a beautiful story, and carries the audience right with it, and one hates to see its finish. A young inventor goes down into the deep to pick up a buried treasure. He is a novice at the work, the regular diver having refused through fear of sharks. When he reaches the chest and raises the lid he looks up as a shark hovers above him. In that moment the cover falls on both his hands holding them like a vise.

Still higher is the daughter of a wealthy man who has induced her father to back the young man's invention, an inverted periscope or the Submarine Eye, through which he discovered the treasure and lend him his yacht. She is frantic because she can see his plight through the periscope and that is the very instant she realizes she loves him. The United States Navy is brought and he is saved with the treasure in his arms and the story ends with lots of other happenings better seen than described. It is only in a life time that we can see a wonder like this, so a word to the wise is sufficient.

MALL THEATRE

A real summer show is at the Mall theatre starting Sunday—for four days. It's "Miss Robinson Crusoe," featuring dainty Emmy Wehlen. All of the scenes were made among the Thousand Islands, the summer retreat for those of society. A millionaire's home was utilized in making the scenes inside and about the house. The play is a comedy drama, the kind of a play in which Miss Wehlen excells.

The Mall announces that it will shortly show the latest picture featuring Bryant Washburn, entitled "Skinner's Baby." The date will be announced next week.

Luna Park

A well balanced bill of six acts is promised for Luna Park for the week beginning next Sunday. The Melrose Trio is the featured act. The other five acts on the bill include Bernard Carmen, who is billed as the man upside down; Gilbert and Taylor, a musical act; the Stickneys, who present a parlor circus; Schuster, the accordion master, and Cranston and Lee, who offer bits of Ireland, make up the rest of the bill.

The vaudeville is presented three times daily, at 3, 8 and 9 p. m., and four times on Sunday, at 3, 4, 8, and 9 p. m. Gugliotta's band will give a band concert on Sunday from 1 to 3 p. m. A metropolitan cabaret and free movies are presented in the gardens nightly after 8.

Lake Luna, the largest artificial bathing beach in the middle west, is doing a capacity business now that the weather has warmed up. All the park concessions are breaking records for attendance. This is especially true with the riding concessions.

Mrs. ....Gallagher, first name unknown, wife of John Gallagher, and whose place of residence is unknown, is hereby notified that on the 25th day of May, 1917, John Bene and Karolin Bene filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being case No. 156648, against her, alleging that they are the owners of the legal title to and are in possession of the following described premises to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being sublot No. 300 in Gill, Brainard, Hower and Higbee Subdivision of part of original One Hundred Acre Lots Nos. 423, 431, 424 and 432 as shown by the recorded plat of said subdivision recorded in Volume 5 of Maps, Page 37 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant Mrs. ....Gallagher claims some interest in said premises adverse and hostile to these plaintiffs, to-wit: That on June 16th, 1874, said John Gallagher conveyed said premises and more land to John B. Bruggeman without stating in the deed by which said conveyance was made whether he was married or single and without release of dower, which deed is recorded in Volume 230, Page 353 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant has no claim or interest in said premises whatever and the claim she makes is unfounded and is a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs. The prayer of said petition is that the title of the plaintiffs to said premises be quieted, and that the defendant be forever barred from having or claiming any right to said premises, that any claim set forth be adjudged null and void, and for such other and further relief as may be just an equitable. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 25th day of August, 1917.

WITH AN EASY, MODERN, SCIENTIFIC METHOD OF TREATMENT AVAILABLE WHO WANTS TO BE A SLAVE OF LIQUOR OR DRUGS

A West Virginia physician sends the Neal Institution a warm letter of gratitude, a part of which we quote in public channels for the benefit of those who may desire just such help as can be obtained at the Neal Sanitarium.

"I will now write and tell you I am feeling good. I am 21 pounds heavier than when I came to your Institute....... have taken up my practice again and am enjoying life since freed from the need of narcotics. Doctor, I thank you very much for the assistance you gave me, for I know how to appreciate a good thing when I get it."

The original letter dated November 12th, 1916, is in our files and upon your visit of investigation, the Superintendent at the Sanitarium will be pleased to let you read it. This Doctor was very weak and emaciated from the habitual use of morphine and it is easy to imagine his joy at gaining over 20 pounds in so short a period of time after treatment.

It only requires an intimate knowledge of our work to satisfy one of its true merit. The staff cordially invites your investigation if you have a friend or relative who is the victim of the drink or drug habit.

The best place in the world to get rid of your troubles is at the Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. Phone Rosedale [illegible]. Open day and night. Other Neal Institutes located at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

After The War Garden---What?
By Not Wasting Their Surplus!
Save the food grown near home distance adds expense.
"We eat what we can and what we can't eat we "CAN," is an old pun with a new message to Cleveland housewives.
Let the war garden cut food costs and save space in railway cars NOW—let the thrifty, patriotic housewife's canning bee save food costs and unnecessary shipping next winter.
Eat more bulky foods save breadstuffs for export.
Preserve the surplus! Every jar of fruit or vegetables put down cellar means that much less waste a direct contribution to the success of America and her allies.
Cleveland made a wonderful record in the Liberty Loan and Red Cross campaigns. Gas Service is so cheap in Cleveland that we have an additional reason to lead also in the national movement to save the food supply at home.

Service

Scarcely any commodity today is bought or sold without service being part of the transaction. The old cash box is replaced with a modern register that flashes the amount and hands you a receipt.

Fast tubes handle your change so that you do not have to wait.

Your purchases are delivered to your door in motor trucks.

Restaurants, rest rooms and hospitals are part of every large retail establishment.

Banks keep your valuables in fire and theft proof vaults at slight cost compared to the safety provided.

The humblest home may have its supply of Electric power and the same service accorded to the larest user.

These are but a few examples of the service which is such an important factor in all business.

War may interfere with the standards of service which American business has set up. It is very costly in men and money. The former will be scarce—the latter must be conserved.

It is plainly the duty of every citizen to think of the cost of service—to make no unnecessary use of it—so that standards of service may suffer as little as possible through lack of means to maintain them.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 28. WILLOUGHBY, O., AUGUST 10, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

Robbery Approximating Six Thousand Dollars Occurs at Penfield Home

A robbery which will approximate possibly six thousand dollars, occurred at the home of L. W. Penfield last Thursday night.

Mrs. Scott Browning, of Toledo, guest at the Penfields, is the loser. The Penfields and their guests had been at the Willowick club for dinner. Upon returning, the guests, intending to drive to the Hollenden in Cleveland, left their machine in front of the Penfield residence while the luggage was carried out. The bag containing the jewels was taken out with the first lot, and it is assumed that it was stolen during the time that the chauffeur returned to the house for the remaining baggage. The loss was discovered after the party reached the Hollenden, when they phoned back to Willoughby.

Previous to the bag being carried from the house, Mrs. Browning had opened it and dropped in the gold mesh bag which she had carried to the club. Previously, she had placed her wedding ring, a circle of diamonds set in platinum, within it. She retained and wore two other rings and a watch.

Ear rings, bar pins and prized jewels from Paris, Bermuda and other points were in the stolen bag. The supposition is that the machine had been watched for the opportunity. The robbery occured at about 10:30 Thursday night. The bag contained possibly six thousand dollars worth of diamonds alone. A vanity case valued at $750.00, gold mesh bag valued at one thousand dollars, and numerous other valuable articles were among the contents. Mr. Browning has authorized a reward of $500.00 for the return of the bag and contents as will be found in another column.

The Wickliffe Red Cross is progressing splendidly. The members are enthusiastic in their praise of Mrs. Coulby's efforts in the work. Recently, some of the women of the community not having been in attendance at the meetines, Mrs. Coulby, accompanied by Mrs. Tyte, made a personal trip to the homes of the non-comers, to bring them into the Red Cross fold, and the personal campaign met with much success.

Mayor Coulby recently presented the Wickliffe Red Cross chapter with $500.00. The first Friday in each month is an all day gathering, some of the ladies coming in the morning, and some in the afternoon. Forty-two were in attendance last Friday. The finished work is sent directly to Washington. Mrs. Coulby makes two trips per week to Cleveland in order to keep in touch with the latest needs and requirements of the work.

Home made ice cream and tea were treats supplied at the all day meeting in the Bay Tree house where the meetings are held last Friday.

The company have been operating a successful restaurant for their men, and they are now engaged in the erection of a large, light building 60x190, which will be used as a new restaurant and pattern shop. A new brass foundry has just been opened up. The office building will be remodeled and extended out to meet the factory. The new restaurant will probably be opened in about a month. Elliott & Knox, of Cleveland, are the architects. The interest of the men and the town taken by C. C. Robbins, president of the company, is reciprocated by the 250 employees now on the pay roll.

FAIRIES ROMP AND PANDORA LETS OUT TROUBLES WHEN CHILDREN HAVE THEIR NIGHT FOR RED CROSS BENEFIT IN MENTOR

Fairies romped, troubles frolicked, and Pandora danced and repented of her curiosity, while an admiring audience from Mentor and nearby points applauded, at the Red Cross benefit given at the Mentor town hall, Monday night. Mr. R. N. Whitcomb voiced the sentiments of the entire audience in a brief speech, between the acts, when he expressed thanks and appreciation to Miss Lewis, who staged the play, coached the children; Red Cross workers; to Mrs. Barrows, Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Harding and other children; to the mothers who helped and who made the costumes; and to the children themselves, who worked faithfully for six weeks. Forty children took part in the presentation of the play. Miss Minola LaDue took the part of "Pandora" and did splendidly. Miss Mary LaDue led the Fairies' dance. Lawrence Mills, who took the part of "Epimetheus," also did excellently. The stage was decorated as a Grecian garden. Miss Lewis presided at the piano. Martha Clapp made a delightful "Hope," and spoke her part with most commendable seriousness and charm for such a little girl.

Unusual Times

We are facing the most extraordinary situation in the history of our country.

It is impossible to foresee the exact outcome, but it is certain that the one essential before all others is now and will continue to be money.

Money must be earned and saved with a steadiness and zeal beyond anything in the past.

The welfare of the individual, the community and the nation requires it.

It is highly important to safeguard your savings by establishing and maintaining a relationship with a good bank.

The Cleveland Trust Company is a quarter of a century old, has had a steady and conservative growth, has assets of over fifty nine million dollars, operates under four unusual policies for the protection of its patrons' interests, and conducts its business on a basis of efficiency, courtesy and convenience.

BILLIE BURKE TO BE FEATURED MONDAY EVENING AT THE HIAWATHA

It's going to be fashionable to attend the Hiawatha theatre Monday nights beginning next Monday, Aug. 13th.

They are showing for the first time the opening installment of George Kleine's greatest photographic achievement the most costly, most elaborate, most absorbingly interesting motion picture novel ever screened beautiful Billie Burke in Gloria's Romance. In her role of Gloria Stafford, daughter of a millionaire, Billie Burke experiences joy, sorrow, happiness, fear and jealousy almost every emotion conceivable in fact. Mystery, suspicion and intrigue are all about her. The clever way in which she solves her problems make the story more fascinating week by week.

During the production Miss Burke will wear some of the most beautiful, elaborate and magnificent gowns ever seen on the screen. Many of them were specially designed for her by Lady Duff Gordon. The story is by those masters of fiction—Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes, and is unquestionably the best of their many novels. A notable cast, headed by Henry Kolker, interprets the story, every player being a star of note. Here is surely one photoplay that you cannot afford to miss. Everyone will be talking about it. You must see it. It is shown for the first time. Beginning at the Hiawatha theatre Monday, Aug. 13th. Two episodes each night. Then too there are two reel featuring little Mary McAlister each night in "Do Children Count." Mothers you mustn't miss this.

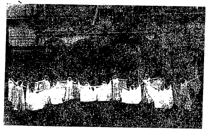
ANDREWS' SCHOOL FOR GIRLS AT WILLOUGHBY ATTRACTS MUCH INTEREST

The Andrews' school for girls, at Willoughby, attracts the attention of teachers and individuals interested in all forms of education, far and near. It also attracts the interest of publications desirous of featuring the points of interest in the community. One of the latest of these is a write-up in Cleveland Town Topics by Edith L. Sommer. Believing our readers will be interested in the Town Topics article on the up-to-date methods, and the plans of the school, we will reproduce it upon this page:

To leaven the serious business of girls' lives, of work and of wage-earning with a knowledge of and a taste for the esthetics, is the worthy aim of every teacher on the faculty of the Andrews Institute for Girls in Willoughby. Girls graduating from the institute must be more than just efficient, finely trained workers in the trades and less academic professions. Every teacher believes that it is a girl's birthright to be happy, and to be happy a girl needs a good knowledge of life's niceties. She needs to know what the refining influences are; she needs some knowledge of the arts, amusements, laws of health and courtesy, and she needs to learn to ascertain for herself what the worth-while things in life are. Here she is given the opportunity. Here the manners of girls are watched as carefully as are their morals.



Pageant on Lawn at Andrews

To begin with there is the [illegible] of physical education. The [illegible] are graded with [illegible] such exercises [illegible] ally [illegible] the ex[illegible] gymnastic games, [illegible] something; for others [illegible] bell and wand drills, [illegible] and folk dancing. In all [illegible] grace and a charm of manner is the aim. At commencement and holiday times there are pageants, playlets and exhibitions.

Music classes provide for the fundamentals of the art. Girls are taught to read and know music intelligently; their singing and speaking [illegible] are cultivated correctly, the teachers believing the universality of this art to be conducive to the higher development of a girl.

In the academic courses certain studies are correlated and supplemented to the trade-training. It is the school's aim to keep a girl's intellect well abreast with her increasing skill in her adopted trade or profession. The study of English covers the fundamentals of the language. It includes grammar, composition, social and business letter writing and spelling. History is taught so that it will cover the ground any well informed young woman needs to know about the subject in relation to national life, civic problems, methods and manners of government.

One of the recent innovations in the school is the oral discussion of current topic at stated periods, the teachers urging every pupil to enter into the discussion freely, by expressing her opinion and asking questions. Often magic lantern and stereopticon pictures are used to illustrate the subjects.

It is often a touching thing to the beholder to see how great an effort some of these future wage-earners make to acquire the social amenities which go far in making up the sum total of personality. In this every teacher appreciates every one helps.

It was the noon luncheon hour at the school the other day. Without confusion the girls filed in, and from the temporary serve-self arrangement at one end of the school room [illegible] food which [illegible] the day. included, and girls here get practical lessons in how to plan and cook in large quantities.

Even the homely business of eating a serve-self luncheon from a tray off a school desk is made less ugly by the cleanliness, cheeriness, orderliness of the girls. Conversation in well modulated tones is the rule, with cheerfulness thrown in for good measure. The ever-watchful teachers circulating about the room will quickly discover a wrong use of a knife or fork or other [illegible]. A whispered "Anna, [illegible]," intended only for Anna's ear, will be sufficient for her not to make the same mistake again. Then perhaps a teacher's whispered, "Helen, don't slouch in your chair," will be followed by an encouraging caress upon the straightening shoulders."

It is a womanly way these teachers have with their pupils, a way which somehow can't fail to bring out the best in each individual pupil.

AS TO TAXATION OF MORTGAGES

A proposed constitutional amendment to exempt mortgages from taxation will be on the ballot at the election, November 5, 1918.

Now that the Supreme Court has declared unconstitutional the Kimball law exempting no types from taxation, the only chance for relief from double taxation and to make a dent in the antiquated, dishonest uniformity rule in the Ohio constitution, is to adopt the mortgage exemption amendment.

Under the constitution of Ohio, real estate is returned for taxation at its full value.

If that value is $5,000, for instance, taxes are assessed on that basis and the owner pays the tax. There may be a mortgage of $2,000 against the property. This mortgage must also be taxed at its face value and at the same rate as the real estate. This is double taxation in its most pernicious form.

If the proposed amendment is adopted, the legislature may exempt mortgages from taxation or it may permit of the deduction of the mortgage from the appraised value of the real estate.

In either case, the legislature may require the payment of an annual filing fee.

The fee plan is a splendid success in those communities where it is in force. The filing fees pour into the tax coffers hundreds of thousands of dollars more than the tax on mortgages, simply because holders of mortgages can and do fail to return them for taxation.

"FORGIVE ME" WRITES DRINKING MAN'S MOTHER

"Will you forget me" writes this happy mother. "I mislaid your letter asking about my son and so forgot it. Let me say I am thankful I called on you that day. The results are splendid. My son hasn't touched a drop since he took the Neal Treatment and looks fine. I am grateful to the Neal Treatment and to you all personally."

Just another one of those many letters that we receive every day from mother's and wives and sisters, returning thanks to the Neal Treatment for the restoration of a loved one. If only we could give you a sheaf of these letters in your home and let you read them yourself, no further word of ours would be necessary.

From almost every city and town and crossroads village men come to the Neal Institutes in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit for treatment for the drink habit and go home relieved of the curse of drink, spreading about the tidings of what the Neal has done for them. They know what it is to suffer that uncontrollable craving for drink. They know that the Neal changes this to an intense dislike for anything alcoholic by cleaning their system of the poison of alcohol. That's why these former patients of ours send in 75% of the New Patients received at the Neal Institute.

Only three days, of easy, harmless, safe treatment under ideal conditions. Are you going to hesitate and put it off again or are you going to look in to the Neal Treatment now and save yourself years of unhappiness and lost opportunities for business success and personal health?

Tips For Play-Goers

The Miles

Burch and Burch are the big headlines for this week.

General Manager C. H. Miles, brings the coming week another of his famous shows, the headliner will be Frank and Kitty Burch with new songs, dances and chatter.

Frank Lorain and Betty Ross will be the extra added attraction in their famous whirl wind skit The Black Jack.

Frank Kenney, the street faker has an original and entertaining monologue, built about the familiar street character he impersonates, the act is filled with comedy.

Raymond Bard is to present a little homespun comedy entitled, "At the Close of Dawn." Elizabeth Baxter gives him admirable support. The story has to do with a diamond merchant, and a young woman from the country making her first trip to the city.

George and Marie Staaton in their droll, daffydill travestry comedians, who present Back to Africa. May and Frank Arnold who swing clubs and juggle are said to do them all equally well. Frank and Betty Taylor are pantomime acrobats who do many daring stunts calling their act Bumps and Bumps.

Closing this big show is the world's greatest photoplay called "The Tanks" At the Battle of Ancre," a five part photoplay subject, showing the marvelous British Tanks in action, and this is the first time, that these tanks have been shown publicly in this country, the world war has been responsible for wonderful inventions, but none of them has gained distinction of the mechanical monsters called Tanks, which the British are so successfully using against the Germans on the western front. The same popular prices prevail for both of these wonderful attractions.

THE TANKS AT THE BATTLE OF ANCRE

Nothing so tensely gripping, so horribly realistic, will ever be seen as the official British war pictures, "The Tanks in Action at the Battle of Ancre," presented by the War Relief Fund through the Pathe Exchange, and which will be in Cleveland all next week at the Miles, starting Monday. Care has been taken to impress the spectator of the pictures that they are real and not a cheap imitation of the real thing, as so many of the so-called present day "war pictures" are. Every phase of every day life of the fighting soldier of the present world war has been caught by the camera; his work, his few pleasures and even his retreats under fire. Throughout the pictures, though, the thing most evident is the seeming happiness of the soldier, his cheerful optimism, as proved by his smile every time the camera catches him off his guard. In the scene showing the tanks the novelty of seeing something the like of which has never been seen before furnishes enjoyment. Few scenes of these monster creations are shown, but these are enough to show what a powerful factor they are in the equipment of the present day army.

Being an eye-witness to one of the greatest and most collossal battles in the world's history, being able to watch the brave troops charge out of the first line trenches thru a curtain of fire, and amid, the torrent of shells, attack the enemy, is a privilege granted to but few who remain to tell of the wonders and the grim drama of the modern warfare.

Yet this opportunity to see the actual history of the great world war in its making, told as only the unlying eyes of the motion picture camera can record, is given everyone who attends the Miles Theatre the entire week starting Monday, when that theatre will present the official British War Pictures, "The Tanks" in action at the Battle of Ancre," as part of the greatest feature program ever presented in America.

By special arrangement with the War Relief Fund, of which W. K. Vanderbilt is President, C. H. Miles Managing Director of the Miles Theatre, has secured the exclusive right in Cleveland for the presentation of these remarkable war films, which are issued by authority of the British Government and are authentic and actual scenes taken on the battlefield.

STAR THEATRE

Manager Frank Drew is offering the latest edition of the "Golden Crook" extravaganza company as the attraction at the Star theatre for the week beginning with next Monday's matinee. This is one of the elaborate productions of the Columbia Amusement Co. It is a show that is attractive to both men and women, as there is an absence of anything offensive in the entire performance. The prime elements which go to make up the program are comedy, music that tingles and dancing that charms. A galaxy of accomplished ballet dancers introduce several of the latest Parisian concepts, which are full of rhythmic grace and animation. A special dancing number is that of Hite and Fellow, a pair of foolish steppers who combine the old with the new in pleasing fashion.

Everybody knows Billy Arlington, the classic interpreter of tramp character who heads the able cast. Arlington has many imitators, but no peers in his particular line and his work is refreshingly spontaneous. He is surrounded by a roster of principals which includes Frank DeVoe, Eleanor Cockran, Harlie Mayne, the Pall Mall trio, composed of Edward Hennessy, Walter Lafoy and Carl Taylor, and a chorus of thirty, mostly girls and talented at that.

EMPIRE THEATER

The opening attraction at the Empire theatre next Monday will be one of special importance, and somewhat of an innovation, when a superior company of singing and dancing comedy experts and prize beauties, under the established, trade mark of "The Whirly, Girlie Girls" will be presented.

This season's program embraces every form of attractive amusement, furnished by a company of favorites, including outside of the well known comedian, Bennie Small, Teresa Adams, "The Australian Nightingale" John Bowman, called 'burlesque's best straight man;" Helen Spencer, the "magnoetic soubret;" William P. Murphy, late comic opera star; Tiney Hilson, ingenue; Joe Smith, Lee Hickman and a large beauty chorus.

"Me, Him and I" and "The Suffragette's Jail," a two-act cyclonic whirl of music and merriment, is the title of the musical comedy presented, in which is introduced twenty-two spectacular feature and ensemble members, vaudeville hit headliners and reviews of the current year.

The Six High Steppers, late of Lew Field's "Step Lively" and Montgomery & Stone's "Chin Chin" companies, are one of the big vaudeville numbers and should prove to be popular burlesquers on this their first appearance.

The Empire theatre has been renovated and redecorated, an should do a big business all season. As last season, American circuit attractions will be played.

MALL THEATRE

Another of those popular Skinner pictures comes to the Mall theatre, for four days, starting Sunday.

This time it is "Skinner's Baby" with the same cast of Essanay players, including Bryant Washburn and Hazel Daly.

The story is one of everyday life in which the welcome mat is spread in front of the door of the cozy little Skinner cottage, for the Stork. An heir (a boy) is expected and Mr. Skinner is greatly excited. He has laid many plans for his son to come, even picturing him as a future president. But "Honey" Skinner, his wife is apprehensive. She sees visions of twins, etc. The story ends, however, with a great surprise, but nevertheless happily for all.

Luna Park

The Great Stantell and company, a team of sensational and comedy athletes, is the headliner of six acts at Luna Park next week. The other five acts on the bill include Frank Renzetta, eccentric genius; Sadie Sherman, a singing comedienne; James and Agnes Du Vea, "stately first dancers;" Elverton, the spinning marvel and the Bernard trio, a singing and dancing novelty team. Vaudeville is presented three times daily at 3, 8 and 9 p. m. and four times on Sunday at 3, 4, 8 and 9 p. m. Gugliotta's band gives daily concerts at 2.15 and 7.15, while Sunday concerts are scheduled from 1 to 3 and 5 to 7 p. m.

Standard Theatre

Owing to the great demand, "The Submarine Eye" will be held over for another week at the Standard theatre. This will be a chance for the crowds that are daily turned away to see this most wonderful photoplay. Great credit is given the Williamson Bros. for bringing to our very doors the wonders of the bottom of the ocean, and the buried secrets of the seas, and we hope the United States government may benefit by this great invention to lessen the sacrificing of humanity. All other attractions are changed.

LEGAL NOTICE

Mrs. ....Gallagher, first name unknown, wife of John Gallagher, and whose place of residence is unknown, is hereby notified that on the 25th day of May, 1917, John Bene and Karolin Bene filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being case No. 156618, against her, alleging that they are the owners of the legal title to and are in possession of the following described premises to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being sublot No. 300 in Gill, Brainard, Hower and Higbee Subdivision of part of original One Hundred Acre Lots Nos. 423, 431, 424 and 432 as shown by the recorded plat of said subdivision recorded in Volume 5 of Maps, Page 37 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant Mrs. ....Gallagher claims some interest in said premises adverse and hostile to these plaintiffs, to-wit: That on June 16th, 1874, said John Gallagher conveyed said premises and more land to John B. Bruggeman without stating in the deed by which said conveyance was made whether he was married or single and without release of dower, which deed is recorded in Volume 230, Page 353 of Cuyahoga County Records. Plaintiffs further say that the defendant has no claim or interest in said premises whatever and the claim she makes is unfounded and is a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs. The prayer of said petition is that the title of the plaintiffs to said premises be quieted, and that the defendant be forever barred from having or claiming any right to said premises, that any claim set forth be adjudged null and void, and for such other and further relief as may be just an equitable. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 25th day of August, 1917.

Does Her Own Housework Since Tanl ac Has Built Up Her Run-Down System

"I am now doing my own housework and it doesn't tire me out like it used to," said Mrs. John A. Kozsey, 2503 E. 23rd st., in telling what Tanlac did for her after she was all run down.

"I was troubled with my stomach for a long time," she continued. "After meals gas formed on my stomach, which made me feel bloated and uncomfortable. I often had dizzy spells and headaches and sometimes I would have chills. My circulation was poor, too, and I had that tired feeling most of the time. No matter how tired I was, however, I couldn't sleep soundly because I was nervous.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel much better. I am not troubled with my stomach, and I don't lie awake nights like I used to. The dizzy spells have disappeared and I feel better all around. Tanlac is certainly a good medicine. I am well please with it."

Tanlac is a purely vegetable tonic made of roots, barks and berries and is especially designed to build up rundown people. If you are in need of a good tonic get it today. It will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

You can get Tanlac at any good drug store in Cleveland. The Tanlac representative at the Standard Drug's Old Arcade store, 111 Euclid ave. will be glad to explain all about this wonderful tonic to you.—Advt.

Economy of coal that saves more coal for the railroads with which to increase transportation facilities for foodstuffs and munitions.

This economy can be carried still further by conserving central station Service by making no unnecessary use of electric light or power. This will result in a saving of fuel and equipment, of which more than the available supply is needed for the prosecution of the war.

The Best Cure for the Blues

A little cash tucked safely into an account at this bank, and built up by repeated additions, is good medicine for melancholy.

Today's work and tomorrow's prospects are improved when surplus money is earning interest at 4 percent here.

No one can tell what the war will bring forth, but everybody knows that money will be needed, and the people who will have money and the advantages it brings are the people who are saving regularly now. Open an account this week or add to what you have, and get the fine feeling of independence that comes with cash.

Economy of coal that saves more coal for the railroads with which to increase transportation facilities for foodstuffs and munitions.

Economy of man-power by concentration of effort that releases workers for the many other pressing needs of the nation.

This economy can be carried still further by conserving central station Service by making no unnecessary use of electric light or power. This will result in a saving of fuel and equipment, of which more than the available supply is needed for the prosecution of the war.

"AN HOUR'S FRETTING CONSUMES ENOUGH FORCE TO DO HALF A DAY'S WORK," SAYS DR. PICKARD IN SPLENDID SUNDAY MORNING SERMON

Dr. Ward Beecher Pickard is occupying the pulpit at the Willoughby Methodist church during the absence of Rev. Bright. Sunday he talked to an interested audience on the sin of fretting. "Fret not thyself," he said, "it tendeth only to evil doing. Fret and friction come from the same root. They are closely related."

He spoke of the injunction in the Bible to gather up the fragments of the feast, so that none may be wasted, which the government is now repeating to us. To look forward, to plan is wise, to think is a part of wisdom, but we can think, he said, without fret; we can fret without thinking a sane or reasonable thought.

He drew a parable from the English sparrows, who scolded and fretted and fumed until a pair of beautiful and peaceful orioles who had settled near the sparrows, took to their wings and flew away. And, Dr. Pickard continued, they never came back. This way we too, drive away the larger little joys of life by useless fretting and worrying, he outlined. "Keep your soul in peace," he said, "and the orioles of life will come, and you will be a joy and a blessing to your neighbors and yourself. Spend no time in brooding over the sins and mistakes of the past. To fret over one's faults and failures would keep one employed forever. After God has forgiven them, have sense enough to leave them alone."

Fretting and worrying is contagious. Fretters and worriers should be quarantined. Even a horse will catch the spirit of a fretful, impatient driver. "If you can't drive a horse without fret, practice on a Ford," he advised.

Fretting, he said, [illegible] won't lower the price of coal, or shorten the length [illegible]. Neither will it decrease the price or increase the size of a piece [illegible]. But it will use up valuable energy. What you can't help, no use to fret. What you can help, no excuse for fretting about.

Many [illegible] exempted from the [illegible] of [illegible] work, [illegible] by [illegible] worry. Work [illegible] must [illegible] with ourselves. Are we [illegible] over working or over fretting, and expending thereby needed energy. "An hour's fretting consumes enough force to do half a day's work. Let us have faith in ourselves and others. Be [illegible]. Fretting and [illegible] God's plan.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

The bow is fixed, the hatches are fast
The moon is up, we're off at last
To where the Bay of Biscay laves
And dashes high the blue sea waves,
To some port in France.

We are going to lick the Kaiser
His Royal Nibs, the sinner,
We'll teach him that the sea
Is open wide and free
When we get off in France.

So fare-thee-well my darling
Sweetheart ever bright and charming
And may those eyes so blue,
And your heart be ever true
When I'm somewhere in France.

And if I don't come back
As mayhap my fortunes lack,
Then you'll know I'm 'neath the sod,
When the lilies bend and nod,
Somewhere in France.

Quest For Beauty At Andrews School -:-The War Garden-:-List of Teachers

Much stress is laid upon a girl's promptness, consideration for others, exactness and above all cleanliness. It is demonstrated to pupils in the course [illegible] daily lessons and during practical experience that order is not an artificial quality cultivated because we need to fear what people will think if we are disorderly, but because without order and cleanliness neither beauty nor [illegible] is possible.

And the quest for beauty is kept up vigilantly as a leavening, becoming vitally necessary in the business of living.

Exemplification of this point may be [illegible]

[illegible] always [illegible] how to meet [illegible] to suit styles [illegible] harmony, and [illegible] manship she is [illegible] drafting of patterns [illegible] hand decoration and history [illegible]

[illegible] conservation [illegible] today more [illegible] and in the [illegible] the pupil what [illegible] waste [illegible] with the realization [illegible] answer [illegible] of the school [illegible] the practice

[illegible] mothers and teachers [illegible] thrift and economy as a means [illegible] efficiency [illegible] waste elimination [illegible] the home-making course [illegible] the newly acquired land, where [illegible] of the institution [illegible] war garden [illegible] under cultivation [illegible] girl [illegible]

Perhaps the most [illegible] result [illegible] at the institute lies in the fact that many of the girl's faculties are [illegible] for the purpose [illegible] taught [illegible] trained to think and quickly to meet [illegible] where certain [illegible] lacking. They are taught to think and act with dispatch.

Outsiders coming into the institution to have work done there, allow girls a contact with life which farther broadens them. Even through the years of their training they get a practical experience in what constitutes the demands and supplies of business.

Life's first claim upon a girl is that she be a home-maker. However, her gifts for a professional or business career may be developed, every girl is taught first and foremost to be mistress of the housewifely arts. Nature has endowed her with a disposition to respond to every appeal of human need, and the first human need is with the child in the home. Caring for and nursing children is but a part of the thorough home-making course.

Recent statistics revealed the fact that 87 per cent of the women of marriageable age today are marrying. What better training can the average woman get than one in which she will at once be a specialist in trade or profession and a thorough mistress of the art of home making.

Guiding the future destiny of the school and its graduates is Mr. Sidney S. Wilson, than whom a keener, broader visioned, more practical man of affairs is hard to find. He is general manager of the institute. Mr. Sherwood D. Shankland is superintendent and the following are officers of instruction and administration: Mary W. Seeve, Director of Domestic Science and Cottage Departments; Evelyn M. W[illegible], Director of [illegible] Department; Betty Forbes, Cottage Head; Amanda [illegible]; [illegible] M. Sure-Test Sterilizer

Every report from the Agricultural Department emphasizes the need of canning fruits and vegetables while in season for the coming winter.

Never has the demand for labor saving devices in this line been so great and we are constantly on the watch for any new inventions as soon as they appear on the market.

The new Sure-Test Sterilizer is the best we have yet shown. The rack separates into eight compartments so that the jars cannot touch, is strongly built and stands high enough to allow the water to circulate freely. The round sterilizer can be heated on one gas burner, saving gas and space and is so deep that complete immersion is assured. Complete $5.00

Our demonstrator will answer any of your canning or evaporating questions and will gladly show you the many useful canning accessories we have.

are possible if you will wear a scientifically constructed Bien Jolie Brassiere.

The dragging weight of an unconfined bust so stretches the supporting muscles that the contour of the figure is spoiled.

BIEN JOLIE (BE-AN JO-LEE) BRASSIERES put the bust back where it belongs, prevent the full bust from having the appearance of flabbiness, eliminate the danger of dragging muscles and confine the flesh of the shoulder giving a graceful line to the entire upper body.

They are the daintiest and most serviceable garments imaginable—come in all materials and styles: Cross Back, Hook Front, Surplice, Bandeau, etc. Boned with "Walohn," the rustless boning—permitting washing without removal.

Let Us Waste Nothing

Voltaire wrote many years ago: "To conserve is almost as good as to make." A truth well worth applying in these days of war.

A dollar saved by WISE economy is a dollar earned, not only for the saver, but also for the nation.

Eliminating waste of food has the same result as increasing food production.

Making all resources go as far as possible provides a reserve for emergencies. This is true of electric light and power.

There is urgent need of all the electrical energy which can be made and distributed. It is a public duty to conserve it. Every unit will be produced which our present facilities and their most efficient use will permit. It will be difficult to increase facilities; additional equipment is almost unobtainable. The manufacturers are flooded with orders, and the government requirements get the right of way.

But Illuminating Service will be as efficient and as dependable as ever, if it is used without waste.

TURN OUT THE LIGHTS YOU DON'T NEED—CUT OUT THE POWER YOU DON'T USE.

DODGE HIGH FOOD COSTS

Facts are facts and must be faced. Unless the Cleveland housewife does her bit THIS SUMMER the grocery bill must be high NEXT WINTER.

Tin is short. Packers of food products like beans and soups, makers of toilet articles packed in tin containers, etc., have been warned by the Government that their supply may be limited.

Glass is short. Milk men, manufacturers of food specialties put up in glass, etc., have already found difficulty in getting supplies.

Cars are short. Government supplies have the right of way and goods for private use must wait.

If you depend wholly upon foodstuffs from the store next winter you can expect to pay for your unpreparedness.

Can, preserve, dry food now while you can buy it in bulk cheaply. Save every bottle, jar or glass fill every crock pack dried food in bags and boxes.

The cost of Gas Service has not increased the natural gas you will use in preparing food for the winter will be the least expensive part of your protection.

LATTER DAY SAINTS FROM FAR AND NEAR ATTEND ANNUAL RE-UNION AT KIRTLAND

Kirtland is a busy place this week, for it is the time of the annual reunion of the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints. There are probably 185 members of the faith in Kirtland. Rev. G. T. Griffith talked interestingly of the reunion and its social and religious features, Monday. J. T. Curtis and R. C. Russell, both of Missouri, are associated with him as the heads of the reunion. John Collins, a cartoonist, portrays the events of each day in an interesting and amusing manner. Brother Stone is shown as "cranking his auto." The auto as shown is the town pump. A splendid orchestra provides music. A different minister speaks each night. The Wickliffe band will play Friday night, which is to be a very gala occasion. Sunday, when the festivities close, will also be a feature day of much interest. Tents are laid out in streets, with Buffalo, Detroit, Pittsburgh, and numerous other cities represented. Meals are served in the town hall. The reunion has its own cooks. Mr. Becker had charge of this department, sleeping arrangements, etc.

One hundred visitors had arrived Monday, with that many more expected during the week. This is the largest reunion that has occurred in Kirtland. The reunions, which are of a social nature, have been held for possibly 40 years, occurring at other points in the country as well as at Kirtland.

Mr. Norton's older son, Robert C. Norton, is major; and his second son, Lawrence, is the captain. All the officers, their wives and friends were included at the affair, which numbered possibly 150 guests. The regimental band, a very fine one, rendered the music for the occasion.

Fireworks, dancing and supper all contributed to a gala affair. The company is stationed at the University school, at their own armory. It is expected that they will leave next week for Ft. Sheridan, at Montgomery, Ala., where they will be stationed for a period before leaving for France.

Mrs. Mary Jopling died on the 18th inst. at her residence on the Ridge road, after a rather long illness.

The burial took place on the 20th in Lake View cemetery.

She was born in England in October 1836. She came to this country in 1863 with her husband, the late Thomas Jopling, who figures amongst the pioneer business men to whom Cleveland owes most of its progress and development.

FUNERAL OF MILLS B. TITUS

After being seriously injured July 31st in falling from a load of hay Mr. M. B. Titus passed away August 15th in the same home where his father-in-law, J. W. Chase, died on June 16th. Mr. Titus was born on the headlands in 1868 where he lived the greater part of the time until his marriage in 1905 to Miss Mabel Chase. Since that time his home has been on the Plains where he made a host of friends. The funeral services, which were held at his late home, were conducted by Rev. P. B. Schaffner, of Mentor. Mr. James McMahon beautifully sang several solos. The tender sympathy of our community is with this afflicted home.

GOVERNMENT ISSUES "BUY AT HOME" TIP

"Use local supplies. Patronize your local producer. Distance means money. Buy perishable food from the neighborhood nearest you," and "thus save transportation."

Mrs. Harriet A. Carrel has just returned from a week's visit with her son, Harry H. Carrel at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe. The camp itself is a place of intense interest, she reports. Imagine a quiet conservative city suddenly converted into a town with 17,000 strangers poured into it. Imagine 7,000 workmen employed in building where little had been done before.

Accommodations for visitors, under the circumstances, one readily perceives, are limited, even though the whole town has opened its doors. The camp is five miles long and one mile wide. Conveniences of all kinds are being rushed for the accommodation of the boys through the winter. The men installing the sewers at this time are receiving $8.00 per day for week day labor and $16.00 per day for Sunday labor. Men hauling lumber receive $5.00 per week day and $12.00 for Sunday.

PIONEER TAKES PAY IN CLOCKS

Time had a definite value not to be disregarded when Mrs. Eliza Ford's father worked in the Seth Thomas clock factory before he came to this part of the country from Connecticut. As remuneration for his services, he was presented with clocks, money being very scarce in those days.

Mr. Talbot brought the clocks along with him, and soon disposed of them, mostly in Geauga county. Mrs. Ford has one of them now in her own home at the Junction; and she has come across and traced many more of them in this section.

OLD KIRTLAND HOTEL TO BE CONVERTED INTO CLUB HOUSE. HISTORIAN WILL TELL OF KIRTLAND DAYS OF OLD. TEMPLE TO BE DECORATED

The old Kirtland hotel will not vanish or be allowed to fade from the interest of tourists, if plans now under way by members of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, are fulfilled. It is the present intention of the church, aided by Cleveland interests, to convert the hotel into a club house, where visitors may dine, or remain for a period. It is also planned to beautify the grounds and the interior of the hotel. Some one learned in the lore of historical Kirtland will be present at all times to tell interested visitors the points of interest, past and present, in this historical old place.

The old Kirtland hotel was built before the temple, and belonged to the church. It was known as the old Sidney Regdon house, counsellor to Joseph Smith. An owner of the hotel by the name of Bump plastered the walls of the temple. His son died only a few years since, and was the owner of the house moved to make room for the present "Russellhurst" home built by Dr. Russell recently.

It is also the intention to paint and decorate the temple. A historian will be located there also and pictures of men famous in the annals of Kirtland and the temple will be placed in the Kirtland club house. It is expected that these improvements may be inaugurated possibly by the coming summer.

WILLOUGHBY TO HAVE MORMON TEMPLE SIGN

As soon as the improvements on the roads in Kirtland are completed, it is the intention of the Latter Day church management to place a large sign at Glenn avenue and Erie street, calling attention to the location of the historical Mormon temple in Kirtland. Thousands of visitors are annually attracted there, and it is the belief that the sign will call the attention of the passers-by who do not know the location of the temple or the beauties of the vicinity. And the number of these, despite the many who do, are legion.

REMAINING MEMBER OF COMPANY ATTENDS REUNION

The annual reunion of the 177 O. V. I. was held at Euclid Beach, August 16th. The attendance was not as large as in former years. There were present 29 old soldiers and nine ladies, wives and daughters of the soldiers. Secretary Sloan, of Warren, gave an interesting address. Last year during the progress of his remarks, he said: "As we call to mind the stirring and sometimes severe experiences of half a century ago, we have a feeling of pride that we individually had a part in the great work of suppressing the slave holders rebellion. While the services of our regiment are less conspicuous than some, we had an unusual amount of hard marching, and severe experiences. We met every demand made upon us, and left a record of which none of its members need be ashamed." C. P. Lilley was the only member of Co. "B" present. He was also the oldest member of the regiment present, he being 82. The youngest member present was Mr. Kimball, of Madison, who is sixty five.

3. What Is the Relation between Clear Thinking and Good English, including Oral Expression? Miss Sylvia Sicha.

4. General Discussion.

WHY NOT HAVE A REGISTER FOR WILLOUGHBY SOLDIER BOYS.

IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THERE MAY BE IN WILLOUGHBY A REGISTER OR RECORD FOR THE BOYS WHO LEAVE FOR THE CAMPS, BUT IT HAS NOT COME TO THE NOTICE OF THE REPUBLICAN. IT WOULD SEEM THAT IT WOULD BE DESIRABLE TO HAVE A REGISTER FOR THE BOYS LEAVING, SO THAT THEIR NAME AND ADDRESS MIGHT APPEAR IN A BOOK RETAINED FOR THAT PURPOSE. BLANK SPACES COULD BE RESERVED FOR NEWSPAPER CLIPPINGS A MENTION OF ANY LOCAL BOYS; THE BOOK MIGHT BECOME A RECORD OF CONSIDERABLE INTEREST AND VALUE OF THE WILLOUGHBY SOLDIER BOYS OF 1917. THIS METHOD IS BEING CARRIED OUT IN SOME LOCALITIES AND TAKES VERY LITTLE OF THE TIME OF SOME CUSTODIAN.

JAMES McMAHON MAKES INTERESTING FIND

While excavating under the back porch at his home recently, James McMahon, brought to light a large flat tombstone. It bears inscriptions to Albert, aged eight years, and Margaret Young, aged three weeks, the latter having died in 1829. The interesting thought that arises, is where did the stone come from; and how did it get in the ground where found, and whose family does it represent?

"The stone bears the inscription: Time was, like me, they life possessed;
And Time will be when I shall rest."

It sometimes happens that even the people who complain that they have nothing to do refuse to do it.

OBITUARY

Mr. Richard Yaxley passed away Wednesday eve the 15th, after a long illness at the advanced age of 83 years and was the eldest and only remaining member of a family of four sons of Richard and Mary Yaxley. His funeral took place at his home on Saturday afternoon. Rev. Randall officiated. His sons and nephews were pallbearers. The singers were from the Disciple church of which he had been a member for several years. Mr. Yaxley had been twice married, the first wife was Lavinia Warner, who died about 35 years ago. The second wife, was Mrs. Rachel Covert who survives him. Mr. Yaxley was the father of six children, one daughter and five sons, Henry, Nelson, George, Melvin, Francis and Emma. Nelson died when a small boy and George died about four years ago. The three remaining sons were at his bedside when he breathed his last. The funeral was largely attended by sympathizing friends and neighbors. Many from Waite Hill neighbors paid their respects to the departed, the writer among them. Many beautiful floral pieces were in evidence. He was buried in the Willoughby cemetery beside his first wife. L. P. Davis was funeral director.

Mr. Yaxley and family came to Waite Hill in 1873 and purchased the Short farm. He was a model farmer. About 16 years ago he moved to Willoughby and left the farm to his four sons, which they sold two years ago to a Mr. Maher of Cleveland.

On Saturday the writer called on some former Waite Hill neighbors in Willoughby. Also called on Miss Bryant, editor of the Republican, and found her to be a model housekeeper as well as a fine editor, and her father showed me through his garden which is a fine one, considering the season and the lateness when they moved there. His tree tomatoes are a wonder.

"We dream that some day we will do this thing for our [illegible] and our fellowmen, we tell ourself that just yonder across the next hill we will find time to begin; we trust along satisfied with dreams and beliefs. We have not awakened to know that opportunity is here and now; that dreams are the wings of laggards and hope the food of fools. This is the time and the place. Nothing has value except now."

"A little faith that never loses sight of success; a little reserve that always defies defeat, an optimism that regards a knockdown as an incident, not a failure; a belief in men that refuses to be shaken when one goes wrong; these are a few of the things that help to identify a real man."

There are always two sides to a story, and the scandalmonger can generally provide five or six more.

LEGAL NOTICE

Henry McNary, whose place of residence is unknown, the unknown heirs, devisees, executors and administrators of Henry McNary, deceased whose names and places of residence are unknown, will take notice that Dewey F. Howe as plaintiff, has filed a petition against them and others, as defendants, in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that he is the owner and holder of a certain mortgage, given to secure a promissory note on which there is now due the plaintiff the sum of $909.06 with interest at 7% from July 7th, 1917, which mortgage is recorded in Volume 1186, pages 99-100 of Cuyahoga County Records on the following described premises, to-wit:

Situated in the Township of Olmsted, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of lot No. 2, Tract No. 6 in Olmsted Township and is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the intersection of the South line of The Cleveland and Southwestern Railroad right of way and the Center line of Coe Ridge Road; thence south 17 degrees 25 minutes west along the center of the road to a stone at an angle in said road; thence south 43 degrees minutes West 50 feet; thence North 46 degrees 03 minutes West 161.5 feet to an iron bar on the South line of said right of way; thence East on said right of way 238.04 feet to the place of beginning and containing .307 acres of land.

The petition alleges that the defendants above named claim some interest or lien in said premises by reason of a certain mortgage executed by James Briggs, then the owner, in favor of said Henry McNary, on October 1st, 1835, and recorded in Volume T, page 66 of Cuyahoga County Records, which mortgage has been paid, cancelled and discharged, but said discharge an cancellation was never recorded on the Records.

The prayer of said petition is that the defendants above named be required to set up their claim to any interest, right or title which they may claim in or to said premises or be forever barred from asserting the same, that plaintiff's mortgage may be foreclosed and for relief.

Said petition is No. 157451, and the defendants above named are required to answer the same on or before the 8th day of September, A. D., 1917.

A WAR MEASURE

AS A WAR-MEASURE we recommend that everyone repair his own motor car—tune his own piano—take his own wife out riding and attend his own funeral in full dress with a lilly in his button-hole.

Why hire an expert to fix-up the tin-lillie when you can put it on the bum yourself. We know your wife can make a swell top and side-curtains if you will furnish the material. Any coot can straighten the fenders.

However, there will always be a few unpatriotic cripples who are afraid of breaking their polished finger-nails—ripping their $4 Palm-Beaches, or letting the leather-tounged neighbors see them doing a little honest work.

For the last named class we keep in our employ about 70 men who know nothing but the best and quickest way to repair a motor car. Some of them have never seen a horse and wagon. These men get paid according to the quantity and quality of work they do.

PAINTERS, Sheet-Metal-Workers, Upholsterers, Blacksmiths, Top-Makers, Radiator-Repairers and their assistants—the greatest in the game—all hang out at 2076 East 22nd Street. If the case is hopeless they call in Doc Foster, Consulting Surgeon. If he can't tell how to repair it, he will tell you where they pay the highest price for scrap.

Tips For Play-Goers

The Miles

Regardless of the hot weather, C. H. Miles has arranged another big time vaudeville show for next week in the fact that heading next week's bill is the ever-popular June McRath and her Pickinninnies, who come with special scenery and electrical effects. Main and Cone, another big time act in the Darktown Follies, and following this is Marie Mitchell and company in the dramatic success "In and Out."

May Wehlen and brother come with a neat dancing, singing and talking act. Olga Vanoy comes again this year in her laugh provoking skit, "At the Kitchen Door."

The movie feature of the week will be Jack Gardner in "Open Places," a five part Essanay drama, and Lonesome Luke in a two reel comedy, will fill one of the greatest bills ever seen this summer.

Alhambra & Mall

The latest Douglas Fairbanks success to come from the studios of that popular screen hero is "Down to Earth." It will have its first showing in Cleveland for one week starting Sunday at the Mall and Alhambra theatres.

"Down to Earth" is a little different from the usual Fairbank's pictures, in that it has a little bit of everything in the Fairbanks repetoire, yet possessing one of the best comedy stories he has ever made into film.

There is mountain-climbing, broncho riding, automobile speeding, stunts and excellent acting. The story is an example of what would happen to the ordinary person who follows Fairbanks' style of living. It concerns a batch of folks in a sanitarium who though they were sick until Fairbanks kidnaps them aboard his yacht and strands them on a desert island. Naturally they are forced to get down to earth and work, exercise and live as nature intends and they get well in a surprisingly short time.

STAR THEATRE

STAR

The Star theatre will offer next week the Twentieth Century Maids, an organization which is this season receiving unlimited praise all over the circuit.

Jim Barton is the featured comedian, Florence Tanner, the prima donna, and Jacqueline Tallman, the soubrette. Others in the cast are Bob Ferns, the well known Jack face comedian; Jack Duffy, Jim Howell, Arthur Young, Tillie Barton and Jallette, an exceptionally good rag time violinist.

Albert Latham, sometime known as Fred Moseley, residence unknown, but last known at Hartford, Conn., will take notice that Clinissa Latham filed a petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce and relief on the ground of extreme cruelty, gross neglect of duty and adultery. Said petition is No. 157675 and will be for hearing on and after September 7, 1917.

Standard Theatre

Virginia Pearson, the ideal star of all picture fans, is again seen at the Standard theatre week of August 26, in her latest success, "Wrath of Love." In this play she plays her part to perfection, that of jealousy. Irving Cummings, her co-star, plays the part of her husband, an army officer. Being spied upon, he must do lots of things with the aid of another friend and a woman that look mysterious to the wife, causing her to be more jealous every time she sees these things until the end of the story, when she finds out the true meaning of all the things she has seen. She is finally freed from her one besetting fault. With beautiful settings and the gorgeous gowns worn by Miss Pearson this production is claimed by her as one of her best. Mutt and Jeff with all their hilarities conclude the program.

Luna Park

The feature of Luna Park's bill next week is Four Maximes, a quartette of sensational club jugglers. The other five acts on the bill include Alex Thomas, whose feats of strength are said to be remarkable. De Young and Norton, a team of harmony singers, Ott and Bryan whose music and nonsense will surely please and the Adams Brothers a comedy acrobatic skating team.

Vaudeville is presented three times daily at 3, 8 and 9 p. m. and four times on Sunday, at 3, 4, 8 and 9 p. m. Gugliotta's band gives daily concerts at 2:15 and 7:15 while the Sunday concert is given from 1 to 3 and 5 to 7 p. m. Carol Webb heads the metropolitan cabaret given nightly in the gardens.

PROSPECT THEATER

Howard McKent Barnes who has contributed a worthy successor to "The Blindness of Virtue," in his new four act play, "Her Unborn Child," which deals with birth control as its vital theme, is a young American dramatist whose work is bringing him prominently before the public. His latest drama comes to the Prospect as the opening attraction of the new season, commencing Monday, August 27th. Daily matinees will be given during the engagement and these performances will be reserved exclusively for the ladies. All other performances are for the general public, although no person under eighteen years of age will be admitted to any performance. The author has made an extensive study of his subject, and deals with it in a manner that shows deep understanding and dignity. It is certain to have a wide appeal among the thinking men and women who go to the theatre, and will do a lot of good in helping to correct the dangerous and vicious practice upon which the play is built.

WHOOPING-COUGH

Unless the present wave of whooping-cough is checked before the cold weather sets in, Cleveland will be held fast in the grip of the epidemic throughout the winter, declares Health Commissioner Dr. R. H. Bishop, Jr.

"Not ten per cent of cases of whooping-cough are being reported to the Department, says Dr. Bishop, and it has become necessary to appeal to physicians of the city to co-operate with us in seeing that cases are promptly reported and to urge parents to see that all suspicious cases are immediately isolated and the family doctor notified."

Nearly everyone who has not had a previous attack will take whooping cough if exposed to a case, warns the Health Department. Every case of whooping-cough can be traced to a previous case, for that is the only way the disease spreads. Close contact is necessary, as the germs are carried in the small drops of water and mucous expelled from the mouth and nose in coughing, sneezing and talking.

To prevent the spread of whooping cough, children should be warned to keep away from other children suffering from colds, "snuffles" or sore throat.

Children should also be taught to place nothing but food in their mouth, never to use a common drinking cup, or a common towel, and to sneeze or cough in their own handkerchief only.

Beautiful Bust and Shoulders

are possible if you will wear a scientifically constructed Bien Jolie Brassiere.

The dragging weight of an unconfined bust so stretches the supporting muscles that the contour of the figure is spoiled.

BIEN JOLIE (BE-AN JO-LEE) BRASSIERES put the bust back where it belongs, prevent the full bust from having the appearance of flabbiness, eliminate the danger of dragging muscles and confine the flesh of the shoulder giving a graceful line to the entire upper body.

They are the daintiest and most serviceable garments imaginable—come in all materials and styles; Cross Back, Hook Front, Surplice, Bandeau, etc. Boned with "Walohn," the rustless boning—permitting washing without removal.

Have your dealer show you Bien Jolie Brassieres. If not stocked, we will gladly send him, prepaid, samples to show you.

A LETTER FROM DR. STOCKING AT DULUTH

Dear Editor:

Reading an editorial in the Duluth News Tribune this morning, and in which a worthy tribute is paid to Mr. Julius H. Barnes, one of the foremost of Duluth's citizens, and who has just been called to an important and responsible position in the grain division of the food supply of the United States and our place in the great world war, I was prompted to send it, as a clipping to you for such limited publication as you may find space for it in the columns of your paper. Our oldest son, who is in the business of shipping ore and grain from Duluth to Lake Erie ports, has been intimately acquainted with Mr. Barnes for more than twenty years, and in his judgment, no other man in the nation could have been chosen so well fitted for the position.

The Willoughby Ridge people having given me a vacation of three Sundays, with Mrs. Stocking and our two daughters, we took passage on the steamer "Lakeland" of the Northwestern Steamship company last Tuesday night, having our first stop at Mackinac Isle, the country so famous in the annals of the early explorer, missionary, and fur-trader. The five hours here were crowded full of interest. From this point it was that Nicolet in 1634 set out to discover the northwest passage to China. From Mackinac our steamer took us to Gladstone, Michigan, a Swedish town of 5,000 white tents, situated in this summer country par excellence. Hay fever here is unknown, and the fine laden ozone produces the most restful sleep. It is the fisherman's paradise. Trout abound, and along the shallows of the bay pike and pickerel are so plentiful that even a novice can land a full string. Bass rise to the fly during the months of July and August. Across the bay from Gladstone and quickly reached is Maywood, the most beautiful resort on Lake Michigan. Just a few minutes of street car ride is Escanaba, a city of 20,000 people. During the stay at Gladstone and through the kind generosity of Mr. W. S. Janke, general passenger agent, and owner of the steamer "Lakeland" all the passengers, numbering some 130 were given an automobile ride of some 35 or 40 miles. The "Lakewood" is equipped with a Marconi wireless station and messages can be sent to all points. No liquor is sold or allowed on the boat. The service in every department is first class. The round trip from Cleveland to Gladstone and return is $37.75 (thirty-seven seventy-five) and includes meals and berth.

Our train from Gladstone to Duluth was over the Northwestern line and brought us to Duluth Saturday afternoon at two o'clock being one hour late. Our son's automobile was in waiting, and with a happy greeting and swift driving we were soon at his home on Woodland avenue. Every year's visit to this city where as pastor of our first Methodist Episcopal church twenty-five years ago shows great improvements and rapid growth on every hand. Duluth, with its upwards of 100,000 inhabitants, is a bone-dry city, twice so voted. Our son from St. Louis, Mo., is expected to arrive by auto, the last of this week. A family reunion looked for with much pleasure.

Cordially yours,
C. H. STOCKING.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS AT THE McNUTT-McCALL ALLOTMENT

The excavation for the foundation of the new home he will build on the lot recently purchased in the McNutt-McCall allotment has been begun by John Barnes. The house will be a seven-room bungalow of the modern type. Mr. Barnes expects to have his new home ready for occupancy in the spring.

Workmen are finishing the grading and putting in order the entrance to the new allotment of the McNutt-McCall Co. on Euclid avenue. This work is bringing out the beautifully curving lines of the wide entrance to Brown avenue, the street entering the property at Euclid avenue. Grading of the other street is proceeding under the direction of the Rudolph A. Basista Co. This work is nearing completion on Brown avenue and Waldamere avenue. Marker stakes are now in place and the location of both streets and the lots may be easily determined. Altogether the allotment is taking on the appearance of well laid out and developed residence property. Laying of the five-foot stone sidewalks, the company announces will begin at a very early date.

It is gratifying to note that this naturally well located property, which the company is developing into a high class residence community, will be provided with the necessary facilities, new demanded for modern homes, through the action of the village council at its meeting, Thursday evening, the 10th, too late for mention in our last issue.

The council at this meeting, passed the necessary legislation for putting in the water and sewer, and the paving with brick of Waldamere avenue and other street. Cost of installation of the improvements is to be assessed against the abutting property. The allotment will therefore bear the cost of its own improvements, and the village profit in a broad way through its development without onerous taxation being placed upon those who will not directly profit by it.

Through the activities of the company in advertising and selling this property Willoughby with its natural and numerous advantages is being brought to the attention of a large number of people, many of whom will as a result, establish fine homes here and become a valuable addition to our thriving village, for which there are, beyond question, great things in store. The net result of this development will be of benefit to Willoughby in a great variety of ways, and in measure which it would be difficult to overestimate. In any event, Willoughby will gain a new, high class residence community occupied by a substantial class of American people. What we need is more people of the right sort who will be of Willoughby and for the development along rational and progressive lines of our village. The surest guarantee that incoming people will be of this sort is that they become home-owning residents. Viewed from this standpoint the opening of the McNutt-McCall Co.'s allotment is much the biggest thing that has happened in Willoughby for some time and our village officials have acted in a public-spirited manner in furthering its development.

SOLUTION IN SIGHT

A school inspector who was examining a class of boys in arithmetic set the following question:

"If a cat fell into a bottomless pit and climbed up two feet for every three feet it fell, how long would it take to get out?"

This proved a poser to the lads, but one little fellow went at the problem with a will and covered both sides of his slate with calculations.

"Here!" exclaimed the inspector as he noticed him hard at work. "Stop doing that. Haven't you the sense to see that the cat couldn't possibly get out?"

"Oh, yes he could, sir," replied the boy briskly. "If you'll give me time I'll bring him out at Australia."—Duluth Sunday Herald.

MENTOR BRIEFS

August 18.—E. M. Case has consummated several important real estate deals this season, this together with the erection of five resident places on Scofield farm, in addition to other substantial improvements throughout town, all indicates that Mentor continues to be an attractive suburb of Cleveland with a healthy growth and interesting changes.

* * *

The spirit of enterprise and progress still occupies a prominent place in the minds of citizens who conduct the affairs of the place. The evidence this time is that of a strong desire to keep up with the times, and is exhibited by an increase in the mileage of cement sidewalks. The most welcome extensions are those from Mentor avenue, the business part, bordering on Perkins, from the corporation limits east, to [illegible], formerly a resident part of East Mentor.

Rev. P. B. Schaffner and the officiary of the Methodist Episcopal church are now doing double duty. They are busily engaged in bringing up the finances of the various departments of church work preparatory to attendance at the annual conference which will be in session in less than a month. Mentor, as usual, has some pride in the kind of report they render. Their good name is always on the carpet at such times.

Deputy Health Officer M. G. Roberts has heard something from the State Department of Health to the effect that there is imminence of a compulsory sanitary system at Mentor, by reason of the pervious nature of the earth and the failure of citizens to the repeated injunctions of the local health officer to give closer attention to the sanitary condition of sinks, cesspools, outhouses and the pollution of the spring waters whose fountain head is on the ridge where the village is built, and leads to the country where the farmers are obliged to depend upon these springs for their water supply. The extent and wide scattering of homes in this place makes a proposition of this kind full of interest and one that will awaken the indifferent as never before. It has the promise of bringing out some war paint.

William Arthur France, residence unknown, will take notice that Sarah Elizabeth France filed a petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce and relief on the ground of extreme cruelty, gross neglect of duty and habitual drunkenness for more than three years. Said petition is No. 156676 and will be for hearing on and after September 7, 1917.

Mathias A. Nugent, a minor, whose residence is unknown, and the person with whom he lives being unknown, will take notice that Jeanette E. Nugent filed a cross petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, restoration of name and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty. Said cause is No. 151764 and will be for hearing on and after September 7, 1917.

No radical change is seen in autumn footwear, but there is an increased use of fabric tops in smart new models for street wear.

HISTORY OF PAINESVILLE TO BE SHOWN IN RED CROSS TABLEAUX

A Red Cross benefit of unusual interest is planned for Friday evening, August 31, when a tableau spectacle will be produced on the Hitchcock grounds in Painesville by a cast of 200 Painesville people, representing all churches and societies. There will be series of tableaux depicting events in the history of Painesville with a pageant in conclusion. A large stage will be built at one side of the grounds which will form a natural ampitheater. Brilliant lighting effects are planned. The idea is that of a Painesville woman, Mrs. Reuben Hitchcock, who has been ably assisted by Mrs. E. S. Grauel. Miss Mabelle Anderson of Laurel School, Cleveland, will assist in the stage management.

A report from Paris says that it is now considered bad taste in Paris to wear low-neck dresses in the street. Neckwear, therefore, is high, and if low at all has only a graceful sloping in the front. It is difficult to predict, however, that this mode will be fashionable here, where the great majority of our women are inclined to have short necks and double chins when fair, fat and forty.

Serge frocks for autumn show considerable trimming in the way of tinsel and silk floss embroidery, while contrasting colors are used, however, they are rather subdued in tone.

RALPH DONNAN, WELL KNOWN Y. M. C. A. MAN, TO LEAVE SOON

Ralph Donnan, local Y. M. C. A. secretary, and who has many friends throughout this section, will leave about September 1st, for Indianapolis, Ind. He has been appointed state county secretary for Indiana. The field is an important one, and the appointment a compliment and recognition of Mr. Donnan's ability and efforts here. The best wishes of numbers of friends and co-workers here go with him to the new field.

The Gas Shortage

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR IT?

The Scientific Heater Company are preparing a booklet upon this subject. It will gladly be mailed to anyone interested for the asking.

Every gas furnace user, every builder, architect, landlord and tenant who use gas or want to use gas for heating should have a copy.

Cleveland should know the truth of this situation. It is high time that this problem should be settled in an efficient scientific way.

Gas is the cheapest, cleanest, most convenient, sanitary and healthful fuel: Cleveland should be able to enjoy gas heating without the worry of a shortage in cold weather.

Germany's military hordes have confiscated the fertile farms of Belgium, northern France, Serbia and Roumania. The farmers and their sons, their wives and daughters, have been made the pitiful victims of German savagery and lust and cruelty in their most revolting forms.

And the German rulers have plans completed for the subjugation of America. Their spies are everywhere around us. Their agents, working in dark secrecy all through America, are spending lavish sums of money to stir up trouble, to block the raising of our armies, to encourage SLACKERS and to create TRAITORS.

It is tremendously important, therefore, that every man and woman in whose veins the blood of true Americanism flows does everything in his or her power to help win this war. It is important that every man and woman whether in the cities, in the villages or on the farms, invest all the money they can possibly spare, whether it be hundreds or whether it be THOUSANDS, in the next issue of U. S. GOV'T LIBERTY BONDS.

Every bond you buy will help defeat the GERMAN SPIES, will help defeat the GERMAN SECRET PROPAGANDA which is exerting its influence right now in your community, will help insure the continuance of American liberty and help insure the SAFETY of AMERICAN HOMES.

ONE DOLLAR PRIZE OFFERED FOR BEST ADVERTISING SUGGESTION

Advertising nowadays is becoming a fine art. Gerald Stanley Lee says he always reads the advertisements because he knows the writer has PAID for the privilege of talking to HIM. Very few folks pay for the privilege of talking to use. ADVERTISERS DO. There fore much time and thought is spent upon the "copy." The Republican will give a prize of one dollar for the best suggestion as to how any ad. in the Republican may be improved. That is to say, how it might be worded or presented so as to interest YOU in such a manner as to bring results to the advertiser. In this connection it might be well to say that the ads. of the I. M. Crowther & Sons Company, are prepared by excellent copy writers; also those of the Willoughby Tire Shop and others. Those of the S. S. Wilson Co. are often prepared by Mr. Wilson, who is the president of the Cleveland Advertising club. Mr. E. M. Crowther and Mr. Gibson of the Auto Supply take a personal interest in their "copy."

All of this only tends to make the matter more interesting. YOU may be able to offer a suggestion that would greatly improve any one of the advertisements. One dollar is offered for the best suggestion; and a subscription to the Willoughby Republican for the second best.

BOQUETS FOR THE REPUBLICAN

The Republican has been receiving some nice boquets lately. Mostly verbal and along the line of reference to the news in the paper. Others from out of town included a pleasant letter from Dr. Lowe of East Orange, N. J. Another from a Texas editor; and the "Buckeye County Printer," printed a paragraph of commendation. But the most pleasing boquet of any was a gorgeous and real boquet from the garden of Mr. Wightman, of West Spaulding street, comprised of all the varieties that go to make up a boquet from a splendid garden, and which does much credit to the excellent gardening ability of Mr. Wightman. The Republican is also indebted to Mrs. Hobart, for a ~~very delight~~ful boquet of Waite Hill dahlias.

Elm street and the double house occupied by the Hinchbaugh's now, marks the location. The farm was sold to the Andrews school. The farm extended down to the corporation ditch on Vine street. WICKLIFFE RED CROSS WORK IS ALL CREDITED TO LAKE COUNTY

FIRE AND WRECKAGE CAUSE DISASTER WHEN NICKEL PLATE ENGINE DEMOLISHES CATERING TRUCK RETURNING FROM SCHAEFFER WEDDING. TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLAR PUNCH BOWL REPORTED LOST, FOUND.

Fire and wreckage and injury followed in the wake of the Schaeffer wedding at Salida Beach last Saturday night. The H. B. Demarest Catering Co. who had charge of the entertaining, were the losers. The caterers had left the Schaeffer home, arriving at the Lake Shore and Nickel Plate crossings on the Reynolds road at 9 p. m. They crossed the Lake Shore tracks and were hit by an engine and caboose on the Nickel Plate. The engine struck the truck amidships, and an instant explosion took place, setting fire to the outfit. The engine was followed by a regular freight, which stopped, and the crew assisted in putting

CLEVELAND CRANE RECEIVES ONLY ORDER PLACED BY GOVERNMENT FOR MACHINE SHOP IN FRANCE

An order for eighteen cranes to be shipped to France has just been received by the Cleveland Crane and Engineering Co., Wickliffe. They will be used in the machine shops that the United States government are erecting in France. The cranes are 65 ton capacity and eighty feet long. The order must take precedence over all others, according to instructions received. An erector will be sent to France by the Crane Co. It is expected that the first shipment will start the middle of next month and that the order will be completed by the first of December. The order will amount in value to about four or five hundred thousand dollars. Mr. C. C. Robbins reports that business is very good at the plant, and they probably have enough to last them for another year.

MRS. PRICE McKINNEY DONATES TO WICKLIFFE RED CROSS

Interest in the Wickliffe Red Cross work continues undiminished. Sixteen sewing machines are now in use. Curtains have been placed in the Coulby Bay Tree house where the workers assemble and the room presents a busy scene each week. No one takes a keener interest or more pride in the work accomplished than Mrs. Coulby.

Wednesday several of the Wickliffe women went to Cleveland to see their sons off. Mrs. Tyte and Mrs. Wicker were among the number. Mrs. Myron Wilson and her daughter, Miss Rachel, were recent visitors at the Wickliffe Red Cross. Miss Wilson spoke in the highest terms of the Wickliffe work and her association with the surgical dressing department at Cleveland makes her word of praise of considerable value.

A recent donation of $125.00 was made to the circle by Mrs. Price McKinney, who is also one of the workers. The ladies are engaged in a whirlwind campaign to get off a certain amount of work, and each lady has pledged herself to produce six shirts by September 1. A reward of merit, not yet revealed as to what form it will take, is to be given to the circle for certain marked attendance of each individual.

REAL ESTATE BOOM ON IN WICKLIFFE. MUCH PROPERTY SOLD

Wickliffe is experiencing a real estate boom. Clevelanders have long appreciated the value of the lands east of Cuyahoga county, as the many beautiful homes testify. Sales just reported by F. H. Bierbach of the United States Land Co., include many Cleveland buyers, among whom are Ex-Sheriff W. R. Ryan, who purchased north of the Nickel Plate, Max Coball, Thos. Stakich, John Vilkorth, E. J. Reuss, who was the builder of the Wickliffe Presbyterian church; S. Kovac, two houses and lots on Lake Shore boulevard; John A. Hoffman, Harry Dakins, Arthur Hartman, Stepenke Rankin, Mr. Burke of the American Steel and Wire Co.; and others, to the number of about 20 sales. Garages have already been erected on most of the properties.

John Chavala, Cleveland's most popular traffic policeman, stationed at 55th and St. Clair, purchased a 9½ acre tract. The purchases run from 5 to 6 acres each, located on the St. Clair and Lloyd roads and adjacent to the golf links.

The United States Land Co. property consists of 459 acres running from Euclid avenue to the lake on both sides of

LOCAL FAMILIES GIVE DINNER FOR DEPARTING SOLDIER BOYS

(Waite Hill Correspondent)

Friday last, the Lilly, Page, Wicker, Marble and Tyte families gave a dinner at Gordon park for their boys who have joined the engineers, and were leaving that day for Alabama. They sent them off in fine spirits.

Through the Leader Monday, it was learned that the engineers had arrived at their destination, and found the camp in fine shape. They were cheered all along the route and the train landed them in a field of cotton. The boys are going to send their friends cotton balls as souvenirs of the trip.

ALONG COMES THE LAKE COUNTY FAIR. C. F. SHERWOOD, NEW SECRETARY, SAYS ITS TO BE THE BEST EVER

The Lake County Fair will be held this year September 4 to 7 at Painesville, Ohio. This is one week earlier than last year. All of last year's features will be retained, including the big exhibition of cattle, sheep and swine, with the addition of many new attractions.

Wednesday has been designated as Old Soldiers Day. On that day all veterance of the Civil War will be admitted free. All soldiers of our present army will be admitted to grounds free during the fair.

Several manufacturers of farm tractors have secured space for exhibits and on each day from 10 to 12 a. m. demonstration of these machines will be held. Plans are being made for a competition of tractors on Wednesday at 10 a. m.

The racing program will as usual cover a period of three days. In this department a high standard of clean and excellent racing will be maintained. The entry list is large and some fast time and good racing is expected. A special feature this year will be a Ford race, to be held on Friday immediately after the live stock parade. Another feature is a program arranged for a series of special races for Polo Ponies and Hunters. There will be several jumping contests for horses.

The entire grounds will be open Wednesday and Thursday evenings of the fair. There will be band concerts, dancing and other features that will attract many to the evening show.

Plan now to visit the fair, invite your friends to meet you there and make it the one big joy week of the year.

SEVEN TIMES REJECTED AND AT LAST ACCEPTED

Company M has a member who has seven times been rejected and each time has overcome the points upon which he was rejected and has at last been accepted.

WICKLIFFE BASEBALL CLUB HONORED

Looking around for the fastest team in the county, 'tis reported, the committee in charge of the Madison annual picnic, selected that of the Wickliffe Athletic Club, to play the White Autos, at the event. Needless to say the Wickliffe boys won the game; score 4 to 2. Other events made the Madison outing one of much pleasure. About 60 from Wickliffe were in attendance.

LATTER DAY SAINTS PLAN TO HOLD ALL REUNIONS AT KIRTLAND; SUMMER COTTAGES TO BE ERECTED

Plans are being considered that will probably cultimate in all the Latter Day Saint reunions being held in Kirtland. In the past they have occurred at various points. It is also planned to have the hotel and vicinity form a sort of Cleveland Artist Colony, such as may be found at Zoar, according to E. A. Webb, of the firm of the Carpenter-Webb Advertising Co., Cleveland.

Summer cottages are planned, the tents having proved inadequate to handle the crowds. Rev. J. F. Curtis was the speaker Sunday afternoon at the convention closing. His talk was one of much interest and enlivened with good humor. He took a round at Polygamy when he said that God made Adam, and then He made woman from a rib of Adam. Had Brigham Young been there, he added, Adam wouldn't have had any ribs left. Several were baptised and received into the church Sunday, by the ceremony of laying on of hands. Edna Culp, Edward Davidson, Stephen Lewis, of Columbus, Eugene Coburn, of Charleyroy, Pa., Alice Lloyd, of Sharon, and others, were among them. The Saints' orchestra rendered splendid music during the various meetings.

The new residence Mr. Barnes will build has been begun, and the foundation is nearing completion. It will be a seven-room bungalow of generous size, designed on modern lines, which combine convenience and comfort with pleasing outlines and a generally attractive appearance. The company states that it will continue the use of one of the rooms in the house on the property which is so arranged that it is closed off from the remainder of the house, and exceptionally well suited for the purpose, as an allotment office; also that its representatives will be in attendance every day from 2:00 to 7:30 p. m. and on Sundays from 10:00 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. Visitors are cordially invited to inspect its property by the company, whose representatives will be pleased to give complete information regarding it, with out obligaton.

out the fire and rescuing the occupants. Mrs. Demarest had driven ahead in her auto, having the wife of the head waiter and another assistant with her. The manager of the company, the head waiter, and one other waiter, and the driver were on the truck. The head waiter was the most seriously injured. Mrs. Demarest conveyed the injured manager to Painesville, while L. P. Davis took the other. A J. H. Smith truck worked all night picking up the wreckage. The truck belonged to the Brandt Provision Co. and was a White 5 ton. One hundred and sixty five guests had been served at the wedding supper. One hundred and seventy five chairs, sixty tables, fine table linen, beautifully embroidered, Haviland china or rare pattern, and other material for an elaborate affair, were packed upon the truck. It was thrown into a promiscuous heap of wreckage to one side of the track. The china was a complete loss, and this Mrs. Demarest regrets the most. Silverware, chairs and tables were saved to a large extent. A silver punch bowl valued at $250.00, had been taken by Mrs. Demarest in her auto, and thereby saved. Although the workers, unaware of the fact that she had taken it, made a diligent search through the wreckage for it. With the exception of the head waiter, the injured people were expected to be able to leave the hospital at Painesville Tuesday. Dr. Moore and Dr. Quayle were both in attendance at the wreck.

Brock's monument, it was found, is closed to visitors account of the war.

The Canadian government has also stopped the sale of gasoline to individuals. This latter fact, the party discovered when they ran out of gasoline on a country road. They finally were enabled to make a purchase of some gasoline, for which they paid 58c per gallon. The travelers covered 891 miles, consuming 73 gallons of gaoline on the trip.

The government of Canada has issued orders against the serving of meat excepting on two days per week. This information is imparted to all tourists upon arrival at the hotels.

WHERE THE ROADS!

Hordes of autos now remind us
We should build our roads to stay,
When departing leave behind us
Kind that rains won't wash away.
When our children pay the mortgage
Fathers made to haul their loads,
They'll not have to ask the question,
Here the BONDS, but where the ROADS?

sents a most inviting setting for a wedding. So it was most opportune that Saturday, the day chosen by Miss Gertrude Schaeffer, for her marriage to Mr. Alexander P. Reed of Pittsburgh should be cold and unpleasant, so that the wedding which had been planned to take place on the lawn, facing the lake, at the Schaeffer summer home, should necessarily be held in the little church. The wedding supper was served in the home of Mathew Smith, adjacent. The reception, for possibly 150 guests, was held at the home of the bride.

Rev. R. W. Woodroffe, of the Emanuel church at Cleveland, officiated. Many folks from Washington, Pa., including the father, sister and other relatives of the groom, were in attendance.

Miss Helen Schaffer, maid of honor to her sister, wore lavendar taffeta and carried yellow roses and lavendar centaurea.

The bride was in flesh colored chiffon and chantilly lace. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried white roses and centaurea.

Kathryn Jean Schafer and Ruth Grech, the little flower girls, wore lingerie dresses and carried baskets of pink roses.

Dr. Colin Reed, of Youngstown, was his brother's best man. Dr. Reed is in the medical corps.

James A. Schafer and Howard Schafer were ushers. The bridal reception was at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schafer, near Mentor. One hundred and fifty guests attended the reception.

Mrs. Schafer, who assisted in receiving, wore gray georgette.

The Schaeffer and Smith families have had their summer home at Salida Beach for the past eighteen years.

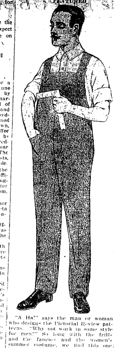
FASHIONS FOR MEN ARE NOW FEATURED



"A Ha!" says the man or woman who designs the Pictorial Review patterns. "Why not work in some style for men?" So long with the frills and the fancies and the women's summer costume, we find this one lone costume designed for the men! In the picture you will note the man is shown as carrying a square. But be not deceived. This costume is not designed for a carpenter. It is designed, says the Pictorial Review artist, for the men who stay at home!

It says further that overalls are in great demand, and here is the proper pattern:

Blue overall cloth is used to develop this model, medium size requiring 6 yards 36-inch material. Pictorial Review Overalls No. 4726. Sizes 32 to 48 inches bust. Price 15c.

LIME IS NOT APPLIED AS FOOD FOR PLANTS

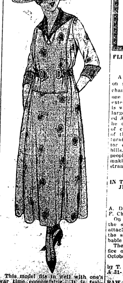
Lime is not an important direct food for plants, but its chief functions in the soil are to neutralize acidity and to promote bacterial activities. Leaching is the greatest source of loss of lime soil.

Crops of corn, oats, wheat, clover, and timothy in a five-year rotation at the Agricultural experiment station at Wooster on land receiving complete fertilizer and lime removed only about 106 pounds of calcium per acre in this time. To furnish this calcium in the plants only 265 pounds of limestone would be needed in five years.

Applications of two tons of ground limestone, however, have been profitable on the experiment station farm. The lime is needed to correct acidity in the soil and to make conditions otherwise favorable for crops to thrive besides adding a small amount of calcium as plant food.

Leaching causes the greatest loss of carbonates and basic calcium from the soil, experiments at the Station have proved. Applications of one to two tons of limestone are therefore needed about every five years on land deficient in limestone.

MODEL FOR WAR TIME ECONOMY



This model fits in well with one's war time economizing. It is fashioned of figured lawn trimmed with batiste in the color of the large coin dots. The front of the blouse extends below the waistline in jumper effect and is outlined with batiste. Medium size requires 5 1-2 yards 36-inch lawn and 1 yard batiste. Pictorial Review Costume No. 7120. Sizes 34 to 46 inches bust. Price 25c.

A CIRCLE THAT NEVER STOPS GROWING
It is astonishing how quickly people get to know about a car, and especially about the men who build it.
People are not buying Dodge Brothers Motor Car simply because they want a car of some sort, or any sort.
They are buying it because they want the precise and particular kind of a car which Dodge Brothers build.
All over the country they seem to have a shrewd and accurate idea of exactly the kind of manufacturers Dodge Brothers are.
They seem to know that Dodge Brothers idea, from the very first, was that if they built the car right—nothing else mattered much.
People generally know all about the car—or nearly all—before they call on a Dodge Brothers dealer.
They know it either from their own experience, or from what they have seen or been told of other people's experience.
They pick out the very points for which it is noted everywhere—points which have not been emphasized especially in advertising.
They know why they want the car—and they are more eager for it today all over the country than they have been at any other period in its history.
The production has always been too small to come anywhere near satisfying the demand.
It is at this moment, and it probably will be for years to come, no matter how much it may be increased.
The explanation is ridiculously simple.
The car has never bred anything but good will;
Every time one of these cars goes into a home it becomes an intimate part of the family life of that home.
It gets nothing but good words and good will.
The result is that the particular home becomes a little circle of good will revolving around Dodge Brothers Motor Car.
The circle spreads out finally, and takes in a near-by neighbor.
That neighbor's home, in turn, begins to radiate good will toward Dodge Brothers and their car, and the circle keeps on growing.
In that way it has grown wider and wider, till it takes in the entire country.
There is always a desire for the car waiting to be satisfied, as fast as the dealer gets in a supply.
That's why sales of more than 100 million dollars in 2 years and a half have fallen far short of satisfying the demand.
The car has qualities peculiar to itself.
People have found this out in their own way.
It has made good with them, and they have given it their good will.
That is why the good will circle goes on growing greater and greater.
Dodge Brothers know this.
They know it is [illegible] their business.
And, knowing it, they [illegible] keep on making the car better and better.

A flim flam change worker called on several of the Willoughby merchants last week. It is reported that one merchant was the loser to the extent of ten dollars. The scheme is worked by presenting a bill of large demonination to be changed After the change has been made, he discovers that he has plenty of change and asks for the return of the bill. In the process of returning the change made the impostor endeavors to retain one of the bills, and oft time makes good. RAW PHOSPHATE ROCK CAN TAKE THE PLACE OF ACID PHOSPHATE

When acid phosphate is abnormally high in price, raw phosphate rock may be an economical substitute. Larger quantities of the raw rock are necessary, and decaying organic matter increases its value as a fertilizer.

While 320 pounds of acid prosphate gave a net gain of $3.07 an acre in three comparisons made in a three-year rotation of corn, oats, and clover at the Ohio agricultural experiment station, the same quantity of raw phosphate rock returned $1.81 as an average of all crops grown during 11 years. Raw phosphate rock was profitable, but the acid phosphate was more effective and economical.

Today acid phosphate prices are rising. Raw phosphate rock if proportionately lower in price may be used to keep down the price of the acidulated goods.

From 800 to 1,000 pounds of raw phosphate rock to the acre is recommended by the Agricultural Experiment station to be applied to wheat ground this fall. The phosphorus in this material is made available by the acids in decaying organic matters. Barnyard manure is valuable for this purpose. If the supply is limited two tons of manure to the acre will help with the raw phosphate rock on wheat. The fertilizer may be mixed with manure at the time of hauling or applied with a lime drill later.

OUT TRIBUTE

I.

Here, on the altar of our country's need,
We, who a few short moons ago
Pursued our several ways, engrossed with greed,
Giving our days to selfish schemes,
Our nights to dreams
Of cent, per cent and profit in the mart,
Here, at the Nation's feet, we proudly lay
The tribute of a patriot's heart:
The rich man's gold; the widow's mite;
The school-boy's cherished coin;
The miser's gruding gift
Wrung from him by the fear of public scorn;
The maiden's treasure, and the housewife's store—
All these as frankincense and myrrh we pour
Into the bleeding wounds of horrid War.

II

Our country called: we gave.
But let there be no vaunting of our pittance.
What have we, who with a smug, self-righteous pride
Proclaim we gave the earnings of a day,
Denied ourselves a little pleasure,
Or withheld a new investment
What have we to boast?
The long, long ranks of men
Who hear the roll of drums
That call to Freedom's battlefield—
The million beardless youths
Who bid farewell to care free boyhood,
The lover, who despite the urge of heart
And heart's desire,
Tears from his neck his sweetheart's clinging arms;
The stalwart men who kiss their wives and babes
And march with head erect
Into the certain hell that waits them at the hands of Huns—
All they, who leave their all, and give their all—
If they could hear our boasts,
Would sadly smile
In contemplation of our sacrifice.

III.

Oh men, awake! Our hour has struck!
With us now rests the fate of all mankind.
This is, indeed, the Armageddon of the race.
That Teuton, spawned of Hell,
More arrogant than Lucifer,
More fiendish than the Fiend himself,
Would gather up the world
And all that man holds dear
And fling it into Chaos
As sacrifice unto his new-made German god.
The ancient ideals of the race,
The star of hope that lights our path,
The love of Liberty
And all that marks men as the sons of God—
These are the stakes for which this Satan plays
And this his challenge to the world.

IV.

Oh men, awake! The fiendish foe
Is at your door.
His cruel hands still dripping blood of Belgian babes
Reach out—reach out—reach out—for you and yours;
Drunk with the blood of millions slain
He boasts our conquest and captivity.
And we? We gather in the market-place
Proud that we've staunched a single soldier's gaping wounds.
Oh men, awake! Now is the time to strike!
For home Ay, yes for home—but more!
The world's fate hangs on us!
God give us strength to cry:
"Here is my home;
Here are my fondest dreams;
Here is my life—
Take all, but save the world, Oh God,
From this black fiend of Hell!"

SOME WRINKLES OF FASHION AND THEIR ORIGIN

According to tradition, the introduction to fashionable society of my lady's dainty pointed-toe shoe harks back to the reign of William II, when mere man in the form of a certain Count Fulk first wore a long pointed boot to conceal the disfigurement of feet "misshapen by bunions."

A trick of vanity closely akin is the high guimpe introduced by the second wife of Philip III, of France, "for the special benefit of her long throat and flat chest," while it is claimed that the ruff, which has had so great an influence upon women's neckwear from generation to generation, was invented in Henry VI's time by a Spanish lady of quality to hide a wen on her neck.

Until the reign of good Queen Bess all English stockings were made of cloth seamed up the sides, the clocks on our present-day hose being a vestige of the embroidery used to cover up these side seams.

In the same period the first pins were manufactured in England, crude affairs, yet a precious boon, for until that sixteenth century Eve had depended solely upon ribbons to fasten together all gaps in her fig leaves, laces with tags, a most primitive hook and eye, or more clumsy still, a brass, silver or gold skewer.

A more ambitious novelty that was a quickly prized accessory to dress was the fan that came to England from Italy, via France, a beautiful creation of feathers, with a costly gold, silver or agate handle; jeweled in emeralds, rubies and diamonds; hung at the waist by a golden chain, the "zenith" of its power and coquetry reached in the eighteenth century, when ladies at a dance threw their fans upon a table, the gentlemen choosing their partners by picking out the fair owner's favor from the pretty heap.

Natural flowers worn in the hair during the middle ages again became fashionable in Louis XIV's reign, a tiny bottle of water to hold them fresh sometimes hidden in the clustering curls of the peruke affected by women as well as men—forerunner of the bosom bottle which, covered with silk, was used for the same purpose concealed in the stomacher of an eighteenth century party dress.

In the time of Charles I, who wore a magnificent pear-shaped pearl in one ear on his way to execution, earrings were popular for both men and women.

Likewise, in the beginning, men as well as women carried muffs, the earliest drawing with a muff that we have bearing the date 1598; and in the days primeval bracelets were no mere woman's gewgaws, since the monuments of ancient Rome chronicled the number of "armillae" conferred upon the dead for heroic deeds, while a Saxon nobleman wore a gold one weighing twenty ounces troy.

Although worn before, gloves did not find favor with women until the fourteenth century, when they were always in evidence. If not on the hands, in them or carried stuck in the girdle, the stitching that made the fingers extending far down the back of the hand and finished off with fancy stitch and embroidery, the gauntlet often jeweled, the whole glove perfumed.

Do You Have To Slip The Service Man A Cigar

—tell him your grandmother is coming to town or that you broke a leg or something, before you can get your car out on the road again? The odds are about ten to one that you have to put up a stall something like this or you wouldn't get it till Christmas. You see the man who sells cars makes his money SELLING them—not FIXING them.

Our business is selling service—not automobiles. The fact that we have the largest and best equipped repair shop in Cleveland proves that we are making a success of selling SERVICE.

Here you find some eighty five men, grouped into seven big apartments. The men at the head of each department have been chosen because they are experts in their line—most of them having filled similar positions with the largest automobile factories in the country.

Jobs that you might expect to take days, we turn out in hours. Whether you want new fenders—new upholstery—side curtains—or the old car made to look like new—every man in our organization works to see it done quickly—expertly, reasonably. Let us give you our estimate.

Tips For Play-Goers

Opera House

Not in years has so much genuine heart interest centered in an American book or play as is now directed toward "Pollyanna," which comes to the Opera House for a week's engagement commencing Labor Day with the original cast assembled by Klaw and Erlanger and George Tyler. The "Pollyanna" stories, which have enormous circulation in many lands, were written by Eleanor H. Porter, of Boston. "Pollyanna" does not deal with sex problems, nor morbid themes, and is for the many who seek the theatre for real diversion, for harmless merriment and appealing sentiment. The play goes with the spirit of glad philosophy. Pollyanna, a young girl, the orphaned daughter of a western missionary, has gone to live with a crusty maiden aunt in the city. The aunt did not desire her, but through her persistence in playing what she calls "The glad game", Pollyanna not only won the heart of her aunt, but transformed all the grouches of the town. "The glad game" is simple. Young people all over America have organized what are called "glad clubs" to attend the play and drink in the beautiful philosophy of the buoyant girl whose gladness converted an entire community into one of happiness. Patricia Collinge, Joseph Jefferson, Beatrice Morgan, Maude Granger, some of them who have been stars in their own right—are in the cast, with numerous other distinguished players. There will be three matinees during the engagement Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. The prices for the Monday and Wednesday matinees will range from 25c to $1.50 and at the Saturday matinee and evening performances 50c to $2.00. Mail orders when accompanied by a remittance with an enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope for a reply will be filled in order of their receipt.

The Miles

Opening next Monday at the Miles is another banner summer bill and the patrons are assured new and novel attractions.

Heading the bill are Edmund and Asha Catreno, Spain's famous dancers. The Spanish dances are more technical than the national dances of any country. However, the large percentage of the great dancers have been Spanish.

Two added attractions are on the program in May Walton, singer of character songs and Frank Mason in their comedy skit The Man in Black. May Walton has made a big name for herself at the head of character singers, and she is a born comedienne.

Mary and Freed come in one of the season's greatest sketches in Maytime, a very entertaining dramatic playlet, "A Welcome Visitor," is Cojoe, the extraordinary violinist who wears picturesque gypsy garb and rare charm, and to fill out another of C. H. Miles great bills will be Shirley Mason in "The Lady of the Photograph and a big two reel comedy.

PROSPECT THEATER

That very successful play, "Which One Shall I Marry?" will be the attraction at the Prospect next week, opening with a special matinee on Labor Day.

Can gold pay for neglect, or a jeweled necklace make happy the heart which beats beneath it? Does the right road to a happy married life lead to a loveless existence of luxury with a money mad prince of finance, or a little home with only the necessities of life and the strong love of a real man? This, and many other knotty problems which confront every woman on the doorstep of matrimony are answered in "Which One Shall I Marry?", Rowland and Howard's latest offering.

There are three requisites which a play of this character must possess brilliant settings actors of unusual talent and punch.

Standard Theatre

"The Soul of Satan" with Gladys Brockwell will be shown at The Standard Theatre the week of Sept. 2nd. The story centers about Miss Brockwell whose life of drudgery is unrelieved until Joe Valdez enters it. She does not know that Joe in years past had eloped with another man's wife, and she herself did not know that her marriage to him was also a fake marriage. He lures her to a gambling house of which he is the manager and uses her to entice rich men to his place so that they can fleece them. A rich man from the west comes and as she tries her tricks on him he is next to her but lets her go through with it, he recognizes her husband as the man who ran away with his friend's wife and telegraphs him in the west, and when they meet face to face Joe lies dead in the silence of the night. The rich stranger tells his tale of love and finally takes her back west with him. The night scenes in this picture are the most wonderful ever produced, and Miss Brockwell's work is well known to all picture fans and she needs no introduction. Mutt and Jeff cartoons will also be shown.

The Liberty

The Liberty Theatre, Superior avenue at East 105th street, will open its regular 1917-18 vaudeville season on Labor day afternoon.

"One matinee will be given, while in the evening, in order to accommodate the crowds, a continuous performance will be offered from 6:30 to 11 p. m. This will practically resolve itself into three separate and distinct shows in the evening.

The regular policy of the Liberty, aside from the holiday engagements, will include two shows each evening, with matinees on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Vaudeville programs will remain a full week, with an entire change of program on Sunday, and on each Monday for a six day week.

Never before in the history of the Liberty has such strides been made toward the production of and presenting of programs of features and metropolitan vaudeville. All obstacles were removed to offer patrons of the theatre a program which can bear any amount of criticism from the most discriminating theatre goers.

"Balance,"—the missing link in so many vaudeville bills—will be found the paramount feature of this season's Liberty program.

Every act to be seen during the entire season is censored, carefully weighed and criticized before it is engaged.

This season's orchestra at the Liberty will be a feature which will attract attention from those who appreciate good music. Al Marney, former leader of Lowe's eastern orchestras, will occupy the orchestra pit.

The opening program will consist of Joe Hicks, known as the greatest diabolo and boomerang expert in the world. Mr. Hicks was formerly with the Eva Tanguay and Harry Lauder road shows.

The Four American Beauties. A quartette of pretty girls who render an entertaining repertoire of vocal and instrumental music.

Blackburn and Walker, recent features with the famous colored comic opera, "Darktown Follies," in a liberal distribution of "jaz" music and comedy patter and dancing.

Thompson and Mumford, an act which has headlined and which has been featured all over the Miles and Keith circuits.

Lottie and Weizman in a brand new sketch, entitled, "Her First Patient." and Mme. Warden's 100 trained birds.

Mme Warden's birds played for months in the New York Hippodrome and is considered the daintiest and most original act of its kind in theatredom.

Several high class photoplays will be shown in conjunction with an orchestra concert, making the initial show at the Liberty the very best since its opening.

The theatre is now under the management of Palmer C. Slocum, formerly with the Keith and Miles circuits.

EMPIRE THEATER

In announcing the engagement of Rube Bernstein's new 1918 "Follies of Pleasure" at the Empire theatre for the coming week, hte management makes public the following information:

A company of prominent singers and comedians will be seen in the support of Clyde J. Bates, said to be the funniest tramp comedian in burlesque. Tom McKenna, Mac Mills, Violet Hilson and a dozen others of almost equal prominence in the theatrical world besides the wonder chorus of California beauties. The boxing girls are featured.

STAR THEATRE

Next week will see Ben Welch and his Big Show at the Star theatre and this season the popular comedian is bringing the "best show that he has ever had" and one which the critics so far have pronounced the best show that Mr. Welch has ever put on the Columbia circuit.

Mr. Welch has surrounded himself with a capital cast and among the most prominent ones are Pat Kearney, Frank P. Murphy, Billy Wild, Sid Gold, Sylvia Brody, Elva Greves, Leona Earl and Frankie Martin.

MALL THEATRE

The biggest and best picture ever made with Harold Lockwood has been booked for an entire week's run at the Mall theatre, starting Sunday.

It is "Under Handicap," adapted from the famous novel by Jackson Gregory.

Those who have enjoyed Harold Lockwood's brand of picture-acting will say that "Under Handicap" excels any of his previous work. Reports from the special reviewer for the Mall, Mr. Wid Gunning of New York, says it is a wonderful picture.

Luna Park

Luna will close its season on Labor Day, when the Cleveland Federation of Labor holds its annual outing. Six big vaudeville acts, a band concert, cabaret and motion pictures will be presented free until the closing day.

Y. M. C. A. SCHOOLS HAVE HAD MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The Y. M. C. A. schools of Cleveland have just closed their most successful year. [illegible] different young men from all parts of Cleveland and northern Ohio have pursued courses which are designed primarily to train young men for positions in business and in the trades.

On August 17th a class of 23 was graduated from the summer school of the business, technical, and college preparatory departments. The graduates in the business and technical departments who had not already secured positions previously have all been placed in good jobs, one of the graduates without any previous practical experience being placed at the rate of $80 per month. The college preparatory department during the past year has prepared students for Western Reserve University, Case School of Applied Science, Ohio State University and the University of Michigan.

The day and night schools, which will open in September, will offer 64 different courses, all of which will be taught by men who are experts in their respective subjects. In spite of war conditions R. J. Hoddinott, the educational secretary, says the outlook is the best ever for a large enrollment this coming year.

TWO NEW BRITISH ORDERS

Two new orders have been instituted by King George in recognition of the services [illegible] been rendered in connection with the war.

The first is the "Order of the British Empire," consisting of five classes to be given to women as well as to men, the first two classes carrying the honor of knighthood for men and in the case of women the privilege of prefixing the title "Dame" to their names.

The second order will be entitled "Order of the Companions of Honor," consisting of one class only, for both men and women. The order carries no title or precedence and will be conferred on a limited number of persons for whom special distinction seems to be the most appropriate form of recognition. The Prince of Wales has been appointed Grand Master of the order.

THE PASSION FOR LEARNING

"You mustn't go near the open windows, dear," said a mother during housecleaning time to her three-year-old daughter. "If you should fall out on the ground, you would surely break your neck."

Betty followed her mother upstairs and played happily with her doll for an hour. Suddenly her mother missed her from the bed and, noticing that the door was closed, thought she was hiding somewhere in the room. After a playful search of a minute or two she heard a pater of small feet in the hall, and hastened to open the door.

"I didn't break my neck, mother," remarked the child, as she resumed her play with the doll.

FROM THE WINDOW

When first to the breeze the flag he threw,
It was, he vows, red, white and blue.
But waving in the sunshine bright,
It soon became red, white and white.
And now, with thanks to restless dyes,
White, white and white is what he flies.
Yet, after all, what need to care?
The colors run, but the spirit's there.

Interesting People---Thoughts--Recipes--Articles for Men and Women--Fashions

HOME MANAGERS DEVELOPED BY ANDREWS SCHOOL SYSTEM

Out in Willoughby girls are being trained in a brand new profession, the nearest outgrowth of modern economical conditions. Even as the well regulated business office has developed a need, and now employs a well trained, highly efficient office manager, one who is at once a bookkeeper, business correspondent, purchasing agent, secretary and perhaps a stenographer, the American home of today has developed a universal need for an equally well trained home manager, and she must have all the qualifications of efficiency, plus practical and economical sense. She may manage a home of her own or be a paid employe. She has come to stay. The new domestic efficiency experts are being trained for their profession with a systematic thoroughness which leaves nothing lacking, even to a beautifully engraved diploma presented to each upon her graduation.

The diploma will play a part in the work of the professional homemaker. It will open a position in the home which will place her on a footing she has never known before in all the history of the institution home. The subservient menial, subject to her mistress's poor management, her whims, imposed drudgery, capriciousness and lack of appreciation, is soon to be replaced by a highly trained, scientific manager, whose position will bear the same relation in the home that the one enjoys who runs the business of an office or factory.

And the miracle which is promoting these new professional homemakers and transforming the old type of domestic service to its newly evolved one of dignity and efficiency, is being wrought at the Andrews Institute for Girls in Willoughby.

There is no other industrial school in the country that has developed a curriculum which will equip a girl for work along lines of the newly required standard of home-making and in which she will find henceforth a dignified lucrative profession. The Andrews Institute, though founded seven years ago, has not until the present time developed a course so universally appealing to girls who come from the humbler walks of life in village, farm, or country town.

The Andrews institute was founded in accordance with the provisions of the wills of Mr. Wallace Corydon Andrews and his wife, Mrs. Margaret St. John Andrews, the latter of Willoughby, whose spacious girlhood residence is the home of the institute, which was formally opened on April 4, 1910.

It had been the ultimate aim of Mr. Andrews, but especially of Mrs. Andrews, that in this institute girls would be afforded an opportunity to train for trades which would enable them to earn a good livelihood. While the will said that the school was to have courses in stenography, typewriting, bookkeeping, millinery and dressmaking, the home-making course even then had the strongest appeal for Mrs. Andrews.

And while training in the general studies is varied and up to the minute, there is a general leaning on the part of the pupil and teacher towards the homemaking course. Therefore, it is safe to prophesy that the new profession of home making is destined to do much to regulate home management, which, like everything else, has been affected by [illegible] of the past.

The policy of the school was dictated in the will of Mr. and Mrs. Andrews thus: "Said institution shall contain, among others, a sewing department, cooking department, designing department, and departments of stenography and typewriting, and other useful work that would afford the pupils employment in life, including such new discoveries and inventions as may be made from time to time tending to enlarge the opportunities for useful and honorable employment for women."

The spirit of the provision is followed out by the introduction of new courses, as the times bring new needs. The newest of these is a course in salesmanship. This course receives an unusual response, as it really opens a way for a broader line of endeavor than that of just selling. A girl can better adjust herself to commercial work in general after her course in salesmanship. She is given a practical training in the art of buying as well as selling, and is also taught a commercial knowledge of all merchandise in common use, even to how manufactured and how distributed to the consumer. At intervals the girls are taken to wholesale and retail establishments by teachers and given practical demonstrations in the art of commerce. No one can doubt what a course in salesmanship will do toward the making of an expert buyer out of the professional home maker. Besides the practical marketing a pupil gets in her courses, she is also taught home nursing, repairing of house linens, budget making and the division of income, house managing, cooking for families, invalid cooking, infant feeding, practical scientific laundry work, everyday household chemistry, simple dietetics, and food value in relation to the family health.

Spacious as the old St. John residence is, it is no longer adequate as a school building and many of the classes are conducted in the cottages of the institution.

There are seven of these. In reality they are spacious homes scatered through the village. Each cottage is in charge of a house mother, whose function is to be general overseer and manager, but where all of the actual work, even to the buying and budget making, is done by these future homemakers and tradeswomen.

Only the initiated can appreciate what the school means to the future of many of these girls, some of whom come from homes of destitution, improvidence and ignorance.

However, no mistake is to be made as to the character of the Andrews Institute. It is not a home for incorrigibles, neither for girls sentenced by juvenile court. In this institute worthy girls, who will have to earn their livelihoods, obtain a practical training in trade or the less academic professions.

There is a spirit of unity among the teachers and housemothers in helping to advise, and in teaching and determining for what each girl is fitted, which proves a subject at once touching and rather amusing.

Right now the Andrews Institute's chief concern is the proposed centralization of school buildings and cottages upon its magnificent new farm of three hundred acres. This was acquired a short time ago. It is situated upon the eastern bluff along the Chagrin River and is opposite Willoughby. It extends back to Kirtland Road, and no lovelier acreage can be found in that entire beautiful country. The Andrews Farm is bounded on three sides by the estates of Mrs. H. A. Sherwin and Mr. E. W. Moore and the late Mr. Henry A. Everett. There are groves of native forest trees, orchards, fertile cultivated fields, nut groves, valleys and brooks. Not the least in importance is a big war garden. This is being cared for by the pupils and is in a fine state of cultivation.

Plans for buildings are now in the hands of architects, Mr. Franz C. Warner, of Cleveland, and Mr. Electus D. Litchfield, of New York city.

How much the completion of the new buildings will mean to the faculty and pupils! There is a long list of girls anxiously waiting for admission and an equally long list of applicants who are anxious to employ Andrews graduates.

What a scope for work lies before the faculty, and how eagerly they await the opportunity to do this—a labor of love and service!—From Town Topics.

The Gas Shortage

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR IT?

The Scientific Heater Company are preparing a booklet upon this subject. It will gladly be mailed to anyone interested for the asking.

Every gas furnace user, every builder, architect, landlord and tenant who use gas or want to use gas for heating should have a copy.

Cleveland should know the truth of this situation. It is high time that this problem should be settled in an efficient scientific way.

Gas is the cheapest, cleanest, most convenient, sanitary and healthful fuel. Cleveland should be able to enjoy gas heating without the worry of a shortage in cold weather.

Coal Conditions in Cleveland

Thousands of Cleveland people are not following their custom of putting in a winter supply of coal while conditions are good.

The truth is that they expect lower prices.

Frankly—this very minute we do not know what future prices will be. No one does.

But we do know that the price of a ton of coal is fixed by what we must pay at the mine, by labor prices, by transportation and delivery charges, by materials, feed and general overhead, plus a fair profit.

We are now selling coal as cheap as possible, and we always will! We could sell it cheaper by cutting the pay of our men, by giving less care and feed to our horses and by doing other things you would not have us do.

The other charges we cannot control.

Face these facts squarely and put in as much coal as you can, for we are afraid that you are going to delay until the day when every one will want coal at the same time and it will be humanly impossible to give the service asked for, at any price.

Does Her Own Housework Since Tanlac Has Built Up Her Run-Down System

"I am now doing my own housework and it doesn't tire me out like it used to," said Mrs. John A. Kozsey, 2503 E. 22nd st., in telling what Tanlac did for her after she was all run down.

"I was troubled with my stomach for a long time," she continued. "After meals gas formed on my stomach, which made me feel bloated and uncomfortable. I often had dizzy spells and headaches and sometimes I would have chills. My circulation was poor, too, and I had that tired feeling most of the time. No matter how tired I was, however, I couldn't sleep soundly because I was nervous.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel much better. I am not troubled with my stomach, and I don't lie awake nights like I used to. The dizzy spells have disappeared and I feel better all around. Tanlac is certainly a good medicine. I am well pleased with it."

Tanlac is a purely vegetable tonic made of roots, barks and berries and is especially designed to build up run-down people. If you are in need of a good tonic get it today. It will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

You can get Tanlac at any good drug store in Cleveland. The Tanlac representative at the Standard Drug's Old Arcade store, 411 Euclid ave. will be glad to explain all about this wonderful tonic to you.—Advt.

Consider The Squirrel

Last week's cold spell set the squirrels in the parks hunting for acorns.

Instinct warned them that the long summer days would soon be over; they began to think of winter and food for the days when the snow is deep.

Housewives who have already been preserving food against the winter months are forearmed. There is still time for the others and Fall fruits and vegetables are pouring in for their attention.

But we humans have something else to think about that does not bother the squirrel. His furry coat will get thicker and keep him warm. We must provide for heat, as well as food.

Cleveland's Gas Service has made heating the home a cheap and simple thing, usually just a matter of lighting a match and turning on the gas.

This winter will be no exception. Gas Service will still provide the cheapest and most convenient way of heating the house.

But there will be days, no doubt, when extreme cold will require more heat than thousands of gas wells can furnish.

For those days it will be wise to have some additional means of heating, a store of other fuel to draw upon and auxiliary appliances for converting it.

The wise squirrel hunts his food in the open so long as he can and guards his stored supply.

The forehanded householder will use Gas Service but have auxiliary heating appliances, too.

Consult our experts about it; their advice is free.

DID YOU EVER HAVE A RECIPE PARTY?

"Did you ever hear of a recipe party?" she asked of her week-end guest. "I went to one a while ago, and it was such a jolly affair that I have been wanting to give one myself ever since. I am just wondering if I can arrange to have it while you are here; I think you would enjoy it. Moreover, I want you to meet the family, and that would be such a pleasant way.

"The family? Haven't I told you about that yet? It is quite an important institution, to us. We are six all girls—and we all keep house, in pairs. We enjoy our apartments immensely, and we often have the jolliest dinner parties together. We are all busy people, three school teachers, two social workers and a journalist; but our housekeeping is our relaxation and delight. Every one of us likes to cook and so, I think, a recipe party would be just the thing for us. Shall I tell you about the one I went to?

"The girl whom I was visiting lives in a single house in the suburbs of a large city, and she is so much interested in household affairs that her mother, who is a busy woman with many outside interests, lets her have a great deal to do with the management of the place. She chose a Thursday night for the party, the cook's night out! The guests were a dozen or so girls, members of a sewing club to which she belonged. Some of them were busy by day with teaching and other occupations outside the home, and some, like my hostess, made themselves useful at home. All were interested in cooking, if only on the chafing dish.

"Each guest was asked to bring two or three of her favorite recipes, but was cautioned not to tell anyone what they were. When all had gathered and exchanged greetings and whatever news they had to bring, the hostess arose, and, inviting them all to follow her, led the way out into the kitchen. The long table in the center of the room was scrubbed as white as could be and the guests were invited to take seats about it. Paper and pencil were given to each, and one was asked to sit at the end of the table and copy the recipes into an attractively decorated little notebook, which had been prepared for the occasion. Then the fun began.

"The first girl, on one side, read one of her recipes and the others wrote it down, ingredients, directions and all, and one minute was allowed for guessing what it was; this was [illegible] of course, then the next one read hers and so on until we had been around the table two or three times and all had been written down. Three or five minutes were allowed, at the end of that time for looking over and corrections, and then time was called and each one, reading through her recipes again, announced what they were. The girl who guessed the greatest number of them correctly was given the notebook which had the recipes written in ink. This was bound in water color paper and, when the [illegible] covering was removed, showed a picture of the girls, which had been taken at one of their summer [illegible] parties. This was a blue print and the hostess had provided blue ink for the writing in of the recipes. Moreover, not only the cover was decorated, but, scattered through the book, were several blue print snapshots of familiar faces and scenes.

"The refreshments served were simple, a milk sherbert, dainty little cakes and a delicious fruit punch, all prepared by the hostess and according to the recipes which she had contributed to the cook book.

"Now, don't you think that that would be a jolly thing for our family to do? And quite a valuable one, too, for we all cook our own breakfasts and dinners; and, just now, we are much interested in canning and preserving."—From the Christian Science Monitor.

DEFINITIONS FOR THE NEW HOUSEKEEPER

"What do you mean by 'acidulated' water'?" asked the new housekeeper, poring over a cook-book with a puzzled air. "I suppose it must mean water with some sort of acid mixed with it; but, the question is, what, and how much?"

"I can answer that for you," was the helpful reply of the friend who had come to luncheon. "Acidulated water is water with which lemon juice or vinegar has been mixed, in the proportion of 1 tablespoon of the acid to a quart of water."

"Thank you," came in grateful tones from the new housekeeper. "Perhaps you can tell me, too, what meat glaze is."

"Certainly," came the prompt answer. "Meat glaze is a rich or concentrated liquid almost a jelly which you get upon putting 4 quarts of stock on to boil and reducing it to a very small amount, about 1 cup."

"Now, here is just one more question for you, for the present; when is the time to flavor custards and puddings, with vanilla or lemon extract or things like that? Some say when they are hot; others when they are cold. Now, who is right, and what is the reason?"

"When the pudding is cold—or cool—is the right time," was the reply; "otherwise, you do not get the full benefit of the flavoring, because much of it may exaporate with the steam."—Christian Science Monitor.

REMAINED SEATED

At a church adjacent to a big military camp a service was recently held for soldiers only.

"Let all the brave fellows who have troubles stand up,' shouted the preacher.

Instantly every man rose except one.

"Ah!" exclaimed the preacher, peering at this lone individual, "You are one in a thousand."

"It ain't that," piped back the only man who had remained seated, as the rest of his comrades gazed suspiciously at him. "Somebody's put some cobbler's wax on the seat and I'm stuck."

A foreign exchange says that when Sir Charles Napier was military resident of Cephalonia he built a road more than 100 miles long over the Black Mountains, and in one of his letters wrote: "Many a poor mule's soul will say a good word for me at the last day when they remember the old road." A Quick Glance at Our Women's and Misses' New Autumn Suits

You have observed her—noticed her in the throngs that move along the Avenue. Yes, your eyes have been caught by the Tailored Woman. What is her peculiar charm? The Suit is quiet, inconspicuous, unobtrusive, yet it makes her stand in clear relief from the multitude. Even the sleeves are accented. The cutter cut them out of the common—lifted them above the ordinary.

Such are our Tailored Suits—taut without tension—giving lithe, lissom figures the effect of silhouettes, and a seeming of sapling slenderness to figures that are frankly fat, softening stoutness into fluency that vanishes into a definite profile.

Semi-fitted and pleated models with high or normal waist-line, many belted styles. Broadcloths, silvertone, barella, tricot, Poiret twill, serges, hair-lined striped worsteds in Pekin blue, cactus, aloe, navy, Hawaii brown, beetroot, navy and black. Braids, novelty buttons and beautiful furs afford either wide or restricted scope for trimming. The early display indicates that the coming season will mark another trade triumph for The May Co.

SALE OF WALL PROPERTY RECALLS REMINISCENCES

The sale of the Wall property to Joseph Hahn, as mentioned in the Republican recently, brings many interesting reminiscences to the mind of Mrs. Eliza Ford, of Euclid avenue at the Junction, her father having built the house. It was some time ago when he settled there, and built a small place which was used as a shop. Later it was moved and the family lived in it, pending the building by Mr. Talbot of the house just sold.

All the lumber was bought from Geauga County, and Mrs. Ford can vouch for the excellent building that was done. Then too, it was some task to bring the lumber over the Kirtland hills, which were very steep in those days. The family lived in the house for about 15 years.

Mrs. Ford, then a little girl, did not wish to leave the old home when the rest of the family moved, and hoping to evade sight, hid behind a dresser. However the dresser and the little girl were both moved and Mrs. Ford now has the dresser in her home.

MINISTER FROM FRANCE SPEAKS ENTERTAININGLY AT METHODIST CHURCH

The Rev. E. W. Byshe, superintendent of the Grenoble Orphanage, Grenoble, France, occupied the Methodist pulpit Sunday morning. He talked upon conditions in France during the war. Intense interest was exhibited by the audience during the hour's talk. He dwelt upon the great spirit of optimism and good cheer shown by the French in the midst of the loss of life and the great suffering. The speaker had the art of bringing the lighter touch to his subject, making it possible to present to his audience thereby the terrible facts of the war. That they are fighting for the democracy of the world seems uppermost in the minds of the French soldiers, he said. An interesting fact developed by his talk was that Great Britain has recruited almost five million men, although the arrangement between Great Britain and France only called for 150,000 men from Great Britain. The great valor of the Canadian soldiers, and the pitiful condition of the Canadian orphans, was also dwelt upon.

NON-STOP RECORD IS TAKEN BY OLDSMOBILE

An interesting non-top endurance run staged by the Oldsmobile company, of New England, at Boston, Mass., has just been reported.

A model 37 six-cylinder Oldsmobile was mounted on jacks and harnessed to a seven-kilowatt dynamo, giving the car a continuous load equivalent to climbing a 10½ per cent grade.

Mayor Curley, in the presence of a host of newspaper men and official observers, pressed the starter and threw in the clutch, and from that time on for forty-seven days the car patiently plodded on without a single stop, running 26,149 miles at an average speed of 28.17 miles an hour, and traveled 22.49 miles to the gallon. The Oldsmobile was a new car and a regular stock model without any special adjustment.

The total oil consumed was 220 pints, or an average of 950.8 miles to the gallon. A flood of light, generated by the dynamo, demonstrated day and night that the car was doing its work. When the best previous nonstop record has been eclipsed by 4,127 miles, the car was stopped.

The I. M. Crowthers and Sons Co., are the Oldsmobile dealers for Lake county.

ATTENTION—PROGRESSIVE MAN

You can well afford to own a farm, raise your own produce, live happy and contented.

You can not afford to pay such high prices for the things you eat and take the chances of them not being fresh when there are so many good farms on our list that are controlled in price by our contracts, which we obtained while prices were very much lower than now.

You should have a twofold object in view. 1st to raise your own vegetables, chickens, pork, beef and grain.

WICKLIFFE CLAIMS BASE BALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The W. A. C. boys played the Painesville boys again Sunday, the score being 5 to 2 in favor of Wickliffe. It was reported that this was the first game out of twenty that Golding, their pitcher, had lost. Our boys feel that they can safely claim the championship of Lake county. If there is any team in the county which think they cannot, have them come up and see for themselves. The W. A. C. boys have played fine ball this summer.

Last Saturday we took an eight mile ride to Balboa and the lieutenant in charge took the whole bunch down to the Pacific and we all had a swim. We went over to Miraflores Locks Sunday, and they are certainly a wonderful piece of engineering. The depth of the water at one level is 58 feet, and it raises to 72 feet in the very next gate.

The other day we saddled up with full pack and went for a ride down the canal. Our pack consists of saddle, sadle-bags, water and feed bag, rifle, sabre, pistol, our raincoat, shelter half, blanket, mess kit and grooming outfit, so by the time you get that fastened on, you wonder is any place for you".

An English hospital ship went through the other day, and some of the boys went down. The English soldiers seem to think that Germany cannot hold out until spring, and we aren't the only ones, I guess, who are hoping they 'think' right.

A CIRCLE THAT NEVER STOPS GROWING

It is astonishing how quickly people get to know about a car, and especially about the men who build it.
People are not buying Dodge Brothers Motor Car simply because they want a car of some sort, or any sort.
They are buying it because they want the precise and particular kind of a car which Dodge Brothers build.
All over the country they seem to have a shrewd and accurate idea of exactly the kind of manufacturers Dodge Brothers are.
They seem to know that Dodge Brothers idea, from the very first, was that if they built the car right—nothing else mattered much.
People generally know all about the car—or nearly all—before they call on a Dodge Brothers dealer.
They know it either from their own experience, or from what they have seen or been told of other people's experience.
They pick out the very points for which it is noted everywhere—points which have not been emphasized especially in advertising.
They know why they want the car and they are more eager for it today all over the country than they have been at any other period in its history.
The production has always been too small to come anywhere near satisfying the demand.
It is at this moment, and it probably will be for years to come, no matter how much it may be increased.
The explanation is ridiculously simple.
The car has never bred anything but good will.
Every time one of these cars goes into a home it becomes an intimate part of the family life of that home.
It gets nothing but good will and gives it.
The result is that the [illegible] little circle of good will revolving around Dodge Brothers Motor Car.
The circle spreads out [illegible] to a near-by neighbor.
That neighbor's home [illegible] good will toward Dodge Brothers [illegible] circle keeps on growing.
In that way it has [illegible] in the entire country.
There is always a dealer [illegible] satisfied, as fast as the dealer gets his supply.
That's why [illegible] in 2 years and a half have fall[illegible] the demand.
The car has qualities [illegible]
People have found this out in their own way.
It [illegible] good with them, and they have given it their good will.
That is why the good will circle goes on growing greater and greater.
Dodge Brothers know this.
They know it is the biggest and best asset in their business.
And, knowing it, they will of course keep on making the car better and better.

Tips For Play-Goers

HIPPODROME

When the B. F. Keith Hippodrome opens for the regular season it is usually a sign that the theatrical season is on in full swing. This house will open on Monday matinee for the season of 1917-1918. An excellent program has been arranged to start the season. The new policy of nine acts instead of eight will start the opening week. Miss Sally Fisher, who is a popular musical comedy star will be the headline attraction in a new success by Clare Kummer called "The Choir Rehearsal." This act is said to be one of the most delightful playlets offered in vaudeville for many years. Miss Fisher will be supported by a carefully selected cast. It is whispered about that Charles Dillingham looked after the staging of this vaudeville masterpiece. Another headline feature will be Foster Ball Co. Mr. Ball's character of an old G. A. R. veteran is one of the best character portrayals seen on the stage for some time. Assisted by Kernan Cripps, Mr. Ball will present his latest version of the gripping human interest comedy "Since The Days of '61". An extra added attraction will be Bert Savoy & Jay Brennan, New York's most popular successes during the past season of vaudeville in a screamingly funny afternoon travesty called "After the Matinee".

These two boys should provide an excellent comedy act. Colour Gems with a combination of light, colour and form introducing several of the most famous models in the country will be a feast to the eyes. A lively act with plenty of pep and action will be offered by The Midnight Rollickers. A large company of entertainers will be seen in this act with a versatile assortment of up to date fun making.

Sig Franz and his group of comedians featuring La Petite Violette will provide a lot of wholesome fun with his "World on Wheels." Among the other features will be George Fox and Zeeda Ingram with their Merry Medley of mirth and melody Ethel Hopkins with moments musical and the three Quillos, sensational masters of equilibrium.

Colonial Theatre

The Colonial theatre will open its season on Monday, September 10, with a theatrical novelty. The attraction will be Joe O'Gorman in his musical Irish play entitled "Irish and Proud of It."

The company is Irish and is said to come direct from the Royal theatre, Dublin. The play is filled with Irish wit and melodies, among the important musical numbers being, "Welcome to Erin," "Irish Eyes of Blue," "Sad the Day," "Old Fashioned Irish Wedding," "Good-Bye Mick," "A Boy With an Irish Name," and "Garden Party Ball."

The Miles

The winter vaudeville season will start at the Miles next Monday, two special attractions augmenting the show, to make the fourth fall opening a gala week.

Prof. H. Armand presents the military war spectacle, "The Perils of Our Nation," as the stellar attraction. This offering is not a motion picture. The miniature cities are built upon the stage and are bombarded, burned and destroyed. The production is introduced by Margaret May Lester who has the indorsement of the United States government for the act.

Hal Stephens in "Famous characters in famous scenes," Frager Bums and Harding, operatic trio; Freddy James, eccentric juggler, and the three R[illegible], in an instrumental novelty fill the vaudeville list, and little Mary McAllister in the five-part comedy drama will be the motion picture feature.

The Liberty

The Liberty theatre offers as its feature act for next week's program, the second of the season, the Six [illegible] Arabs, an acrobatic potpourri which was the feature of last season with Barnum & Bailey's circus.

Other acts on the program will be [illegible], Gertrude McGill & Co. [illegible], known as the [illegible] of vaudeville, the Big Four quartette, a thousand pounds of harmony, together with orchestra concerts and a picture, the [illegible] masterpiece of Clara Kimball Young, Norma Talmadge, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew and [illegible].

There will be a matinee on Saturday when the regular vaudeville show and special children's features will be offered.

Kindness is a language that the deaf can hear and the dumb can speak and understand.

The first production ever produced and released in the United States by The Goldwyn Picture Corporation, will be shown at The Standard Theatre, week of Sept. 9th, entitled "Polly of the Circus" with Mae Marsh.

Miss Marsh will be remembered starring in The Birth of a Nation and in Intolerance, but she has put all her best energy into the making of Polly of the Circus. Miss Margaret Mayo the author personally supervised the directing of her most famous story into photoplay and it far exceeds the talking stage version. The scenes are the most beautiful ever seen and it brings one back to boyhood days to see the circus come to town, the street parade, feeding the elephants and treating your best girl to red lemonade. Besides the wonderful story that deals with this photoplay, later scenes, the accident, the fair ground, the horse race, the great fire scene and finishing with a life of love and contentment, this picture is beyond description. And one laughs and cries and wish we could live it all over again.

PROSPECT THEATER

It is hardly necessary to reiterate details as to the story of Bartley Campbell's "White Slave" which has been given a new production and will be produced at the Prospect Theatre next week. It has been a source of entertainment to the public for over 35 years and its appearance at any time is always a matter of interest to the theatregoing public. Suffice to say that it concerns the mystery surrounding the birth of a white girl who is brought up as a negress and a slave. A delightful romance is developed and after many experiences of an intensely dramatic character it is learned that she belongs to an aristocratic Southern family. Picturesque scenic effects have been built expressly for the tour and the play will be presented by a cast of exceptionally clever players. One of the pleasing features is the singing and dancing of a troupe of negroes whose antics reflect slavery life in the long ago.

Robert Campbell, son of the author, and who has guarded the destinies of the drama ever since the death of his father, has given the piece a sumptuous scenic production and a cast including [illegible] Aiken, a [illegible] girl, [illegible]. She plays the part of [illegible] the young [illegible] who has created this [illegible]. She has youth and beauty, and is said to have the most luxurious head of hair seen on the stage in recent years. Miss Aiken, the talented daughter of Frank E. Aiken, a brilliant player of his time, is also a member of the capable company.

GRIND YOUR OWN WHEAT IN COFFEE MILL, SAYS GOVERNMENT, AND MAKE BREAD

If clean wheat is available, says the United States Department of Agriculture, it may be ground at home in a coffee mill and the following economical and nutritious bread made:

Over a mixture of 1 tablespoonful sugar and 1¼ teaspoonfuls salt in a mixing bowl pour 1¼ cups of hot water or skim milk. When the liquid has become lukewarm, add ½ cake dry yeast or 1 gill liquid yeast and 1½ cups of home-ground wheat flour. Set over night to rise. In the morning add 1½ cups flour, beat well, put into greased pan, allow to rise until the bulk is doubled, and bake.

SIXTY FOOT LOTS OFFERED AT NEW ALLOTMENT

A limited number of sixty-foot lots will be offered in its Willoughby-Euclid avenue allotment by The McNutt—Mc Call Co., according to an announcement by the company. These lots are situated on a part of Glenrush avenue, Oakdale and Crestwood avenues.

This action, the company states, has been taken in response to numerous requests from many of its Willoughby friends and patrons, who appreciated the desirability of the property, and the advantage of securing fully improved and carefully restricted homesites, but who wished the privilege of purchasing slightly smaller parcels.

The company desires, in this connection, to direct attention to the fact that this action on its part does not result in a reducion of prices, nor a lowering of the quality of the property. The 60-foot lots it is offering will front on wide streets, be fully improved and protected with the same restrictions as the lots on Brown avenue, Waldamere avenue and the remainder of Glenrush avenue, which will stand at the original 80 and 100 foot widths. The reduction in the width of a portion of the lots makes readily apparent the very reasonable prices at which the company is offering its lots. The fact is the more impressive when one takes into account the fact that the property is provided throughout with 60-foot streets and that it will have public tennis courts, a beautiful parked square and a handsome shelter house at the entrance.

MILITARY TRAINIG INAUGURATED AT WESTERN RESERVE

Military training will be required of all students in Adelbert College of Western Reserve University this year.

By vote of the college faculty, approved by the Board of Trustees, systematic military training will be required until further notice of all students except those exempted by this college for physical reasons. The course in military science will include military drill and military tactics.

Dr. W. G. Leutner, Dean of Adelbert College, states that this action has been taken because of the conviction of the college officers that it is the patriotic duty of the college to train students so that they may be of largest service to the nation not only in time of peace but also in time of war, and that the dicipline and physical exercises obtained in connection with military training have great physical and moral value.

It is the object of the course in military science to give students at least a large part of the training required for commissions. Participation in military training in college will in no sense obligate a student to any form of military service.

Negotiations are now in progress to secure for the college military instructors whose work will be recognized by the United States government.

—BECAUSE all city improvements, even to paving, are being put in.
—BECAUSE it's only a few hundred feet from Willoughby's shopping center and is close to excellent schools and churches.
—BECAUSE it is carefully restricted so that no business, apartment or two-family houses can invade the neighborhood
—BECAUSE of its 690-foot elevation the air is always fresh and pure and sickness is a thing unknown.
—BECAUSE many of the lots (the smallest are 80x200 feet) have magnificent fruit and shade trees.
—BECAUSE the prices, $640-$1,500, are less than many ask for unimproved property, less advantageously located.
—BECAUSE its exceptionally low prices and easy terms make it possible for families of average incomes to buy and live here, and, lastly—
—BECAUSE the big industrial development headed eastward from Cleveland is bound to increase the value of this property manyfold within a very short time.

Does Her Own Housework Since Tanlac Has Built Up Her Run-Down System

"I am now doing my own housework and it doesn't tire me out like it used to," said Mrs. John A. Kozsey, 2503 E. 23rd st., in telling what Tanlac did for her after she was all run down.

"I was troubled with my stomach for a long time," she continued. "After meals gas formed on my stomach, which made me feel bloated and uncomfortable. I often had dizzy spells and headaches and sometimes I would have chills. My circulation was poor, too, and I had that tired feeling most of the time. No matter how tired I was, however, I couldn't sleep soundly because I was nervous.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel much better. I am not troubled with my stomach, and I don't lie awake nights like I used to. The dizzy spells have disappeared and I feel better all around. Tanlac is certainly a good medicine. I am well please with it."

Tanlac is a purely vegetable tonic made of roots, barks and berries and is especially designed to build up rundown people. If you are in need of a good tonic get it today. It will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

You can get Tanlac at any good drug store in Cleveland. The Tanlac representative at the Standard Drug's Old Arcade store, 411 Euclid ave., will be glad to explain all about this wonderful tonic to you.—Advt.

Are You Neglecting Your Duty?

Thousands of homes in Cleveland are equipped with gas heating appliances.

The East Ohio Gas Company has advised the people in these homes not to depend on gas service alone.

Still there are thousands who are taking no precautions against the day when there might be inadequate gas.

Are you one of them?

Then we earnestly ask you to put in that precautionary ton or two of coal right now, for if you wait until an emergency arises—there will be thousands more wanting coal and we are afraid it will be humanly impossible to serve you all.

In normal times it takes 4 or 5 days to get a car of coal. It now often takes 4, 5 and 6 weeks. When cold weather comes—what?

Help by ordering now!

Section 6. That said annual installments and all portions thereof shall be applied to the payment of said bonds and interest as the same shall become due, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

Not Merely a newspaper BUT a NEWS-paper.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 33. WILLOUGHBY, O., SEPTEMBER 14 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

WRITTEN FOR THE ATTENTION OF WILLOUGHBY'S MOST INTERESTED CITIZEN

Over in Wickliffe, at the Red Cross, they have sixteen sewing machines in use. Reading of this, one of the members of the Willoughby Red Cross Circle voiced the sentiment of the entire assemblage of Willoughby Red Cross workers, when she said "O, if we could only have one or two more sewing machines, how much more conveniently we could work." It is a fact that the Wickliffe Red Cross workers are extremely well equipped. Mayor Coulby furnished the larger part of the machines. Willoughby must have more than one citizen who would be glad to see that the Willoughby sewing machine needs are supplied or augmented as required.

VILLAGE FUNDS DIVIDED

Mayor Carmichael, N. C. Simth, president of the board of education, and E. M. Otis, superintendent of schools, were in Painesville Monday, attending a meeting of the County Budget Commission, for the purpose of fixing the levy for the village and the schools. The funds available are less than required for the maintenance of the schools and the public service in the village.

OLD EUCLID AVENUE PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

Another Euclid avenue home changed hands during the week when Miss Ethel D. Bryant, editor of the Republican, purchased of Mr. Fred Presley the home at 48 Euclid avenue, at the junction, occupied since April by Miss Bryant and her father. The house was formerly occupied by the Andrews family, and more recently by Mr. and Mrs. Gus. Fickes.

E. A. TIECHE IN HEISLEY AUTO ACCIDENT

An automobile accident that was one of the few that happen that caused no serious injury to any one occurred at Stop 66 recently. Chas. Deitrick of Chardon and E. A. Tieche of Willoughby colliding at that point. The machines were badly damaged and were taken to Painesville for repairs. Both cars were Fords, owned by Mr. Chas. Dietrick and Ray Burbridge.

WICKLIFFE FOLKS TO HAVE FIRST OPPORTUNITY TO BUY FROM THEIR COMMUITY WAR GARDEN

Beans, potatoes, buckwheat, etc., will soon be placed upon the market for Wickliffe's community war garden. The acreage that was set aside by Mayor Coulby and Price McKinney are now beginning to show the results of the summer's work. Wickliffe residents will be given first opportunity to buy and it is likely the crop will soon be sold.

All the proceeds go to the Wickliffe Red Cross. Wickliffe may be little in size, but it certainly is big in ideas, patriotism and progressive people.

SCHOOL SITE IN NEW ALLOTMENT STILL PENDING

The school board report that while favorable action has been taken upon the school site in the Euclid avenue McNutt McCall allotment, the purchase is contingent upon the recommendation of the county prosecutor that sufficient funds for the purpose are available.

ANDREWS SCHOOL HAS STAR CANNER

Elizabeth Sheridan, of the Andrews school, was the winner of about $20 in prizes for canned fruit at the Lake county fair. The fruit is now on exhibition in the case at the school, making a most delightful exhibit.

EIGHTH YEAR OF ANDREWS SCHOOL OPENS WITH AN ENROLLMENT OF TWO HUNDRED PUPILS

An Editorial Written for the Republican by Miss Alice Hanscom

With the opening of the eighth year of the Andrews Institute for Girls, it is fitting that the community be reminded how surely, if quietly, a great work is gathering force and volume, dignity and distinction, in the midst of our peaceful village life. An undertaking so peculiarly original and individual as the Andrews Institute has naturally been watched from its inception with keen interest by thoughtful educators, always alert to take notice of the new and better way to solve the all-important problem,—systematic and progressive training of faculty, mental and physical, for personal and social efficiency. The progress made in seven years furnishes the basis of happy expectation and high hope for the coming times of larger opportunity. The beginning of a truly great work are seldom conspicuous and the broad foundations essential to its stability are visible only in part when the superstructure has begun to rise. A day will come when this fortunately founded institution will be of national interest and the results of work done here yield blended but appreciable benefits to the life of the country at large.

The eighth year opens with an enrollment of over 200, limited to that number by the present housing facilities. A fact that appeals to the heart and illumines the beneficient offices of the Institute lies in the record that 64% of the girls enrolled last year were motherless. Those who best knew Mr. and Mrs. Andrews must rejoice that the generous provisions of their thoughtful plan made possible an Alma Mater for these lonely little lives. It would have been a supreme satisfaction to them to have forseen how much more than training for self-support would go with their giving.

As our readers know, instruction is given in all those fundamental subjects believed by every American to be an inalienable part of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, as well as in the domestic graces and accomplishments which transform a woman into a miracle of comfort and power in the home, her own or another's. Predictions founded on present showings give promise that the greater number of Institute girls will triumphantly exercise their training in thei own kitchens, dining-rooms, sewing-rooms and thus help to bring up the average of that variety of American home in which the husband has the cheerful sense of solid comfort while he wonders at and admires his wife's executive ability. The girl who has a leaning to the professional life finds here sympathetic aid to the development of her special talent and success achieved out in the world in this line of work has placed a seal and crown upon the training. In the ampler space that will be available in the permanent location of the Institute and dormant capacities for outdoor occupations that may have been stirred into life by war garden experience will have room to express themselves. Girls who wish to do so may then qualify in horticulture, the keeping of bees or of poultry and the similar occupations affording topics for beguiling articles in magazines.

The beginning of the Institute's home life in its own woodland and garden domain on the eastern bank of the Chagrin River has been made by opening a cottage for fourteen girls in residence with Mrs. Roche for housemother, in the former residence of Miss Hanscom. The many improvements added and changes made have transformed the house into a very tasteful dwelling-place for the young household.

A group of "Andrews Girls" passing on the street always suggests to the thoughtful observer opportunity for the present, hope and usefulness for the future. Contrasted with the enrollment of this new year it is interesting to note that there were only eight girls in cottage life in the first year and twenty-eight enrolled from the town. Our of the number who have received instruction within the seven years sixty are now married and nearly one hundred are reported at work in many forms of service, all useful and many important. The community wishes a prosperous and happy year to the faculty force and the student body.

He is a visitor from Hunter's Creek, Mich., and is a relative of the present postmaster, Mr. Webster. He was a teacher in this vicinity many years ago, and recalls many well known people here who went to school to him. He is contemplating returning to Willoughby and settling here, he says.

MANY ODD STONES ARRIVE FOR FRIENDSHIP FENCE AT CARMICHAEL HOME.

Stones of all sorts, with interesting histories, and some from long distances, will appear in the Carmichael friendship wall which Mrs. Carmichael has planned. Dr. Moore has promised a stone which he brought from China; Mr. Carmichael brought a couple of odd pieces from Bobcaygeon; while coral from Cuba and lava rock from the Hawaiian Islands, are also destined to have a part. A Barnacle from the old battleship "Maine" will add historical interest. Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael on their trip to Cuba and Mexico, were in the vicinity at the time the "Maine" was raised, and secured several souvenir pieces. The wall promises to become a most interesting study.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT MISSIONARY MEETING

The Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church had a most enjoyable gathering at the home of Mrs. Perew this week. About 24 ladies were in attendance. Officers were elected, Mrs. Samuel Austin being named president, Mrs. Perew first vice president, Miss May Brown treasurer, Miss Hayden, secretary, Miss Excell third vice president, Miss Esther Tryon assistant treasurer and Mrs. Myrtle Wallace corresponding secretary. An exceedingly nice program was presented.

RANDALL-CHINERY WEDDING

A simple but very beautiful home wedding marked the occasion of the nuptials of Miss Helen Randall and Mr. Willet Chinery who were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Randall, Saturday evening at 7 p. m. Rev. Bright officiated, the ring service being used. Miss Alma Ames, of Ada, was bridesmaid, and Walter Voth was best man. Pink and white floral decorations were used, with a back ground of palms for the ceremony, white ribbons dividing the guests from the bridal procession. Miss Dorothy Ames, of Ada, played the wedding march. The bride's gown was of embroidered Georgette crepe. She carried a boquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore white embroidered lace and carried pink roses. Supper was served immediately after the ceremony. Six young ladies from the Methodist Church choir, where Miss Randall has sung for a year and a half, took charge of the tables, where the pink and white color scheme was again carried out. Quantities of confetti and rice was showered upon the young couple when they left upon their wedding trip after the supper. The bride and groom are popular with a host of friends who wish them much joy. A new home upon Barber avenue will be fitted up after their return from a visit to the home of the groom's parents in Baltimore. The trip was made by motor. A handsome clock and a set of steak knives were the gifts of the Standard Tire & Rubber Co., where the groom is connected. Numbers of beautiful gifts from Willoughby and out of town friends were received. About fifty guests were in attendance. Out of town guests included the Leon Randall family, of Cleveland, Mrs. W. H. Haydell, Miss Helen Good, of Cleveland, and Arthur Shepherd of Akron.

FAMILY BIRTHDAY PARTY ENJOYED

A combination of birthdays in September, afforded occasion for a most pleasant birthday supper at the Kennedy home Saturday evening. The birthdays of Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. Kennedy, also two of Mrs. Ackerman's sons, and the husband of her daughter, Mrs. Crawfis, occur early in September. Birthday remembrances were therefore sent to the absent, and a birthday supper, with festive decorations in pink and yellow, and a rose-tree center piece, afforded a [illegible]

LAKE COUNTY FARMERS VICTIMS OF THIEVES

Lake county farmers are being systematically robbed and looted, it is reported, of everything that can be carried off their places. The thieving has reached a point where the farmers feel that nothing that can be carried away is safe from the invaders. A reward for arrest and conviction is offered by the authorities, as will be found in advertisement in another column.

PIONEERS AT THE FAIR

ATTENDED FAIR FOR FIRST TIME IN THIRTY YEARS

Visitors from out of town, who could by no means be referred to as "old," included Robert R. McMahon, of the City Ice Delivery Co., Cleveland. He is a Kirtland boy, and was attending the fair for the first time in thirty years. He was decorated with a chamber of commerce ribbon at the Willoughby Republican booth. He related many pleasant reminiscences of days past, including mention of the sheep exhibits Mr. Billings was wont to make in those days at the fair.

WILLOUGHBY DAY

There were numbers of Willoughby visitors both Wednesday and Thursday. E. E. Rich of E. D. Rich & Son, Painesville, said he did not know there were so many Willoughby people until he saw the number of wearers of Willoughby badges. One hundred and ninty visitors registered at the Willoughby Republican booth during the two days. Mayor Huntington, of Painesville, present and future mayor happily consented to wear a Willoughby badge.

SALE OF WORK BY THE BLIND

The work of the blind was in charge of Mrs. Charles Sherwood, wife of the new fair secretary. She was assisted by Miss Florence West. One day's proceeds from the sale of work approximated $250.00; a most excellent showing.

THE PRIZE STATUTE WON BY CLEVELANDER

Numbers of people registered at the E. D. Rich & Co. booth for the chance at the Catalina Italian marble statute. The drawing occurred late Friday afternoon. Little Woodford Metcalf, of Kirtland, drew out ten cards, and the tenth, bearing the number 669, was the winner. Mrs. J. C. Spear, of 1465 East 115th St., Cleveland, was the recipient.

INTEREST AND CO-OPERATION SHOWN

T. B. West, president of the agricultural society says that more interest and co-operation are being shown in the fair from year to year. This is the fifth annual fair, of the present organized fair. It is said that the display of fruit was the best shown in Ohio this year.

There were many old settlers in evidence at the Lake county fair. One of the oldest was George Sleeman, splendidly hale, happy and hearty. He was ninety August 6th, and if there was any one at the fair Sept. 5th and 6th, who enjoyed the occasion more than Mr. Sleeman, he is yet to be discovered.

• • •

Another old resident was found over in the log cabin, where Moses Cleaveland displayed and sold his artistic bread boards, cunningly contrived from wood preserved from the old Willoughby seminary. Mr. Cleaveland will be 95 the 22nd of October. He is a Civil War veteran, bright and keen as many a man 30 years younger.

REV. MOSELEY OFFICIATES AT WEDDING

W. J. Gibson Says He Doesn't Need Any Flowers. Small Profits Please Him

TO MY CUSTOMERS:

People say they do not see how I can live, and sell so cheaply, but keep on coming. I will let you know when to send flowers, as I am satisfied with a small profit. Now I have the Shino Mitten duster which is chemically treated. You can dust off your car or household furniture without fear of scratching the varnish, and your car is clean and free from dust. Come in and get one; see it; and if you do not like it, your money is yours. I also have driving gloves at about half what others charge. Do not forget I am selling oils at less than they cost today. I have a full line of bumpers at prices so low you would hardly believe me, but they are yours at the price. In fact I have so many new things I can't tell you here. So come in and see for yourself as I have it, can get it or it isn't made.

FORMER LOCAL BOY RECEIVES PRAISE IN SOUTHERN PAPER

"Samuel Smart formerly employed here by the Railway Specialty Co., is now at Newport, R. I., and is studying at a government torpedo station. He is one of the 25 young men who passed our Examination, and were admitted into the station. There were 300 candidates for entrance, and only 25 passed the examination. Samrt will study torpedoing, mixing of explosives and seamanship for nine months at that station."

Willoughby surely has occasion to be proud of her boys. Robert Smart is now at Camp Sheridan, Montgomery, Alabama.

Mentor was certainly on the map last Wednesday night when we were visited by almost constant thunder storms. Mr. David Galloway's garage was struck and destroyed. Mr. Galloway succeeded in saving his car but the rest of the contents were destroyed. At the same time Mr. Case's barn, used by Mr. Acker, was hit and destroped with all the contents, at a loss of about $1,000, without any insurance on contents. Only the heavy rain prevented a big fire at the west end to the nearby buildings.

People that have been donating so generously to the Red Cross fund, will be somewhat discouraged if the officers are going to abscond with all the funds as one did in New York. He got away with $10,000. Life imprisonment should be meted out to that man, as hanging would be too good for him.

ROAD OILING SUGGESTION

The Otises have been oiling the road the entire length of their farm, which extends to Hobart's Corners. Now this street oiling is a nice thing after it gets settled and mixed with the dirt, but when it's first applied you'll see people come along with their autos and they'll stop and hesitate some time before they'll venture through it, and then some will turn around and go some other route. Now I'd propose they follow on with a gravel machine and put a thin coat right in with the oil, which certainly would be an improvement.

Miss Elizabeth Kitts went to Willoughby Saturday and will be cared for at the home of Mr. Frank Henchbaugh, and where she'll be nearer the doctor, as Miss Kitts is in quite poor health and with her sister, Mrs. Selina Waite, ill, it was too much of a care for the daughter, Mrs. Swartz, so they decided to get Miss Kitts taken care of by other parties for a time.

WOMAN MAIL CARRIER

Our mail carrier, Maurice Markell, is taking his vacation now of 15 days and his wife is taking his place. We think her a plucky woman to run that motor car over the steep hills and the roads in such fearful shape in some places it is almost impossible to get along.

Another automobile has taken a bath in Mentor marsh on the road that goes to the headlands. Funny how people will try to make an automobile travel through the water. This makes about a dozen machines that have lost the road this season. One farmer near there comes to their rescue with his team. He's making pretty good money hauling them back to the road.

Neville Bryson and aunt, Miss Youmans, have returned from their vacation trip bringing Miss Wild with them. On account of rainy weather they encountered some very bad roads especially hills. A CALL TO PATRIOTIC WOMEN

Mr. Herbert Hoover, food dictator, has issued a call to every minister in the United States to assist him in the conservation of food by appealing to the house wives to report every Sunday on cards provided the effort they are making thru the week to conserve the food supply. The reports cover the following items:

Number of wheatless meals.
Number of meatless meals.
Number of meals with bread cut as used.
Number of meals with no butter waste.
Number of meals with left-overs served.
Number of clean plate meals.

Serbia, Belgium and many other countries in Europe are desperately in need of certain kinds of food. We have more than we need.

Surely this is a splendid opportunity to help those who need. If any woman in Willoughby who does not regularly attend any church wishes to help in this great cause, she may obtain report cards and her instructions from the minister at Grace Episcopal Church next Sunday morning and he will be glad to forward her reports along with those from the Episcopal congregation.

OLDSMOBILE

The motor car industry and the Oldsmobile started together twenty years ago. Since then both have made progress, but Oldsmobile progress has been steadier and more consistent than the progress of the industry. The Oldsmobile, being under a more concentrated control, has never had to contend with those influences that even yet disturb the industry.

The motor car industry has witnessed many compromises and within it there has been much shifting of standards. The Oldsmobile has never compromised, never departed an inch from the high standards upon which it was established. The "fly-by-nighters" have had their fling at the industry they have never been able even so much as to touch the Oldsmobile.

As a result, the men who build Oldsmobiles have learned but one lesson, namely, to build a motor car as good as it can be built. And so thoroughly have they learned this lesson that it has become a part of their nature. Into every Oldsmobile there is built that high grade quality that springs from pride of workmanship, and from the knowledge that the product is correctly designed and honestly constructed.

ALHAMBRA MOTOR COMPANY TO BUILD 200-CAR GARAGE

Further indication of the growth of the motor car business was given today when Gooch Long, president and general manager of the Alhambra Motor Company, 10103 Euclid avenue, announced that his company has completed arrangements for the erection of a garage to house 200 cars. The building will be located on 102nd street, just off Euclid avenue. The structure will be one of the most efficiently equipped buildings of its kind in the country, as well as one of the largest.

"Cleveland motorists are growing more and more exacting in their demands, as they well have the right to be," Mr. Long said, "and to meet those demands we have decided to build one of the largest and most completely appointed garages in the city. How The Neal Treatment Brought Brightness To A Former Drink-Enslaved Ohio Home

"The whole household is brighter and happier since he takes some interest in life."

So writes a daughter to the Cleveland Neal Institute in telling what the Neal Treatment did for her father and she added: "He is enjoying good health, is perfectly happy and hasn't lost a day's work since he left the Institute."

The Neal Treatment has brought happiness and increased prosperity into thousand of homes. Those who drink to excess can quickly get rid of all desire for alcoholic beverages. Three days of the Neal Treatment will do this most effectually. Your own investigation is urged.

Tips For Play-Goers

Opera House

The attraction at the Opera House for next week is the screamingly funny comedy, "Twin Beds," which kept New York in a delirium of laughter for one solid year and which, after running two years in London, is still tickling our English cousins. Salisbury Field and Margaret May's merry comedy will cause so much genuine fun and keep itself always within such perfectly natural and human lines that it is bound to score as heavily here as it does elsewhere.

"Twin Beds" is built around the happenings of six people in the apartments of two each, living in three apartments directly above each other and having made the initial blunder of being neighborly, strive to capture the peace and privacy of their homes.

"Twin Beds" has three unfailing elements of popularity—brilliant lines, rapidly built and consistent situations, and deft and comprehensive characterization. Over these three attributes there stands one unmistakable quality—the quality of wholesomeness.

The engagement includes popular priced matinees on Wednesday and Saturday when the best prices will range from 25c to $1.00.

Colonial Theatre

"You're in Love," musical comedy by Rudolph Friml and Otto Harbach, is new to Cleveland, but it has been tested for eight months in New York and for two in Chicago, and has stood the test. The score is a delight and the libretto—there's a real plot to this musical comedy—is full of amazing complications and holds laughs without number. Marie O'Flynn stars, and she has a lot of good company to help her. Scenically the porduction is especially attractive and the big chorus is in keeping with the properties. "You're in Love" is a big show and a good one.

The Miles

Willa Holt Wakefield, singer of national reputation, heads the Miles vaudeville bill for next week. Other big attractions are "The Bombardment of Rheims," a big illusion act, and Al Fields and company with much of music and comedy. The Johnson Dean Review will present "The Model Shop," a surprise act and Rob and Robinson have another one. James Teddy offers the comedy skit, "This Way Back." "The Divorce Question," a timely sketch, is given by James Mack and company. The feature photo play of the week is "The Outcast," a Charles Frohman production, starring Ann Murdock.

STAR THEATRE

"The Sightseers," James E. Cooper's big burlesque organization, is at the Star next week with a new show and a lively one. The stage settings are all new and elaborate, the electrical effects unusual and the chorus big and pretty. Moreover there is a set of comedians, headed by Will J. Kennedy and Jack Miller, which is hard to beat. There will be the usual six matinees, specially priced to women. Cooper's "Sightseers" have a reputation to live up to and a good one at that.

HIPPODROME

Pictures depicting the retreat of the German forces at Arras and one of vaudeville's biggest novelties will share headline honors on the second program of the winter vaudeville season at the Hippodrome.

The retreat of the Teutonic army formed the basis for one of the greatest battle pictures ever made. These pictures were made under the auspices of the British government and W. K. Vanderbilt is in charge of their exhibition in the United States. The $300,000 which the B. F. Keith interests paid for the right to show the pictures in Keith theatres throughout the country is to be devoted to various war relief funds by the British officials, part of it being retained for the aid of the American ambulance service now abroad. Four photographers were killed and eight cameras demolished in the taking of the various scenes.

Sharing honors with the pictures which show one of history's greatest events are Le Roy Talma and Bosco, one of the most unique specialties known to vaudeville. The three are illusionists and magicians of extraordinary ability, Le Roy being known as the leading manufacturing illusionist of the world. So varied is their program that for several seasons they have been touring the higher priced legitimate theatres throughout the country, offering an entire evening's entertainment through their own efforts.

Others on the program of exceptional treats include Harako Onuki, the Japanese prima donna; Stan Stanley, the bounding comedian and his relatives; Harry Holman and company in the comedy skit, "Adam Killjoy," Bowman Brothers, black face character delineators; Lydell and Higgins in "Father's Friend." The Three Daring Sisters, aerialists and others.

EMPIRE THEATER

Harry Hart's "Hello Girls" are at the Empire next week with a fast and lively show, new throughout and full of catchy music and pretty girls. Lew Golden, who won his spurs in vaudeville, heads the cast, and he will have to work for his honor against such burlesque favorites as Mona Raymond, Vera De Vere and Nellie Nice, Frances T. Lederer and Milton De Vere. It should be "burlesque as you like it."

The Liberty

Jarrow, the mad magician will be the headline feature of the Liberty program next week. The "Cycle of Mirth," a [illegible] musical comedy with ten people, will share honors with the act [illegible] Lockhart and Laddie, Mabelle Phillips, monologist; Jones and Johnson, colored comedians; the Marions, dancers, and Mexica, lariat expert, will help to make up the program. There will be new vaudeville features on Sunday when a continuous performance will be offered. A matinee will be given Saturday.

Standard Theatre

Week of September 16th the Standard theatre presents Dustin Farnum in "The Spy," a war drama without a battle. This story is one of the best of its kind ever produced in motion pictures. The secrets of an empire involving the peace and happiness of every home in the United States are brought into the broad light of day through the heroic self sacrifice of a loyal American. A plot which deals with the machinery of diplomacy and international relations is handled so skillfully that the entire production has been made without the firing of a single shot. The Spy is a war story and not a battle story. Mr. Dustin Farnum handles his part well as well as his co-workers and it is a photo play not to be missed.

SULPHUR STEAM BATHS MEAN GOOD HEALTH

The value of the bath has long been recognized in relation to health, and in the treatment of certain complaints such as rheumatism, especial stress has been placed on the valuable properties of the sulphur steam bath.

Cleveland has one of the most modernly equipped sulphur steam baths in the country. Located at 1527-29 Prospect avenue and in charge of experts these baths are doing much to aid sufferers and are therefore rapidly increasing in popularity.

One of the features of the Prospect avenue bath establishment is the careful and painstaking attention given patients. This has caused a marked increase in patronage and the good received by patients has been another factor in the success of the bath.

Nothing in the way of equipment is lacking and in fact it may be said these baths are among the best equipped and arranged in the central west.

PARISIAN TO HAVE OPENING MONDAY

Through enlargement of the shoppe as one of the city's leading ready-to-wear apparel houses for women renders unnecessary a formal introduction to the Parisian shoppe, No. 1241 Euclid avenue, but this newspaper feels it would be doing its women readers an injustice did it not comment on the remarkable display of merchandise offered there for the fall and winter seasons.

Known to hundreds of women as a shoppe of quality offerings and real service, the Parisian is this year stocked with a splendid assortment of wearables which will delight the hearts of its old and new customers. Never before have women been so particular about their garments, and we believe every woman in Cuyahoga county will find articles at the Parisian which will meet her complete approval.

The latest creations of Paris and New York are to be found at this wonderful shoppe. Because the Parisian's stock is purchased by specialists in their respective departments, women who are buying for women, its stock contains many exclusive offerings. And each is the best of its kind. No matter how large or small a woman's purchase may be at this shoppe she may rest assured she will receive the best that can be produced.

Courtesy and service, the kind women appreciate, have been factors in the development of the Parisian's growing business. It has had many successful seasons, but there is every indication that this will surpass all.

"Market conditions have not been the best, but we have stuck to our policy of demanding and purchasing only the highest class merchandise," I. M. Marks, general manager, said, "and I know our stock will please our customers.

"Never have we purchased such an assortment of styles as this year. Every department has exceptional offerings which will prove attractive to women who love the best. Every one of our garments is an individual creation."

PROSPECT THEATER

At the Prospect next week James Kyrle MacCurdy's tremendously successful melodrama, "A Little Girl in a Big City," which is admitted to be one of the most interesting and instructive plays dealing with New York's fight against white slavery that has ever been written, will be presented for a return engagement.

The play is four acts duration, and all of the scenery, which is both realistic and elaborate, is carried intact by the management. The first act is a reproduction of the famous Albany Boat Line dock on the Hudson river on a winter morning. The second act is the bedroom of the "little girl" in an impecunious lodging house. The third act portray the dry goods emporium of a merchant prince, while the fourth and last act represents the "little girl's home in the world's biggest city where the audience will find her at the finish of the play, surrounded by her loyal friends and with all her troubles at an end.

Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio, is planning to render a great service this coming year by educating young men and women who shall become the leaders in the great reconstruction period after the war. It is the patriotic duty of each high school graduate not called to the colors to find his way into the halls of higher learning this fall.

Mount Union College is not retrenching on account of the war, but has increased its equipment and added three members to its strong faculty. Pre-medical courses, business management, Spanish, domestic science, and music will be emphasized as well as the other regular liberal arts' courses hitherto offered. Military training will be provided for those who desire it, and regulated athletics and physical training will be maintained as heretofore.

The fall semester will open September 17 on schedule time. Write me for particulars.

The Gas Shortage

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR IT?

The Scientific Heater Company are preparing a booklet upon this subject. It will gladly be mailed to anyone interested for the asking.

Every gas furnace user, every builder, architect, landlord and tenant who use gas or want to use gas for heating should have a copy.

Cleveland should know the truth of this situation. It is high time that this problem should be settled in an efficient scientific way.

Gas is the cheapest, cleanest, most convenient, sanitary and healthful fuel. Cleveland should be able to enjoy gas heating without the worry of a shortage in cold weather.
